Data are Encrypted at all Times

Our secure servers use "HTTPS", Hypertext Transfer Protocol over Secure Socket Layer, to ensure the encrypted transmission of data between your browser and the U.S. Census Bureau. This means that instead of sending readable text over the Internet, both your browser and our server encode (scramble) all text using a security key. That way, personal data sent to your browser or data you send back are extremely difficult to decode in the unlikely event it was intercepted by an unauthorized party.

All browsers connecting to our secure server must use a minimum encryption key size of 128 bits. If you cannot connect to our secure server and you are using an older browser, please upgrade to a newer browser capable of using the required encryption key size. In addition to data being encrypted while transmitted, all data are strongly encrypted when stored on our servers (even if stored temporarily).

Third Party Identity Proofing

Our secure server uses a digital certificate (digital ID) issued by a trusted, third party Certificate Authority (CA) as proof of identity. The only way to be sure of a web site's authenticity is to view their digital ID. In this way, you can be assured that you are not being "spoofed" or tricked by an imposter. The digital ID will contain information such as:

The name of the organization that owns the web site (e.g., "U.S. Census Bureau")

The site's registered Internet name/address (e.g., "respond.census.gov")

The name of the Certification Authority under which the digital ID was issued (e.g., "VeriSign Trust Network")

The method for viewing a web site's Digital Certificate/ID varies depending on the web browser. (For example, Mozilla's Firefox will display a clickable locked padlock icon in the lower right corner of your screen when in secure mode, Microsoft Internet Explorer shows a clickable locked padlock icon in the menu bar.) Please see your browser's "help" information for instructions on how to verify a web site's identity.

Frequently Asked Questions

What is the American Community Survey?

The American Community Survey collects information about population and housing characteristics for the nation, states, cities, counties, metropolitan areas, and communities on a continuous basis. It is a survey that is sent to a small percentage of our population on a rotating basis. Based on the American Community Survey, the Census Bureau can provide up-to-date data about our rapidly changing country more often than once every 10 years when the census is conducted.

Do I have to mail back my questionnaire if I complete the American Community Survey online?

No. Once you submit your completed survey online, the Census Bureau has received your information. You should not mail back the questionnaire.

For this survey, is it safe to provide my information over the Internet?

Yes. For this survey, your information is encrypted at all times. Our secure servers use "HTTPS," Hypertext Transfer Protocol over Secure Socket Layer, to ensure the encrypted transmission of data between your browser and the U.S. Census Bureau. This means that instead of sending readable text over the Internet, both your browser and our server encode (scramble) all data using a security key. That way, personal data sent to your browser and data you send back is virtually impossible to decipher in the unlikely event it was intercepted by an unauthorized party. All browsers connecting to our secure server must use a minimum encryption key size of 128 bits. If you cannot connect to our secure server and you are using an older browser, please upgrade to a newer browser capable of using the required encryption key size. In addition to data being encrypted during transmission, all data are strongly encrypted when stored on the Census Bureau servers.

How can I be sure my information is really going to the Census Bureau and not some third party?

Our secure server uses a digital certificate (digital ID) issued by a Certificate Authority (CA) as proof of identity. The only way to be sure of a web site's authenticity is to view their digital ID. The digital ID will contain information such as:

- The name of the organization that owns the web site (e.g., "U.S. Census Bureau")
- The site's registered Internet name/address (e.g., "respond.census.gov")
- The name of the Certification Authority under which the digital ID was issued (e.g., "VeriSign Trust Network")

The method for viewing a web site's Digital Certificate/ID varies depending on the web browser. Please see your browser's "help" information for instructions on how to verify a web site's identity.

Will the Census Bureau keep my information confidential?

Yes. All of the information the Census Bureau collects for this survey about you and your household is confidential by law (Title 13, U.S. Code, Section 9). By law, every Census Bureau employee — including the Director as well as every field representative — has taken an oath and is subject to a jail term of up to 5 years, a fine of up to $250,000, or both if he or she discloses ANY information that could identify you or your household.

How was I selected for the survey?

The U.S. Census Bureau chose your address – not you personally – as part of a randomly selected sample. Your address was selected to represent a cross section of other households in your community.

How long will it take to complete the survey?

For the average household, we estimate the American Community Survey will take about 38 minutes to complete, including the time for reviewing the instructions and answers. Since this is an estimate, it will not hold true for every household that receives the survey.

Do I have to answer the questions on the American Community Survey?

Yes. Respondents are required to answer all questions on the American Community Survey (ACS) to the best of their ability. Response to the ACS is required by law (Section 221 of Title 13, Chapter 7, United States Code).

Your answers are very important because they represent the answers of many other similar households in your community. The data that you and others provide in response to this survey are required to manage or evaluate federal and state government programs.

How do I benefit by answering the American Community Survey?

The American Community Survey provides up-to-date information for the nation, states, cities, counties, metropolitan areas, and communities. By responding to the American Community Survey, you are helping your community to establish goals, identify problems and solutions, and measure the performance of programs.

Communities need data about the well-being of children, families, and the elderly population to provide services to them. The data are also used to decide where to locate new highways, schools, hospitals, and community centers; to determine the goods and services its residents need; to show businesses that a town has the workforce the company needs; and in many other ways.

How will the Census Bureau use the information that I provide?

The Census Bureau will use the information you provide for statistical purposes only and cannot publish or release information that would identify you or your household. Your information will be used in combination with information from other households to help us assess how questions on the American Community Survey are understood and answered. The Census Bureau will use this information to improve the American Community Survey, ultimately resulting in even better data for your community and the nation.

What do I do if I don't know the answer to a question?

Ask someone else in your household. They might know the answer. If no one knows or there is no one else in your household, give your best estimate.

Where can I find more information about the American Community Survey or get assistance?
