New National Study on Tobacco and Health

Welcome to the PATH Study!

Your household and thousands of others have been selected to be in one of the most important national health studies ever done in the United States.

What is the PATH Study?

The National Institutes of Health (NIH), in partnership with the Food and Drug Administration (FDA), is sponsoring an exciting new study on tobacco and health, called the PATH Study. This study will include people age 12 and older, whether or not they use tobacco.

The study will teach us about why and how people are using—or not using—different types of tobacco products (not just cigarettes) and how use may affect health. Because we want to know why people do not use tobacco products, including tobacco non-users is critical. The goal is to interview about 59,000 people at their homes, making the PATH Study the largest of its kind ever done.

The information we collect will be used for research purposes only. The study will keep this information private; it will only be seen by individuals working on the study.

Why was my household selected?

The PATH Study selected your address by chance from a list of addresses. Whether or not to participate is up to you. However, the study results will be much more complete and useful if your household agrees to participate.

What happens next?

In the next few weeks, one of the PATH Study interviewers will visit your home. The interviewer would like to talk to an adult and ask questions about the people who live in your household. We will use the answers to select people to participate in the study.

- If an adult in your household is selected for the study, we will ask him or her to take part in an interview. The person can decide whether or not to be part of the study. If you are selected, we hope you will agree to participate.
- If a person 12 to 17 years old is selected, we will interview him or her only if a parent or guardian gives permission, and the youth agrees to participate.

Why should I be part of this study?

You should be part of the PATH Study because the results may help to improve the health of millions of Americans.

Whether or not you use tobacco, you will be an important part of what is learned about tobacco products and how they may affect health. Your participation can make a difference.

How will you protect my privacy?

All the information you give to the PATH Study will be kept private.

- Your answers will not be connected with your name.
- We will identify your answers by a number only.
- Your name and contact information will be kept separately in secure computer files.

Sorry I Missed You!

Hello _____

I visited today to talk with you about the Population Assessment of Tobacco and Health (PATH) Study. This study will look at tobacco use and how it may affect the health of people in the United States. It will include both people who use tobacco and those who don't. This study is being conducted by Westat for the National Institutes of Health (NIH), in partnership with the Food and Drug Administration (FDA).

I'm sorry that I didn't find you at home. In the next few days, I'll try to contact you again.

Thank you for your cooperation.

Dear «Name»,

Recently, you spoke with one of our interviewers about the Population Assessment of Tobacco and Health (PATH) Study. Our interviewer said that you were too busy to participate. As the PATH Study Survey Director, I want to ask you personally to think about it again.

I understand that you are busy and have many demands on your time and energy. But doing an interview for the PATH Study is very important to our Nation's health. You can help researchers understand why and how Americans are using – or not using – different types of tobacco products (not just cigarettes) and how use affects health. Whether or not you use tobacco, you can make a difference by doing an interview.

I have asked a PATH Study interviewer to contact you again to set up an interview. It should only take about an hour. We can do it when it is convenient for you. We will offer you $35 as a thank you for participating.

If you want to ask questions or set up an interview, please call our toll-free number, 1-888-311-1819, weekdays between 9:00 a.m. and 9:00 p.m. Eastern Time. Dear «Name»,

Recently, you spoke with one of our interviewers about the Population Assessment of Tobacco and Health (PATH) Study. Our interviewer said that you had concerns about the privacy of your information.

As the PATH Study Survey Director, I am writing to you personally to let you know that we are totally committed to protecting your information. Here are some of the things we do to protect you.

- We do not link your answers to your name, address, or any other information that can identify you. For example, if I were in the Study, none of my answers would have my name on them. Instead, they would have a number, such as 0021.
- We combine your answers with answers given by thousands of others. Study reports will show only totals of combined answers. Reports from the Study will not say anything about individual people.
- All researchers must sign a written pledge to protect your confidentiality. Anyone who violates your privacy could lose their job and get in trouble with the law.
- The Study has a Certificate of Confidentiality from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. This means that no authority can force us to share your information. Your interviewer has a copy of this certificate and can show it to you.
- You may change your mind about being in the Study and leave at any time. Also, you may refuse to answer any question even if you've agreed to be in the Study.

I have asked a PATH Study interviewer to contact you again to set up a time for an interview. It should take about an hour. We can do it when it is convenient for you. We will offer you $35 as a thank you for your participation.

If you want to ask questions or set up an interview, please call our toll-free number, 1-888-311-1819, weekdays between 9:00 a.m. and 9:00 p.m. Eastern Time. To find out more about the PATH Study, visit our website at www.pathstudyinfo.nih.gov. If you have a smartphone, you can scan the QR code below to visit the website.

Thank you in advance for your help.

One of our interviewers has been trying to contact you about the Population Assessment of Tobacco and Health (PATH) Study. The PATH Study is an important study of tobacco use and health. We would like you to continue being in it. As the PATH Study Survey Director, I am writing to ask you personally to think about it again,

I understand how busy people are these days. But, by doing a follow-up interview for the PATH Study, you can help researchers understand why and how Americans are using – or not using – different types of tobacco products (not just cigarettes) and how use affects health. Whether or not you use tobacco, you can make a difference by doing another interview.

