SECTION II. THINK-ALOUD PRACTICE

INTERVIEWER: READ/PARAPHRASE

“Let me begin by telling you a little more about what we’ll be doing today. The United States Census Bureau counts the population in the U.S and also conducts various kinds of surveys.

Today, with your help, we will be testing some new questions that were developed for a supplement to the National Crime Victimization Survey. I will first ask you some survey questions and you’ll answer the questions just as you would if you were doing it with an interviewer in a regular survey. I am interested in your answers, but I am mainly interested in how you understand these questions and how these questions work for you. From time to time, I’ll ask you some questions about your answers, or about the questions themselves.

Our goal here is to get a better idea of how well the new questions work for people such as yourself before we actually use them in the survey. Therefore, the purpose of our session today is to collect your thoughts and opinions on these new questions and materials. I just want to remind you that I’m only asking for your thoughts and opinions on these materials. There is no right or wrong answer. We are simply trying to make sure the question wording is clear and easy for most people to understand. Your feedback will be very useful for helping make sure these questions will make sense to other people.

Your participation in this interview and the review of the materials is very important because it will help the Census Bureau with improving these questions. Your participation in this interview is voluntary, and you may decline to answer any question, or stop the interview at any time.

Do you have any questions before we begin?”

Okay, let’s get started with the interview.

Remember, please answer the questions as you would if an interviewer had come to your home.
