The National Center for Education Statistics is requesting approval for the administration of the 2014-15 National Teacher and Principal Survey (NTPS) Pilot Test in some of the schools within the [School District Name] School District during the 2014-15 school year. The NTPS is a redesigned successor to the Schools and Staffing Survey (SASS). Like SASS, the NTPS is designed to measure critical aspects of schools and teaching, the composition of the principal and teacher workforce, and conditions in schools. The National Teacher and Principal Survey is administered once every 2 years to a sample of schools, principals, and teachers. No student or classroom time is involved.

With the results from the National Teacher and Principal Survey, the National Center for Education Statistics produces estimates of public school characteristics and comparisons among elementary and secondary schools at the national level. The information provided by the principals, schools, and teachers in your area will represent the uniqueness and diversity of your school district and will contribute to a robust portrait of education in the United States. By participating in the pilot test, schools in your district will provide important information that will improve the primary source of official statistics on characteristics of schools, teachers, and principals in the U.S. Further information can be found on the SASS website at http://nces.ed.gov/surveys/sass/. Any of our publications can be ordered without charge from the website.

The enclosed materials describe the purpose, survey topics, sample sizes, and respondent burden for the survey. Draft versions of the 2014-15 NTPS questionnaires are included for your review. While the content has been finalized, these draft questionnaires are not the final formatted versions that will be used during the data collection phase beginning this fall.

In addition to these application materials, a District Administration Form is enclosed that, when filled out, will indicate whether or not your district has approved the participation of sampled school(s). This form will facilitate participation in NTPS. Please return this form at your earliest convenience. This form may be returned by fax to Lucia Chavez at (301) 763-3035 or email to Lucia.j.chavez@census.gov.

If you require further information, please let me know, and I will be happy to provide it.

TITLE

National Teacher and Principal Survey (NTPS), 2014-15 Pilot Test

PURPOSE

The need for contextual data on teachers, school principals, and school policies and programs has been well established. In response to concerns about the status of teaching and education, state and local education policymakers have sought more information about the school environment, the composition of the school workforce, and policies affecting the recruitment, retention, and retirement of teachers.

The National Teacher and Principal Survey (NTPS) is sponsored by the National Center for Education Statistics (NCES), the statistical agency for the United States Department of Education, to gather data on the teaching and working conditions in public elementary and secondary schools in the United States. NTPS is authorized by the Education Sciences Reform Act of 2002, 20 U.S. Code §9543. NTPS provides data on the characteristics and qualifications of teachers and principals, teacher hiring practices, class size, and other conditions in schools across the nation.

The NTPS is a redesigned successor to the Schools and Staffing Survey (SASS). The NTPS will maintain the role SASS served as the Department of Education's primary source of information on the teacher labor market and what is happening in K-12 schools from the teacher's and administrator's perspectives. The NTPS is integrated with other ED data collections to reduce requests for redundant information from schools and districts.

NTPS, which is conducted on a 2-year cycle, is a large survey of K-12 schools, teachers, and principals in the United States today. Its data will be used by a wide variety of people interested in K-12 education, including teacher professional organizations, education advocacy groups, legislators, researchers, and journalists. NTPS provides a unique resource for information on elementary and secondary education by linking data provided by schools with their respective principals and teachers. Data can be analyzed not only within each component (i.e., the school, principal, and teacher data files), but also across components or data files. This linkage across the different respondent groups makes NTPS data unique among school surveys and allows researchers to study the complexities of the American education system from multiple perspectives. For example, researchers can study teacher attrition using information from not only teachers but also from their schools and principals. The integrated survey design also allows NCES to collect information from the school personnel who can best supply it, causing less inconvenience to respondents and providing more accurate information.

