Survey Overview:

The National Library of Medicine (NLM) currently hosts and maintains a self-paced tutorial (ToxTutor, <https://toxtutor.nlm.nih.gov/>) covering key principles of toxicology for users of the National Library of Medicine (NLM) chemical and toxicology databases. An understanding of these users will help to enhance and further develop the site's content. The purpose of this survey is to collect common demographic information (regarding age, profession, education) and to identify health information needs (reason for use of the resource) for the recently refreshed tutorial.
