JHR7464Q016	B	Arlington National Cemetery recently completed an expansion. The next expansion is in the planning stages and can be expected to add 10-15 years to the life of the cemetery (taking it to the 2050's under current ANC eligibility policy). This expansion is projected to cost $274 million dollars* (rough order of magnitude). The expansion will add 40-60,000 burial plots to the cemetery at a cost of approximately $4,500-$6,800 per plot. As a taxpayer, do you believe this cost is reasonable? *This cost figure does not include the cost of moving the military organizations who formerly had office space in the Navy Annex, demolition and remediation, or future operations and maintenance costs for said expansion. 			Politicians
			Former POWs
			Others whose service is deemed to have been active duty service (i.e. Merchant Marines)
JHR7464Q019		One option to prolong the life of the cemetery is expansion. Since the cemetery currently borders private neighborhoods, Joint Base Myer/Henderson Hall, several highways and the Marine Corps War Memorial, any expansion effort would involve encroaching one of these bordering areas. The last expansion resulted in expanding the cemetery by 34 acres and cost the taxpayer a quarter of a billion dollars. This recent expansion added 7 years of life to the cemetery ($.25B for 7 years).  Do you think Arlington National Cemetery should be expanded further at similar cost?	Yes		Y	Radio button, one-up vertical		P3: Expanded at Cost
			No
			Undecided
JHR7464Q020		If no further geographic expansion were possible, do you think action should be taken with respect to restricting eligibility to keep the cemetery active for new burials?