In preparation for the 2015-16 NTPS, a pilot test is being conducted during the 2014-15 school year. The purpose of this pilot test is to optimize the design of the 2015-16 NTPS by experimentally testing the impact of offering Internet versions of the School, Principal, and Teacher Questionnaires first; looking at the impact of collecting teacher email address as part of the TLF operation; looking at optimal methods of inviting Teachers to the internet questionnaire; and improving questionnaire wording and instructions in the Internet survey. This package provides information about the planned new approach and presents an overview of the proposed NTPS design.

HYPOTHESES

Congress, the Department of Education, and other Federal agencies, State Departments of Education, education associations, and the education research community will use data from the 2015-16 NTPS to conduct research on a range of issues. In the past, some of the most frequently published topics have included class size, new teachers, out-of-field teaching, professional development, teacher attrition/retention, and teacher qualifications. Based on previous administrations of NTPS, the data will be used to produce national statistics on:

- Teacher capacity as defined by teacher qualifications, teacher career paths, professional development activities, and support for these aspects of teachers' careers by schools and districtd; and
- School capacity as defined by school organization and decision-making, management of curriculum and instruction, school programs, and school safety.

This request is to conduct a pilot test to improve the design of the NTPS.

MEASUREMENT

Each topic is briefly described below in terms of the broad education issues in need of measurement.

Teacher Quality and Career Paths

Teacher quality and the factors that influence it have become the focus of many educational researchers and the National Commission on Teaching and America's Future. The movement of teachers in and out of the teaching workforce has been a central concern of NTPS/SASS since 1987 when data describing these phenomena were first collected. Building upon this base, more detailed indicators of teachers' career paths may help explain entry into teaching and teacher attrition. Teachers' experiences during the recruitment process and their first year of teaching can greatly influence decisions to continue teaching. Teacher quality items help inform NCES about the characteristics of training, which can be related to teaching assignments. Quality is defined as the match between teacher preparation (degrees, certification, and endorsements) and teaching assignment fields. These topics are measured in fine detail in the NTPS.

Teacher Recruitment, Retention, and Evaluation

Recruiting and retention methods for teachers are a major topic of interest as schools and districts investigate ways to recruit and retain high-quality teachers. Questions in the School Questionnaire explore teacher vacancies and the ease with which positions are filled. Teachers are asked about their plans to remain in the teaching profession in the Teacher Questionnaire. Recent additions to the Principal Questionnaire explore the evaluation of teachers.

School Reform

An important role of NTPS is to document the evolution of major reforms, especially as they affect schools and teaching practices. Topics continued from the 1999-2000, 2003-04, 2007-08, and 2011-12 SASS questionnaires to the NTPS questionnaires include the amount of influence principals and teachers have in setting school policies.

School Safety

School safety is frequently reported as a major problem in public schools in the United States. Violence and drug abuse in schools put huge constraints on teachers, students, administrators, and schools. Increased attention to school safety has led policy makers to begin examining school safety at the national level. The school safety items include the principal's knowledge of violence and other school problems as well as incidents of teachers being threatened or physically attacked.

Basic Descriptive Information

Each of the NTPS surveys contains questions that provide basic descriptive information on the respondent:

- The Principal and Teacher Questionnaires include items on gender, age, and race/ethnicity;
- The Principal Questionnaire includes items on principals' licensure, highest degree earned, years of teaching experience, and salary;
- The Teacher Questionnaire contains items on years of teaching experience, education degrees and fields, certification, salary, and main teaching assignment; and
- The School Questionnaire contains items on enrollment, programs and services in the school, and counts of various types of school staff.

CONTENT DESIGN

As mentioned previously, the NTPS will replace the Schools and Staffing Survey (SASS), which the Department of Education has conducted since 1987. The revision process involved an analysis of items on the SASS surveys. Items that were gathered on other NCES surveys (such as EDFacts and the Civil Rights Data Collection) were removed from the NTPS questionnaires. These items will instead be pulled from these extant data sources and included on the NTPS data files. Items that had low response rates, were difficult to answer, or had other grammatical and clarity issues were revised or deleted. Before the surveys were finalized, new and revised items underwent cognitive lab testing with teachers, principals and school staff to determine whether items were likely to be understood correctly and uniformly across the survey population.

