

Cognitive Interview Screener

High School Aged Youth

A) IF POTENTIAL PARTICIPANT CALLS IN:

Thank you for calling us. Child Trends is leading a study on healthy marriage and relationship education (HMRE) programs for the Administration for Children and Families in the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. The goal of this study is to learn more about questions that may be used in healthy marriage and relationship education (HMRE) programming and evaluation. We want to make sure that the questions make sense for teens. As part of this effort, we will be doing cognitive interviews with 14-17 year old teens.

Cognitive interviews are conversations in which you are asked what you think of different questions. For example, we might ask if the wording of a question makes sense or not. The goal of cognitive interviews is to improve the quality of the questions. The goal is not to get answers to the questions.

Your participation is voluntary.

The interview will last approximately an hour and a half. As a token of our appreciation, we will give you a $50 gift card at the end of the interview.

In order to make sure that you are eligible to participate in the study, I need to ask you a few questions. This will take about 5 minutes. Do you have any questions before I begin?

Just in case we get disconnected, can I get the phone number that you are calling from?

Hello. My name is [SCREENER’S NAME]. I’m calling from Child Trends. May I speak with [POTENTIAL PARTICIPANT’S PARENT]?

VERIFY THAT YOU ARE SPEAKING TO THE RIGHT PERSON; PROCEED.

I am calling from Child Trends, a nonprofit research organization that is leading a study on healthy marriage and relationship education (HMRE) programs for the Administration for Children and Families in the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. We spoke to your SON/DAUGHTER earlier about participating in this study and mailed you a packet of information about our study. We want to learn about how teens define healthy romantic relationships. The goal of this study is to learn more about questions that may be used in healthy marriage and relationship education (HMRE) programming and evaluation. We want to make sure that the questions make sense for teens. As part of this effort, we will be doing cognitive interviews with 14-17 year old teens.

Cognitive interviews are conversations in which you are asked what you think of different questions. For example, we might ask if the wording of a question makes sense or not. The goal of cognitive interviews is to improve the quality of the questions. The goal is not to get answers to the questions.

Your child’s participations participation is voluntary. Specifically, an agency may not conduct or sponsor, and a person is not required to respond to, a collection of information unless it displays a currently valid OMB control number. The OMB control number for this collection is 0970-0355 and it expires 01/31/2015.

We would like to talk with your child about these topics sometime in the next few days. Our conversation will last approximately an hour and a half and everything they tell us will remain confidential and will not be shared with anyone outside of the study team. To thank them for their help, we will mail your child a $50 Visa gift card at the end of the interview.

For study purposes I would also like to ask you a couple questions about your education and income. Your responses are voluntary. You don’t have to answer if you don’t want to.

1. What is the highest grade or year of school that you have completed?

- Less than high school
- High school/GED
- Associates degree/some college
- College/ BA/BS
- Masters or higher
- Don’t know

2. What was your household’s income last year? Your best guess is fine.