I have asked a PATH Study interviewer to contact you again to set up the second year's interview. It should take about an hour. We can do it when it is convenient for you. We will offer you $35 as a thank you for participating.

Dear Management,

I am writing to request your help with an important study, the Population Assessment of Tobacco and Health (PATH). The National Institutes of Health (NIH), in partnership with the Food and Drug Administration (FDA), is sponsoring this study of tobacco use and its effects on the health of all Americans. We are conducting the second set of annual visits to participants for the study under Public Law 11-31 of the 111th Congress, the Family Smoking Prevention and Tobacco Control Act (FSPTCA). Researchers and policymakers will use the information collected in the PATH Study to help improve the Nation's health.

Several addresses in the community or building you manage were selected last year, and the residents agreed to participate in the PATH Study. The study goes for several years, and each year the participants have a follow-up visit. We are now contacting participants to schedule their annual interview. We are not soliciting or selling anything.

I am requesting your permission to allow our interviewer to enter <Name of Community> to speak with residents who are participants in the PATH Study. We recognize that you have responsibility for security. Our interviewers wear photo ID badges and are trained on privacy, confidentiality, and ethical practices in research. We monitor them closely. They carry a Certificate of Confidentiality from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services and can show this to you. We respectfully ask that you give the residents the opportunity to have their follow-up visit.

If you have questions, or to discuss arrangements for our interviewer to contact the selected addresses in <Name of Community>, please call our toll-free number, 1-888-311-1819, weekdays between 9:00 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. Eastern Time. As part of the PATH study, we ask you to collect a sample of your urine. Please follow these instructions.

- ① Wash your hands with soap and water.
- ② Lay the paper towel in the kit on a flat surface. Take the lid off of the collection container and place it on the paper towel. The inside of the lid should be placed face down on the paper towel.

Don't touch the inside of the lid or the inside of the collection container. Don't allow the inside of the lid or the inside of the collection container to come in contact with any part of your body, clothing, or bathroom surfaces.

38208.0513.8954020204

- ③ Urinate directly into the container. Collect all of your urine; don't let any of it go into the toilet unless the container is full.
- ④ Replace the lid on the collection container immediately so that the urine is only briefly exposed to the air.
- ⑤ Use the paper towel to wipe any urine from the outside of the container.
- ⑥ Wash your hands with soap and water after collecting the sample.
- ⑦ Give the collection container back to the interviewer.

*If you have any questions, please ask the interviewer.
Thank you for providing this sample!*

Blood Collection

www.pathstudyinfo.nih.gov

38199.1013.8954030202-RS9-V1

Who is Hooper Holmes?

- Hooper Holmes is a national provider of in-home blood collection services.
- For the PATH Study, Hooper Holmes health professionals will visit homes to collect blood samples from consenting adults.
- All health professionals are trained and certified to draw blood.

What Should I Expect?

Step 1

A Hooper Holmes health professional will call you 1 to 2 days before your scheduled appointment. The health professional will confirm:

- The date of your appointment,
- The time of your appointment, and
- Your address.

Step 2

A Hooper Holmes health professional will come to your home on the appointed date and time. The health professional will do the following:

- Show a driver's license and PATH Study identification,
- Collect information about your recent use of tobacco, and
- Complete the blood collection in your home.

Step 3

As a thank you for participating in the health professional visit, $25 will be added to your debit card within 3 business days after sample collection.

Safe, Easy, and at Your Convenience!

Frequently Asked Questions

Why are you collecting blood?

The blood collection is critical to the success of the PATH Study. Researchers will conduct tests on the blood that will help us to understand how tobacco affects the body. We are collecting samples from adults who use tobacco and those who do not.

How much blood will you take?

We'll collect six tubes of blood that equal about three tablespoons. The body makes blood daily and replaces this amount of blood within 24 hours.

Is it safe?

Yes. All PATH Study health professionals have done more than 150 successful blood collections and have been trained and certified on PATH Study collection procedures. The supplies used for blood collection are completely sterile and are used only once. You can't be infected by any bloodborne disease, such as hepatitis or AIDS, through this blood collection.

Will I receive the results of the tests?

No. The results of the tests will be used for research purposes only, so we won't send individual test results to you.

Whom do I contact if I have questions about the blood collection?

- Ask the interviewer or health professional any questions you may have about the blood collection or
- Call the PATH Study toll-free number, 1-888-311-1819, weekdays between 9:00 a.m. and 9:00 p.m. Eastern Time.

Whom do I contact if I want to change or confirm my appointment?

Call the Hooper Holmes Scheduling Coordinator toll-free number, 1-888-326-1688, weekdays between 9:00 a.m. and 10:00 p.m. Eastern Time and weekends between 10:00 a.m. and 7:00 p.m. Eastern Time.

Information on Substance Abuse Resources

SAMHSA's Treatment Referral Routing Service

Website: <http://www.samhsa.gov/treatment/natHelpFAQs.aspx>

Telephone: 1-800-662-HELP (1-800-662-4357)

This treatment and referral system is a confidential, free, 24-hour-a-day, 365-days-a-year information service in English and Spanish for individuals and family members facing substance abuse and mental health issues. The service provides referrals to local treatment facilities, support groups, and community-based organizations. Callers can also order free publications (many are available for download) and other print information on substance abuse and mental health.