Three of the five core components of the 2011-12 SASS remain: the School Questionnaire, Principal Questionnaire, and Teacher Questionnaire. These surveys are linked so that researchers may analyze school-level phenomenon at the national level.

In the 2015-16 administration, NTPS will retain or expand many of the topics covered in previous SASS administrations, maintaining the capability for trend analysis. At the same time, new items developed for the NTPS will collect additional information on a number of topics crucial to education reform.

QUESTIONNAIRES

We have enclosed a draft version of the questionnaires intended for public schools for the 2014-15 administration of NTPS. Based on their performance in the pilot test, these items may be revised or replaced for the 2015-16 data collection. The 2011-12 SASS questionnaires, as well as those from earlier administrations, are available on our website:

http://nces.ed.gov/surveys/SASS/questionnaire.asp.

METHODOLOGY AND SAMPLING

The U.S. Census Bureau is the collection agent for NTPS data on behalf of the National Center for Education Statistics (NCES). NTPS is a self-administered survey that is mailed to sampled participants (some participants will be offered an online survey option). The survey does not require the use of any school personnel to administer it, other than the direct time it takes for the sampled person to complete the questionnaire, and does not involve students. Sampled principals, teachers, and the most appropriate school staff are requested to record their answers either a) on the printed questionnaire and return the questionnaire as directed (by mail to the U.S. Census Bureau) or b) using the online survey option to send in their responses via a secure server link. There is no use of classroom time required for the completion of these questionnaires.

The 2014-15 NTPS Pilot Test samples will include fewer than 17,000 public schools and school principals, and less than 42,000 public school teachers.

Sampling for NTPS begins by selecting schools as the primary sampling unit, and then, including the principal and a relatively small sample of teachers within each selected school. Public schools selected for NTPS are sampled from the Common Core of Data (CCD), the universe of public schools supplied annually by state educational agencies to NCES. NCES modifies the list of schools from the CCD to meet the definition of a school as used by NTPS. To make sure that the sample contains sufficient numbers for estimates, the NTPS uses a stratified probability sample design. The main design objective is to provide the following data for public schools:

- National estimates of public schools and public school characteristics;
- National estimates of combined grade public schools (schools with a grade span that overlaps the elementary, middle, and/or high school levels); and
- National estimates of public charter schools and selected school characteristics.

After schools are stratified and sampled, teachers within the schools are also stratified and sampled based on the broad level of teaching assignment area, full- or part-time teaching status, and years of teaching experience. The sample of teachers will be selected from a list of teachers provided by the school. For each school in the sample, all teachers who teach students in grades K-12 during the fall of 2014, except for short-term substitutes, student teachers, and teacher aides, are eligible for sampling. An average of 10 teachers will be sampled from each selected school. In order to achieve the desired sample size of new teachers, as well as teachers nearing retirement, the teacher sample will be stratified into four teacher groups based on years of teaching experience. This stratification will ensure a sufficient number of teachers in each group to permit estimates for all beginning and new public school teachers (i.e., teachers with 1 to 3 years of teaching experience), and all experienced and highly experienced public school teachers (i.e., teachers with 4 or more years of experience). A sufficient number of teachers is defined to be at least 2,400 teachers by experience category and school type (i.e., public, public charter, and private). Within each selected school, teachers will be classified as belonging in one of the following four categories:

- 1. Beginning (first year in the K-12 teaching profession);
- 2. New (2 to 3 years of teaching experience);
- 3. Experienced (4 to 19 years of teaching experience); or
- 4. Highly experienced (20 or more years of teaching experience).

All experienced teachers, who are more numerous than the beginning, new, or highly experienced groups, will be sampled with equal probability and at a lower rate than those in the other groups. To avoid placing an undue burden on schools by sampling teachers, NCES intends to survey an average of 10 teachers per school.

