CDC Homepage UX: Scenarios

What will be tested?

The following scenarios have been developed to test various aspects of the CDC.gov homepage and 2nd Tier mockups. While the participants complete the scenarios, qualitative and quantitative data will be captured by the facilitator and note takers.

PLEASE NOTE:

This copy of the scenarios/questions is the facilitator copy and to be used as a verbal guide by the facilitator. This version will not be provided on paper to participants. Participants will be provided the Participant Scenario List (see E-Participant Scenario List - CDChomepageUX121013).

Prior to the usability scenarios, the facilitator will explain the purpose of the usability test and will conduct all of the pre-test activities.

Each usability test may only include a subset of the questions below. The probing questions (included below) will vary from participant to participant and will be based on the facilitator's judgment of what to test and the time allotted in the session.

The scenarios on the following pages will be provided to the users verbatim, so that all of the participants see the exact same questions. Scenarios may be presented to users in random order in order to avoid learning biases.

Lastly, the estimated times below are simply an estimate of the time it will take for each scenario. Some users may complete tasks faster and others may struggle and not be able to complete all of the following scenarios.

1. Homepage Mockups

Note: Facilitator will explain that the homepage designs are early prototypes and not fully functional. For the purposes of this test, users will be asked to make a click on the page to show where they would click if the page was fully functional.