Parent Hotline

Website: <http://parenthotline.net>

Telephone: 1-800-840-6537

Parent Hotline has a website dedicated to helping families who are in a crisis. It lists behaviors for parents to be aware of, including drug use, and how to determine if a child is in need of intervention.

Libraries are an excellent source of information about these and other health concerns. Bookstores also often have relevant materials in their "diet and health" sections.

In addition, many websites have information related to these issues. Some are better than others. Knowing if the information on a website comes from sources you can trust is important. Be careful about sharing or exchanging information online, as some websites will not keep information private.

How to Get Help

In today's visit, you expressed interest in learning about resources for one of these topics:

- Smoking or other tobacco use,
- Mental health, or
- Substance abuse.

Below is a list of telephone numbers and websites where you can get help and information on these topics. The list is not meant to be complete. You may also wish to first contact your family physician or your private health insurance provider for advice and referral.

Information on Smoking/Other Tobacco Use Resources

Smokefree.gov

Website: www.smokefree.gov
Telephone: 1-877-44U-QUIT (1-877-448-7848)

Smokefree.gov is a website created by the National Cancer Institute (NCI). The site offers the following information:

- Step-by-step quit guide,
- Tools to help you quit, and
- Talk to a smoking cessation expert at 1-877-448-7848,
- Topics related to quitting.

1-800-QUIT-NOW

Telephone: 1-800-QUIT-NOW (1-800-784-8669)

When you call 1-800-QUIT-NOW, you'll have access to many types of information and services about quitting smoking. They include the following:

- Free support and advice from an experienced counselor,
- Social support and coping strategies to help you deal with cravings,
- A personalized quit plan and self-help materials,
- The latest information about medications to help people quit smoking.

QuitNet

Website: www.quitnet.com

QuitNet is an online group of smokers and ex-smokers. Support comes from other people who share similar experiences in the effort to quit smoking. This approach is designed to help people help each other quit smoking using forums, chats, emails, and testimonials.

Information on Mental Health Resources

National Hopeline Network

Website: www.hopeline.com
Telephone: 1-800-SUICIDE (1-800-784-2433)

The Hopeline connects people in immediate distress to a crisis center. Calls are answered by certified counselors 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. When the system is fully operational, your call should be routed to a center nearest your home. A trained counselor should answer within two or three rings, or in about 20 to 30 seconds from the moment you dial 1-800-SUICIDE.

1-800-THERAPIST

Website: www.1-800-THERAPIST.com
Telephone: 1-800-843-7274

This is a toll-free number, and it's a free referral service. You can talk to a referral resource counselor during normal business hours. You must leave a message and someone will return your call. After an initial telephone evaluation, you can be referred to a full range of clinicians, including a psychiatrist, psychologist, marriage or family therapist, clinical social worker, licensed professional counselor, or nurse.

National Institute of Mental Health (NIMH) Public Inquiries

Website: www.nimh.nih.gov
Telephone: 301-443-4513

The public inquiries line is a toll call and is staffed by trained information specialists Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. (Eastern Time). Information is available on NIMH mental health research programs and on symptoms and treatment for emotional problems. NIMH does not provide referrals to health care providers or counsel people on specific problems. A list of NIMH publications, including several in Spanish, is available on the NIMH website at www.nimh.nih.gov. Single copies of these are free and may be requested by telephone at 301-443-4513, by fax at 301-443-4279, or by writing to NIMH Public Inquiries, 6001 Executive Boulevard, Room 8184 MSC 9663, Bethesda, MD 20892-9663. Also, you can download publications directly from the website.

Dear PATH Study Participant,

We are pleased to present your new PATH Study debit card! You will receive your PATH Study payments on this card.

Here's some information on the debit card, which is a MasterCard® card issued by Payoneer.

- Please allow 3 business days for your card to be activated. Your card will be valid for 36 months. After 2 months, if any money is still on the card, a $3 fee will be deducted from it each month.

- Use your card for purchases anywhere on/offline that Debit MasterCard® is accepted.
- If you are asked, you may select "credit" at the register and sign for your purchase.
- If you would like to use a personal identification number (PIN), for debit features such as cash back for purchases, you may call the toll-free number located on the back of the card and follow the prompts to set a PIN.
- If you are asked for an address or zip code when making a purchase, please use the following address: 1600 Research Boulevard, Rockville, MD 20850.
- For gas purchases, give your card to the cashier; the card cannot be used to pay-at-the-pump.
- Your card cannot be used to access cash at an ATM.
- When making a purchase for an amount greater than your available balance, instruct the merchant to charge an amount equal to your available balance and then pay the remainder using another form of payment.

- Keep your card, even if the balance is $0. Future payments for your participation in the PATH Study will be transferred to this card.

If you have any questions about use of the card, including your balance or a lost/stolen card, please contact PATH Study support toll-free at (888) 311-1819. (This number is also printed on the front of your card.)

Sincerely,

The PATH Study Team