For all public schools, the principal will be included in the survey as a result of the school being selected. Schools, principals, and teachers will be weighted by the inverse of their probability of selection, multiplied by various sampling and nonresponse adjustments. The general purpose of weighting is to scale up the sample estimates to represent the target survey population.

DATA COLLECTION

The U.S. Census Bureau handles the data collection and editing phases. The 2014-15 NTPS is a mixed mode survey with paper and internet response options. Follow-up for sampled entities who do not respond to the initial mailing will be handled by telephone. U.S. Census Bureau staff who conduct NTPS receive training in preparation for the survey.

School principals will be mailed the an invitation to participate in the NTPS in October 2014. U.S. Census Bureau staff will follow-up on outstanding questionnaires associated with the schools by telephone from November 2014 through December 2014. Teachers will be invited to participate in the NTPS on a flow basis as the teacher sample is drawn from the lists of teachers provided by the sampled schools.

The data collection schedule is outlined below.

RESPONSE BURDEN

NTPS relies on the voluntary participation of the principal, teacher, and school personnel. The quality of national estimates is limited by the level of respondent participation. Every effort is made to create questionnaires that collect in-depth data without putting an undue burden on the respondent. The estimated average response time for each questionnaire in the 2014-15 NTPS is presented in the following table, Table 1. The average length of time necessary to complete each type of questionnaire is estimated from the results of the 2011-12 SASS and the number of survey item codes on the 2014-15 NTPS, and is also presented in Table 1.

Table 1. Number of survey item codes and estimated average response time per respondent for each questionnaire in the 2014-15 NTPS

Questionnaire	Number of item	Estimated average response time per respondent
Teacher Listing For	N/A	30 minutes
School	197	50 minutes
Principal	193	45 minutes
Teacher	440	60 minutes

The National Teacher and Principal Survey does not require any form of student or parent participation. All respondents will receive a letter that explains that participation in the survey is voluntary. In addition, each questionnaire states on the inside cover, "We hope you will participate in this voluntary survey."

SASS has achieved a high response rate in previous administrations. Weighted response rates for the components to the public school sector for the 2011-12 SASS are presented in Table 2 below.

Table 2. Sample size and weighted response rate for each survey population for the 2011-12 SASS

Survey population	Sample size	Weighted response rate (%)
Public School Principal	11,000	72.6
Public School	11,000	72.4
Public School Teacher	51,062	77.7

Once the U.S. Census Bureau receives the completed survey forms, staff enter responses from the surveys into electronic data files, which are checked against the survey forms for accuracy. Names, addresses, and other identifying information for schools, principals, and teachers are removed from the data files to protect respondents' confidentiality. When the respondents' identifying information is removed from the data files, a school identification number is used to link principal and teacher data from the schools in which they work.

The data are used in statistical summaries only. NCES issues its own reports and allows researchers to access the data through restricted-use licensing for other analyses. Only users who have official clearance from NCES may have access to the restricted-use data files. Several reports may be issued once the data are finalized. These reports may include: a general report on the methodological findings.

NTPS publications will be provided for download on the NCES publications page http://nces.ed.gov/pubsearch/). Free printed copies of past SASS reports can be obtained from the Pubs Online Ordering System (www.edpubs.org or 1–877–433–7827) or downloaded from the NCES publications page (http://nces.ed.gov/pubsearch/).

CONSENT

The nature of this self-administered, cross-sectional survey is not considered intrusive, and has been ruled to be exempt under the protection of human subjects' provisions in federal research. There is no individual student data (such as test scores or Social Security numbers) associated with any of the data acquired in this data collection. Since no data is collected about individual students, it is not necessary to obtain active, informed consent from students' parents/guardians.

Participation in the NTPS is completely voluntary, and individual survey items can be left blank, at the discretion of each respondent. On each questionnaire for each respondent, there is a statement that participation is voluntary.

