| I am going to ask some questions about the people who think of this address as their primary place of residence. This includes people who usually stay at this address but are temporarily away on business, on vacation, in a hospital, or living at school in a dorm, fraternity or sorority. It does not include college students who live in off-campus housing. Including yourself, how many people live at this address and have no usual place or residence elsewhere? ____ NUMBER OF PEOPLE ASK: All household. PROGRAM: Start enumeration timing here. The following variables – name, respondent flag, gender, age, age range, ethnicity, race, military status, twin flag, and the misreported flag (HM0002 – HM0012) – should appear as a grid. All enumeration information is entered in this grid. |                   |

TOBACCO USE

NOTES:

For the field test, we will test two versions of the tobacco use questions for adults – a short version and a long version. The difference between the two is the level of detail that is collected about each person’s tobacco use. The tobacco use definitions don’t have to be precise for screening purposes. It is enough to know that someone uses tobacco to screen them into the study – we do not need to know which specific tobacco product they use. However, if we don’t mention all the products, the HH respondent might not think of them all on their own. A household will be randomly assigned to either the short version or the long version before the interview. We do not use youth tobacco use status as a sampling criteria, so we do not ask about youth tobacco use status in the screener.

Tobacco use definitions:

Current-established-tobacco-user: Has smoked a cigarette, cigar, pipe, or used smokeless tobacco { short version: in the past 30 days | long version: every day, some days, or past 30 days }

Ever-emerging-product-user: Has ever used e-cigarettes, hookah, dissolvables.

BOX H3

Households will be randomly assigned to either the short version or the long version of the tobacco use questions. The variable SCRNTYPE (1=short version, 2= long version) will be defined in the sample load file, and will determine which version of the tobacco use questions are administered in a given household.
