

Lesbian/Bisexual Women's Health Programs Enrollment Form

Welcome to the sign-up page for the San Francisco Bay Area older lesbian/bisexual women's health projects. We are recruiting women for two similar free health programs; one from the Lyon Martin Clinic and one from the San Francisco LGBT Center (although we will have group meetings in the east bay as well). Complete this form to see if you qualify for the study.

The two programs are:

WHAM: Women's Health and Mindfulness is a clinic-based program, led by a professional group facilitator. It includes a visit to the clinic for a physical exam and lab tests, including blood draws. The program itself consists of 12 weekly group sessions with support from a dietician and a fitness trainer.

DIFO: Doing It For Ourselves is a community-based program, led by peer facilitators. It includes web or paper and pencil surveys before and after, 12 weekly group sessions and two hours of individual help from a personal coach.

Both programs address health, physical activity, nutrition, and stress, all from a lesbian/bisexual woman's perspective. Groups will be forming soon.

Eligibility

1. Do you identify as a woman? We only care about your identity, not what your physical body looks like.

Personal Information

The program was developed for women who at risk for weight-related health problems. These programs focus on a variety of health issues such as nutrition, physical activity, and stress. Part of the eligibility criteria is height and weight, although the programs are not focused on weight loss as a goal. We acknowledge that asking about weight can be sensitive or offensive to some women, but we are required to collect this information by our funder.