The Department of Education has adopted a common set of regulations known as the Federal Policy for the Protection of Human Subjects or "Common Rule." The design of these regulations is based on established, internationally recognized ethical principles. The specific regulation is Title 34, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 97, Protection of Human Subjects, which includes Subpart A, Basic Policy, and Subpart D, Additional Protections for Children. These regulations classify as exempt certain categories of research. Research that is nonexempt is covered by the regulations. Research activities in which the only involvement of human subjects will be in one or more of the following categories are exempt:

(2) Research involving the use of educational tests (cognitive, diagnostic, aptitude, achievement), survey procedures, interview procedures or observation of public behavior, unless the information identifies the subjects and disclosure could reasonably place the subjects at risk of criminal or civil liability or be damaging to the subjects' financial standing, employability, or reputation. Subpart D amends this exemption, in part: If the subjects are children, research involving interview or survey procedures and research involving observations of public behavior in which the researcher(s) participate in the activities being observed are not exempt. However, research involving the use of educational tests and research involving observations of public behavior in which the researcher(s) do not participate in the activities being observed are exempt.

For more information, please see http://www2.ed.gov/policy/fund/guid/humansub/overview.html.

CONFIDENTIALITY

A security plan for assuring the confidentiality of individual respondent data has been developed by NCES and the U.S. Census Bureau. Under this plan, the 2014-15 NTPS will conform to federal regulations – specifically, the Privacy Act of 1974 (5 U.S.C. 552a), Privacy Act Regulations (34 CFR Part 5b), the Hawkins-Stafford Amendments of 1988 (P.L. 100-297), the Computer Security Act of 1987, NCES Restricted-Use Data Procedures Manual, the Federal Statistical Confidentiality Order of 1997 (an OMB directive), the U.S.A. Patriot Act of 2001 (P.L. 107-56), the E-Government Act of 2002, Title V, Subtitle A, Confidential Information Protection, the Education Sciences Reform Act of 2002 (P.L. 107-279), and the NCES Statistical Standards and Policies handbook.

The U.S. Census Bureau will collect data under an interagency agreement with NCES. The U.S. Census Bureau will maintain the individually identifiable questionnaires as confidential material. The required plan will include the following:

- 1. Provisions for data collection in the field;
- 2. Provisions to protect the data-coding phase required before machine processing;
- 3. Provisions to safeguard completed survey documents;
- 4. Authorization procedures to access or obtain files containing identifying information; and
- 5. Provisions to remove printouts and other outputs that contain teacher identification information from normal operation. Such materials will be maintained in secured storage areas and will be destroyed as soon as practical by burning.

From the initial contact with the participants in this survey through all of the follow-up efforts, careful attention will be paid to informing potential survey respondents that NCES and the U.S. Census Bureau will protect the confidentiality of their personal data. The survey responses are protected from disclosure by federal statute (20 U.S.C., § 9573). All responses that relate to or describe identifiable characteristics of individuals may be used only for statistical purposes and may not be disclosed, or used, in identifiable form for any other purpose, unless otherwise compelled by law. In addition, the U.S. Census Bureau and NCES will treat the data as confidential, based on the Privacy Act of 1974 and as amended under the U.S.A. Patriot Act of 2001.

In particular, the National Education Statistics Act of 1994, as amended, prohibits any of these activities:

- Producing any publication in which data furnished by any particular individual can be identified; or
- Permitting any person not authorized by the NCES Commissioner to examine any individual data or reports.

A violation of any of these restrictions is a felony, punishable by imprisonment of up to 5 years and a fine of up to $250,000.

SIGNIFICANCE OF THE STUDY

The primary purpose of the National Teacher and Principal Survey is to provide valuable information about schools and school staff, and the teaching and working conditions in the nation's schools. With the help of survey participants, the National Center for Education Statistics is able to produce national estimates of public school characteristics and facilitate comparisons among elementary, middle, high, and combined elementary/secondary schools at the national level. The ability of NCES to provide this beneficial service is contingent upon the voluntary participation of schools, principals, and teachers whose inclusion is dependent upon their districts' approval. The National Teacher and Principal Survey provides respondents with the opportunity to participate in a unique national survey and contribute to data that are used by researchers interested in improving the education system in the United States.

