Major Changes to the Internet Spec for 2015 National Test

For the National Content Test in September 2015, we will be testing content changes to the roster section, the relationship question, and the race/ethnicity questions. This document will outline the current and test versions of these questions.

Notable changes:

- ADDRESS screens
    o Address screens will be updated for cases in Puerto Rico to allow for differences in Puerto Rican address conventions.
- ROSTER
    o Replication of the current roster series (2015 CT version)
    o New rules-based version, similar to what was used in 2012
- PEOPLE
    o Current approach: Lines displayed for 6 names on PEOPLE screen, with three additional lines added if "Click her to add more people" is clicked
    o New approach: One name collected at a time
- RELATIONSHIP
    o Replication of the current version, used in the 2010 Census
    o New version that eliminates the "husband or wife" and "unmarried partner" categories and replaces them with "same-sex spouse", "opposite-sex spouse", "same-sex unmarried partner" and "opposite-sex unmarried partner"
- RACE/HISPANIC ORIGIN
    o One entirely new format of race/Hispanic origin questions
    o Minor modifications to two other formats which were used in the 2012 and 2014 tests
    o Addition of Middle Eastern or North African response category
    o Replacement of "origin" in question stem and response categories with either "ethnicities" or a larger change to remove all terms and use "which categories describe this person"
    o Replacing the current instruction following the race and Hispanic origin question to remove the visual cue and reiterate to respondents that they can select multiple categories

We will discuss the specific changes outlined above in more detail throughout this document.
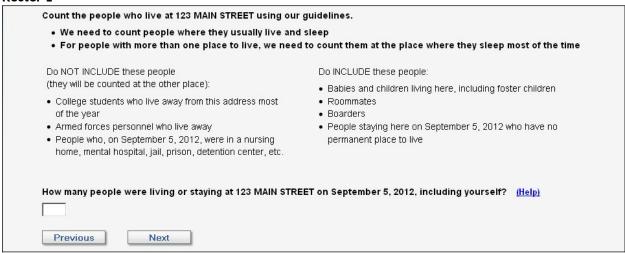

I. Address screens

The 2015 NCT is testing using a mail out internet push strategy in Puerto Rico. Puerto Rico has different address standards than found in the rest of the U.S. Screens used to collect addresses for cases in Puerto Rico will have different fields and a different layout to facilitate Puerto Rican address collection.

II.   Roster

We are testing two approaches to determine who resides in the household on census day. The first is a rules-based approach, which was used in the 2010 Census and the 2012 National Census Test. This approach presents respondents with rules and example situations and asks them to apply these to their household and report a population count.   After the number of people is entered, the respondent is asked to provide names for each of those people. An example of the rules-based approach used in 2012 is below:

Roster 1

> Count the people who live at 123 MAIN STREET using our guidelines.
> - We need to count people where they usually live and sleep
> - For people with more than one place to live, we need to count them at the place where they sleep most of the time
>
> Do NOT INCLUDE these people
> (they will be counted at the other place):
> - College students who live away from this address most of the year
> - Armed forces personnel who live away
> - People who, on September 5, 2012, were in a nursing home, mental hospital, jail, prison, detention center, etc.
>
> Do INCLUDE these people:
> - Babies and children living here, including foster children
> - Roommates
> - Boarders
> - People staying here on September 5, 2012 who have no permanent place to live
>
> How many people were living or staying at 123 MAIN STREET on September 5, 2012, including yourself?   (Help)
>
> [ ]
> [Previous]   [Next]

If the total count of people collected during the roster section of the survey does not match the number entered on ROSTER 1, there is a soft edit: "Earlier, you said that the number of people living or staying at <ADDRESS> <will be/was> <POPCOUNT>, but you have listed a name for <PERSONCOUNT> <person/people>. Please review the people you have listed."

The second approach is the approach that was used in the 2015 Census Test and doesn't present rules or ask for an initial count of the people living or staying at the address. ANYONE asks "On September 1, 2015, <will there be/was there> anyone else living or staying at <ADDRESS>?" The rules that are displayed on the Roster 1 screen are instead shown in the help text for the Anyone screen.

Anyone

III.   People

We will have 2 versions of the People screen. The first will collect names as in the spring 2015 test.

People

Please list the name of each person who was living and sleeping at 311 Main Street on July 1, 2014. (Help)

Enter names until you have listed everybody who was living or staying there, then click Next.

First Name	Middle Name	Last Name
Jane	Anne	Doe

Click here to add more people

Previous   Next

The second will collect one name at a time and First, Middle Last names will be listed vertically, consistent with the mobile layout. After each name, respondents will click the add more people link to add more hh members.

