Network Enumeration Module Part 1 (Family)

We'd like learn about people that are important to you. First, please list all members of your family of origin (parents and siblings) and your nuclear family (spouse/partner and children). We'll ask about other important people later. This list of people will help us map your personal network. You may name anyone you know, no matter who they are or where they live, using any name that's identifiable to you, such as initials or a nickname (we won't save this information, so feel free to use last names if it helps you). Please also indicate their relationship to you, their age, gender, where they live, and how often you have had contact with them during the past 3 months. If you don't know an answer, just leave that space blank.

	Name*	Relationship	Age	Gender	In the last 3 months, about how often did you have contact with this person, either face-to-face, by email, or by phone?	Where does this person live?
A				□ Male □ Female	□ Everyday □ More than once a week □ A couple of times a month □ Once □ I did not have contact with this person in the last 3 months.	□ This person lives with me. □ Within an hour drive. □ Within a two hour drive. □ Within a three hour drive. □ More than a three hour drive. □ This person is deceased

*Note for OMB: This survey does not collect PII. In the network enumeration modules, respondents are prompted that they may list their contacts (e.g., relatives and friends) in any manner that is helpful to them. This information is not collected by us, rather it is temporarily stored in memory cache that can only be read by the survey instrument on respondents' computers. When respondents complete, or otherwise exit, the survey, these data are completely lost. Full disclosure to the respondent that we are not collecting PII is made both at the time of consent and in the network enumeration question prompt.

Network Enumeration Module Part 2 (Other Important People)

Now we'd like you to think about other people that are important to you that are not members of your family of origin or nuclear family. Please list other people that are important to you, such as extended family members (your grandmother, grandchildren, cousins, etc.), family through marriage (mother-in-law, brother-in-law), friends, and coworkers. This list of people will help us map your personal network. You may name anyone you know, no matter who they are or where they live, using any name that's identifiable to you, such as initials or a nickname (we won't save this information, so feel free to use last names if it helps you). Please also indicate their relationship to you, their age, gender, where they live, and how often you have had contact with them during the past 3 months. If you don't know an answer, just leave that space blank.