The District Name benefits from being a sampled district by representing itself and also the state of State. Consequently, your district's participation will improve the reliability of state and national estimates, which will result in higher quality data. By choosing to participate, the policies and characteristics of the District Name will be reflected in the 2014-15 NTPS, which will allow your schools to compare themselves to other schools across the nation. The important information provided by your district's schools, principals, and teachers will better inform and shape future education policies.

INSTITUTIONAL REVIEW BOARD (IRB) REVIEW

Under the federal policy for the protection of human subjects, NTPS is exempt from IRB review because it utilizes survey procedures and is conducted in established or commonly accepted educational settings, involving normal educational practices. There is no potential for harm to human subjects. Confidentiality of individually identifiable information is required under federal law by the Privacy Act of 1974 and as amended under the U.S.A. Patriot Act of 2001.

For more information, please see http://www2.ed.gov/policy/fund/reg/humansub/part97-2.html

PARTICIPANT INFORMED CONSENT FORM NATIONAL TEACHER AND PRINCIPAL SURVEY (NTPS), 2014-15

You are being asked to participate in a survey called the National Teacher and Principal Survey (NTPS), for the 2014-15 school year. This form provides you with information about this study, and the Project Director, Mr. Andy Zukerberg, who can be reached at 202-219-7056 or Andrew.Zukerberg@ed.gov is also available to answer your questions. Please read the information below and ask any questions you might have before deciding whether or not to take part.

The NTPS is sponsored by the National Center for Education Statistics (NCES) in order to collect extensive data on public elementary and secondary schools in the United States. The NTPS provides data on the characteristics and qualifications of teachers and principals, teacher hiring practices, professional development, class size, and other conditions in schools across the nation. Participants are asked to complete a paper questionnaire and return it in the pre-addressed, postage-paid envelope provided (some respondents are also given an online option). Details about the data collection instrument, respondent type, and time required to complete the questionnaire are below.

Data Collection Instrument	Respondent Type	Estimated Time Required to Complete Questionnaire
Teacher Listing Form	School Administrator	XX minutes
School Questionnaire	Principal	XX minutes
Principal Questionnaire	Principal	XX minutes
Teacher Questionnaire	Teacher (1-5 per school)	XX minutes

Each NTPS Principal or Teacher Questionnaire contains questions that provide basic descriptive information on the respondent. Some of these items are: gender, age, race/ethnicity, principals' licensure, highest degree earned, salary, years of teaching experience, education degrees earned and fields, certification, main teaching assignment, teacher salary schedules, and hours worked per week.

Once the U.S. Census Bureau receives the completed survey forms, the responses are keyed into electronic data files, which are checked against the survey forms for accuracy. Names, addresses, and other identifying information for schools, principals, and teachers are removed from the data files to protect respondents' confidentiality. A school identification number is used to link principal and teacher data to the schools where they work.

The data are used in statistical summaries only. NCES issues its own reports and requires researchers to access the data through restricted-use licensing for other analyses. Only users who have official clearance from NCES may have access to the restricted-use data files. Several reports are issued once the data are finalized, which may include: a general report that provides an overview of the data, a teacher report, a school report, and a principal report. Congress and the U.S. Department of Education use these data to critically examine existing educational programs and services to plan new programs intended to improve education throughout the nation.

Your responses are protected from disclosure by federal statute (20 U.S.C., §9573). All responses that relate to or describe identifiable characteristics of individuals may be used only for statistical purposes and may not be disclosed, or used, in identifiable form for any other purpose, unless otherwise compelled by law.

HOW WILL YOUR INFORMATION BE REPORTED?

The information you provide will be combined with the information provided by others in statistical reports. No individually-identifiable data will be included in the statistical reports.

WHERE SHOULD YOU MAIL YOUR COMPLETED QUESTIONNAIRE?
