2015 National Content Test - Centurion Screenshots
Updated December 22, 2014

The attached screenshots are from the 2015 Census Test survey instrument. The 2015 National Content Test will have the same look and feel as the 2015 Census Test, but has not been programmed yet, so screen shots are not available at this time. The survey name OMB number and expiration date, and other survey specific numbers (such as the Telephone Questionnaire Assistance telephone number) will be updated to reflect the 2015 National Content Test information. The Paperwork Reduction Act Statement along with the burden hours will also be updated.

Why are we asking for your email address? In the past, the Census Bureau has mailed most households in the United States a paper census form and visited people who did not respond. In an effort to reduce the cost of the census, we are considering alternative ways of contacting people, such as email. The information you provide here will assist us in that research.
