Project Title	Testbed experiments for CRP auction design
Purpose of the Study	This research is being conducted by Professor Peter Cramton at the University of Maryland, College Park. We are inviting you to participate in this research project because you are a UMCP student. The purpose of this research project is to understand bidding behavior.
Procedures	The session today involves an experiment where you will make decisions that will have a real effect on your earnings. You will be compensated for your participation but the individual earnings will differ depending on your decisions. Your earnings may also be affected by the decisions of others in this session. You will play the role of a bidder in a sequence of online auctions; the others in the session will also be bidders in the auctions. The total time for the session will be approximately two hours. The session takes place at the Experimental Economics Lab in Tydings Hall.
Potential Risks and Discomforts	There are no known risks associated with participating in this research project.
Potential Benefits	This research is not designed to help you personally, but the results may help the investigator learn more about auctions. We hope that, in the future, other people might benefit from this study through improved understanding of bids in auctions.
Confidentiality	We will do our best to keep your personal information confidential. To help protect your confidentiality, we will use only identification codes on data forms, and we will store the data in an encrypted file on a secure server connected to the Experimental Economics Lab. The identification codes will be linked to personally identifying information, but the links will be destroyed shortly after the experiment. Only the research team will have access to the collected data. The information collected in this study is confidential and your name will not be identified at any time. If we write a report or article about this research project, your identity will be protected to the maximum extent possible. Your information may be shared with representatives of the University of Maryland, College Park or governmental authorities if you or someone else is in danger or if we are required to do so by law.
Compensation	You will receive monetary compensation. Typical compensation is about $25. You will be responsible for any taxes assessed on the compensation. <input type="checkbox"/> Check here if you expect to earn $600 or more as a research participant in UMCP studies in this calendar year. You must provide your name, address and SSN to receive compensation. <input type="checkbox"/> Check here if you do not expect to earn $600 or more as a research participant in UMCP studies in this calendar year. Your name, address, and SSN will not be collected to receive compensation.
