Guidance for Industry and Food and Drug Administration Staff

User Fees for 513(g) Requests for Information

This guidance represents the Food and Drug Administration's (FDA's) current thinking on this topic. It does not create or confer any rights for or on any person and does not operate to bind FDA or the public. You can use an alternative approach if the approach satisfies the requirements of the applicable statutes and regulations. If you want to discuss an alternative approach, contact the FDA staff responsible for implementing this guidance. If you cannot identify the appropriate FDA staff, call the appropriate number listed on the title page of this guidance.

I. Introduction

Title II of the Food and Drug Administration Amendments Act of 2007 (FDAAA), also termed the Medical Device User Fee Amendments of 2007, P.L. 110-85, extends FDA's authority to collect medical device user fees¹ by establishing a fee for "a request for classification information." A "request for classification information" is "a request made under section 513(g) for information respecting the class in which a device has been classified or the requirements applicable to a device."² This guidance and other FDA publications use the term "513(g) request" and "Request for Information" as a synonym for this term. FDA's response to a 513(g) request will provide information regarding device classification and/or applicable regulatory requirements. The additional funds obtained from user fees will enable FDA to improve the device review process in order to meet performance goals identified in letters from the Secretary of Health and Human Services to Congress.³ The purpose of this guidance is to assist FDA staff and regulated industry by describing the user fees associated with 513(g) requests.

¹ Medical device user fees were first authorized by the Medical Device User Fee and Modernization Act of 2002 (MDUFMA), Public Law 107-250. MDUFMA amended the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (the FD&C Act) to authorize FDA to collect user fees for the review of certain premarket submissions. Title II of FDAAA extends FDA's authority to collect medical device user fees through September 30, 2012, and adds new types of fees to section 738 of the Act (21 U.S.C. 379j). See for additional information on medical device user fees: <http://www.fda.gov/MedicalDevices/DeviceRegulationandGuidance/Overview/MedicalDeviceUserFeeandModernizationActMDUFMA/default.htm>

FDA's guidance documents, including this guidance, do not establish legally enforceable responsibilities. Instead, guidances describe the Agency's current thinking on a topic and should be viewed only as recommendations, unless specific regulatory or statutory requirements are cited. The use of the word should in Agency guidances means that something is suggested or recommended, but not required.

II. Frequently Asked Questions Concerning User Fees for 513(g) Requests

1. Are all 513(g) requests subject to a user fee?

Yes. Section 738(a)(2)(A)(ix) of the Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (the FD&C Act) (21 U.S.C. 379j(a)(2)(A)(ix)) requires you to pay a user fee for any 513(g) request that you submit to FDA. Unlike other types of medical device application fees, the law does not provide any exception to the requirement to pay the fee for a 513(g) request.⁴ For example, you will have to pay a user fee for your 513(g) request, even if your submission is for a device intended solely for a pediatric population⁵ or you are a State or Federal Government entity.⁶

FDA will not accept your 513(g) for review until you have paid all fees owed, including all required establishment registration fees. See section 738(f)(1) of the FD&C Act (21 U.S.C. 379j(f)(1)). FDA's review of your 513(g) Request for Information will begin the date that all owed fees have been received.

2. Will FDA refund my user fee payment if you determine that my submission is not a 513(g) Request for Information?

Yes. Section 513(g) of the FD&C Act (21 U.S.C. 360c(g)) governs requests "for information respecting the class in which a device has been classified or the requirements applicable to a device under [the] Act." Submissions that do not request such information are outside the scope of section 513(g) and do not require a response from FDA. If FDA determines that a submission is not a 513(g) Request for Information, FDA intends to refund the user fee.

3. Will FDA refund my user fee payment if my product does not appear to be a medical device?

³ The commitment letter outlining the goals for FY 2008 – FY 2012 is available at <http://www.fda.gov/downloads/MedicalDevices/DeviceRegulationandGuidance/Overview/MedicalDeviceUserFeeandModernizationActMDUFMA/UCM109102.pdf>.

⁴ Section 738(a)(2)(B) of the FD&C Act provides certain exceptions to medical device user fees. However, none of these apply to 513(g) requests.

⁵ See section 738(a)(1)(B)(v)(I) of the FD&C Act.

⁶ See section 738(a)(1)(B)(iii) of the FD&C Act.

Contains Nonbinding Recommendations

No. The FD&C Act does not contain any provision with respect to refunding fees for 513(g) requests. See section 738(a)(2)(D) of the FD&C Act.

4. Will FDA refund my user fee payment if my device appears to be exempt from 510(k) premarket notification?

No. The FD&C Act does not contain any provision with respect to refunding fees for 513(g) requests. See section 738(a)(2)(D) of the FD&C Act.

5. Do I have to pay a new user fee if I submit a 510(k) or premarket approval application (PMA) for my device following my 513(g) request?

Yes. You must pay any applicable fee for any new submission type following your 513(g) request; you do not receive a “credit” for the fee paid for your 513(g) request. See section 738(a) of the FD&C Act.

6. After I submit a 513(g) Request for Information, can I subsequently add a new question, use, or technology without submitting a new user fee?

No. Once FDA has received your 513(g) Request for Information and user fee, you may not modify that 513(g) request by subsequently adding a new question, use, or technology. We would consider the addition of a new question, use, or technology to a pending 513(g) Request for Information to be a new 513(g) request subject to an additional user fee, to which we intend to respond separately.

7. Will FDA refund my user fee payment if I withdraw my 513(g) request?

No. The FD&C Act does not provide FDA authority to refund a user fee payment after you have submitted a 513(g) request and have paid the full fee. See section 738(a)(2)(D) of the FD&C Act.

8. If FDA requests additional information about my product, must I submit a new user fee with such information?

No. Information submitted in response to direct FDA requests for additional information does not require an additional user fee payment.

9. Is the completion of a medical device user fee cover sheet required?

Yes. You must complete and submit FDA Form 3601, Medical Device User Fee Cover Sheet, along with your request for information on classification. The form may be found at <http://www.fda.gov/ForIndustry/UserFees/MedicalDeviceUserFeeandModernizationAct/ucm155274.htm>

10. What are the 513(g) User Fees for FY 2008 –FY 2012?

Fiscal Year	Standard Fee	Fee for a Small Business
FY 2008	$2,498	$1,249
FY 2009	$2,710	$1,355
FY 2010	$2,941	$1,470