IV.   Relationship

We are testing two versions of the relationship question. The first version replicates what was used in the 2010 Census and has the following response categories:

- ☐ Husband or wife
- ☐ Biological son or daughter
- ☐ Adopted son or daughter
- ☐ Stepson or stepdaughter
- ☐ Brother or sister
- ☐ Father or mother
- ☐ Grandchild
- ☐ Parent-in-law
- ☐ Son-in-law or daughter-in-law
- ☐ Other relative
- ☐ Roomer or boarder
- ☐ Housemate or roommate
- ☐ Unmarried partner
- ☐ Foster child
- ☐ Other nonrelative

The test version is largely the same as the current, but expands the husband/wife and unmarried partner categories. The specific categories are as follows:

- ☐ Opposite-sex husband/wife/spouse
- ☐ Same-sex husband/wife/spouse
- ☐ Opposite-sex unmarried partner
- ☐ Same-sex unmarried partner
- ☐ Biological son or daughter
- ☐ Adopted son or daughter
- ☐ Stepson or stepdaughter
- ☐ Brother or sister
- ☐ Father or mother
- ☐ Grandchild
- ☐ Parent-in-law
- ☐ Son-in-law or daughter-in-law
- ☐ Other relative
- ☐ Roomer or boarder
- ☐ Housemate or roommate
- ☐ Foster child
- ☐ Other nonrelative

Both of these versions were also tested in the 2014 Census Test.

V. RACE/HISPANIC ORIGIN

For the race and Hispanic origin questions, we are testing four different question formats, two response categories, two question terms, and two instructions. This results in 32 versions of the race question. The formats described below give an idea of how the different versions of the question will look. We will first describe the changes to the response categories, question terms, and instructions and then provide all combinations of the question, with the new formats.

a. Question Formats

We will be testing three different versions of the race and Hispanic origin questions. The versions focus on different ways to combine the questions and collect detailed information.

1. Separate Questions – this version of the question ask Hispanic origin and race as separate questions for each household member, similar to the format used in the 2010 Census. Respondents are first asked the Hispanic origin question which is followed by the race question on the subsequent screen. The major difference from the 2010 version of the question is that write-in spaces and examples are provided for the "White" and "Black or African Am." categories.

2. Combined Question with Checkboxes and Write-ins on Separate Screens
    This format of the race/Hispanic origin question first asks the mandatory OMB response categories on one page and then uses subsequent screens to collect the detailed origin information. On the first screen, only the OMB checkbox categories are shown. Once the categories have been selected, subsequent screens solicit detail for each category, one at a time, as a single write-in space. The purpose is to elicit more detail for the detailed origins. The same version was used in the 2014 and 2015 Census Tests. Write-in boxes will use predictive text.

3. Combined Question Branching with Detailed Checkbox Screens
    This format of the race/Hispanic origin question is an alternative method of soliciting detailed origin groups using separate screens. On the first screen, only the OMB checkbox categories are shown (As in format #2 above). Once the OMB categories have been selected, subsequent screens solicit detail for each category the respondent selected, one at a time, in a series of additional checkboxes and write-in spaces. This version of the question is new and has not been used in a previous test.

b. Race Response Categories

We will be testing the inclusion of a "Middle Eastern or North African" (MENA) category. For each of the three formats, we will have one version that contains the MENA category and one that does not. The specific wording of the MENA category is:

☐ Middle Eastern or North African – Enter [origins/ethnicities], for example, Lebanese, Iranian, Egyptian, Syrian, Moroccan, Algerian, etc.

When the MENA category is included, the examples for the White category will be modified.

c. Question Term

The current version of the race and Hispanic origin questions uses the term "origin" to reflect ethnicities and national origins in the question stem, instructions, and examples. For example, we ask people to "enter origin(s)" and "what is the race or origin?".

There is some concern that the term origin is not clear to all respondents. Therefore, we are testing an two alternative terms. One alternative is to replace "origin(s)" with "ethnicities," while another is to remove the terms altogether and change the question wording to: "which categories describe NAME?" We will test both the new term and the original term in all three formats with and without the MENA category. If we use "ethnicities," it will be a simple replacement of the word "origin." However, if we remove the terms altogether, it will require a larger rewrite of the questions and response options. This document includes all three scenarios. The origin and ethnicity options are combined and are designated by [origin/ethnicity] to represent a fill depending on which version is being used. The new question wording is shown in its own version of the question.

d. Instructions

Currently, our instructions for the race and Hispanic origin questions ask respondents to "Select one or more boxes." Focus group and qualitative research have concluded that respondents frequently overlook the instruction. Therefore, we will test a new version of the instruction that explicitly tells respondents they can report multiple groups:

"Select all boxes that apply AND enter the detailed [origin/ethnicity] in the spaces below. Note that you may report multiple groups."

If we are using the alternative question term, the instruction will be: "Select all boxes that apply AND enter the details in the spaces below. Note that you may report multiple groups."

This instruction will be tested with each format of the question, the inclusion/exclusion of the MENA category, and the alternative term.

The specific race questions we will be testing, which combine all of the changes described above, constitute the remainder of this document.
