Who is MCRMC?

The Congress chartered the Military Compensation and Retirement Modernization Commission (MCRMC) to conduct an independent, comprehensive review of Service member pay and benefit programs and to make recommendations for their modernization, to:

- (1) ensure the long-term viability of the All-Volunteer Force;
- (2) enable the quality of life for Service members and their families; and
- (3) modernize and achieve fiscal sustainability for the compensation and retirement systems

Why this survey?

This survey is your opportunity to share your views on which Service member pays and benefits are important to you. It is part of the MCRMC's efforts to hear directly from a broad range of Service members and retirees, so your input (and that of many thousands of your counterparts) is greatly appreciated.

As you begin the survey, be aware that the MCRMC has no current position on the merits of any of changes to Service member pays and benefits. Instead, the survey questions are designed to help the Commission better understand the preferences of those who receive those pays and benefits.

Let's Get Started!

Before we start, here are some things to consider:

1. Set aside 20-30 minutes. The application will take approximately 20-30 minutes to complete. First, we'll ask you for your preferences for items within different categories (i.e., health care, retirement, compensation, quality of life benefits). Then, we'll ask you to indicate how important each category is to you, and to evaluate a few trade-offs.

The last part asks about your satisfaction with various compensation components, followed by some additional background information.

2. Confidential and Anonymous. This assessment is completely confidential and individual responses will remain anonymous. The results will be reported in aggregate form only.

3. What's Best? This assessment covers many topics that are in existence today, but some pose alternatives for you to consider. Please indicate your preference for each choice presented to you.

4. Be Yourself! When answering the questions, please think about what you, yourself, most prefer.

The survey must be completed in one session. If you cannot complete the survey in one session, you will have to start over. Please note that the survey will timeout after 30 minutes of inactivity.

CONSENT INFORMATION and PRIVACY ADVISORY STATEMENT

This statement describes the purpose of the survey, the identification and use of any Personally Identifiable Information, and asks for your informed consent to participate. Please read it carefully, and then click "Next" at the bottom of this page.

PRINCIPAL PURPOSE: This survey asks your preferences for current and alternative types and levels of military compensation (pays, retirement, health care and other benefits). This survey will capture input from a broad cross-section of current and former uniformed Service members. The Military Compensation and Retirement Modernization Commission sponsored this survey and intends to use the results to help it make recommendations on ways to improve and modernize military compensation.

VOLUNTARY PARTICIPATION: Your participation in this survey is voluntary. There is no penalty or loss of benefits to which you are entitled if you choose not to respond. However, maximum participation is encouraged so that the data will be complete and representative. Most people can complete the survey in 30 minutes or less.

DISCLOSURE PROTECTIONS: Your survey responses will be kept private to the extent permitted by law. Identifying information, such as your email address, will be kept separate from survey responses and used only for sending you survey invitations and reminders. In no case will the answers you provide reveal your individual identity, nor will we disclose your email address. Your responses on this survey will be combined with others to generate summary results only.

CONSENT INFORMATION and PRIVACY ADVISORY STATEMENT

SURVEY ELIGIBILITY AND POTENTIAL BENEFITS: The survey sample has been chosen using well-established, scientific procedures to randomly select a sample that represents the Defense community based on combinations of demographic characteristics (for example, enlisted or officer, and grade). This is your chance to be heard on issues that directly affect you. While there is no direct benefit for your individual participation, your responses on this survey make a difference.

STATEMENT OF RISK: The only risk to you is accidental or unintentional disclosure of the data you provide. However, the government and its contractors have a number of policies and procedures to ensure that survey data are safe and protected. For example, no identifying information is ever stored in the same file as survey responses. Demographic data that may be collected by the survey is not collected in a way that can be used to identify an individual. Government and contractor staff members have been trained to protect client identity and are subject to civil penalties for violating your confidentiality.

If you wish to withdraw from the survey please make a request by writing to survey@mcrmc.gov. Please include your unique survey link when making this request.

Part 1: What do you prefer?

First, we'd like to ask you about your preferences. The first two questions are practices, then we ask about your preferences for changes to different elements of your compensation, like basic and retirement pay, allowances, health care, and an array of quality of life benefits.

For each item shown, move the sliders up or down depending on your preferences. Note that the number beneath each column changes (0-100) as you move the sliders up and down. The higher you move the slider, the more you prefer that item. If you have no interest and/or if the benefit's feature doesn't apply to you, you should move the slider for that feature down toward zero.

Click the "Next" button below to continue.

Practice Question 1

In this survey, some questions will ask about your preferences for various features of your benefits. In this type of question, each feature is distinct from the others, and some may be of interest to you while others may not be.

We want you to try out a practice question like this, so you get a feel for it. Be sure to roll over each option to learn more about it.

Move the sliders between 0 and 100 to indicate how strongly you prefer each feature or how important it is to you. If you move a slider all the way to 0, we'll take that to mean you either have no interest or the benefit's feature doesn't apply to you. If you move two sliders to the same level, then you value those two options equally. If you move all the sliders to 0 except one, then you would want only that one option.

Move the sliders up and down to indicate your preference. Be sure to hover over the question and each option to find out more.

Practice Question 2

We'll also be asking you questions about benefit options that are relative to each other. For example, "Do you prefer one egg, two eggs, or three eggs in your omelette?" Three eggs may seem like they're worth more than two eggs, but if you're not very hungry, maybe you think two eggs would be almost as good.

For each item shown, move the sliders up or down to indicate your preferences. We've made an assumption about the relative value of each option in this question, and will let you know when you make a choice that doesn't fit with that assumption. However, if you want to stick with your decision, feel free to ignore the warning.

Got it! >

How many eggs would you like in your omelette?¹

Move the sliders up and down to indicate your preference. For this question, we've assumed that you value three eggs above two, and two above one, so you'll see a warning if you indicate a preference that runs counter to that assumption.

"Share your thoughts about the retirement plan."

The next few questions ask for your preferences regarding various hypothetical changes to the current military retirement plan.

By law, the Commission cannot recommend any changes which would lower the amount of retirement pay or change the retirement eligibility date for those currently serving or who are retired (often referred to as "grandfathering"). However, we are asking for your input to understand how you believe these changes might be perceived by future entrants to military service.

This would not replace your annual adjustment, but will give us an idea of how well your current retirement pay meets your needs.

We expect that you will assign your highest preference to the highest increase and your lowest preference to the lowest increase. However, we are particularly interested in how you view the alternatives in between.
