Dear [enter City here] Resident:

In a few days, your household will receive an important request from me to complete a U.S. Census Bureau survey called the National Survey of Children's Health.

We are conducting this survey for the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services and it is very important that we hear from all of the households we contact, both those with and without children.

I am writing now just to let you know the request will be mailed to you.

This survey will help us to better understand the health and health care needs of children, both nationwide and in your state. Your participation ensures that we will have accurate information on children and households in your state. Because this survey is critical for assessing children's physical and emotional health and for determining areas of need, we will be including a small token of appreciation as a way of thanking you for your participation.

Sincerely,

John H. Thompson

Dear Resident:

The U.S. Census Bureau is conducting the National Survey of Children's Health, an important national study for the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. We need your help. The enclosed survey is the first step in a study that provides important information used to improve the health of children and families throughout the United States.

Please fill out this survey and mail it back in the postage-paid envelope provided. The questionnaire will help us find households with children and youths. This information is used later to ask those households about health issues that may affect their children.

Even if you have no infants or children in your household, it is important that you return this survey so that every type of household in America is represented. Simply answer the first question on the enclosed form and mail it back. It usually takes 5 minutes or less to fill out these initial questions and even less if there is no one in your household 0 - 17 years old.

Your household was randomly selected as part of this voluntary study, and we cannot replace your household with another one. All information you provide will only be used for statistical purposes and will not be disclosed, or used, in an identifiable way for any other purpose in accordance with the Privacy Act of 1974 (5 U.S.C. Section 552a) and System of Records Notice COMMERCE/Census-7. In addition, any information that you provide will be kept confidential in accordance with the Confidential Information Protection and Statistical Efficiency Act (CIPSEA), 44 U.S.C. 3501. Additional information on these protections can be found on the cover of the questionnaire.

The Census Bureau is conducting this survey under Title 13, U.S.C. Section 8(b) and Title 42 U.S.C. Section 701(a)(2).

This survey and survey forms have been approved by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) and have been given the number . Response to this collection of information is not required unless it displays a valid approval number from OMB. The eight-digit OMB number appears in the upper right corner of the report form.

The results of this study will help educators, researchers, policymakers, child advocates, and the general public better understand and respond to the health care needs of children and families.

We greatly appreciate your helping with this important nationwide study, and have enclosed a small token of appreciation for your participation. Thank you for taking part in this important study on the future of children's health in America.

If you need assistance or have questions, please call 1-800-845-8241 or email us at childrenshealth@census.gov.

Sincerely,

John H. Thompson Director

Dear [enter City here] Resident:

The U.S. Census Bureau is conducting the National Survey of Children's Health, an important national study for the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. We need your help. This survey provides important information that is used to improve the health of children and families throughout the United States.

Filling out this survey is easy.

1. Go to this website: <https://respond.census.gov/nsch>
2. Enter your user name:
3. Enter your password:

If you are unable to complete this survey online, need assistance, or have questions, please call 1-800-845-8241 or email us at childrenshealth@census.gov. We are collecting this information online in order to be able to report results more quickly and at considerably less cost.

Even if you have no infants or children in your household, it is important that you complete this survey so that every type of household in America is represented. You will be directed automatically to the questions that apply to your household. It usually takes no longer than 30 minutes to answer the questions, and less than 5 minutes if there is no one in your household 0 - 17 years old.

Your household was randomly selected as part of this voluntary study, and we cannot replace your household with another one. All information you provide will only be used for statistical purposes and will not be disclosed, or used, in an identifiable way for any other purpose in accordance with the Privacy Act of 1974 (5 U.S.C. Dear [enter City here] resident:

About three weeks ago, I wrote to ask for your help with a national survey on children's health. To the best of our knowledge, we have not yet received your completed survey.

If you have sent the completed questionnaire to us, please accept our sincere thanks. If you haven't had a chance to reply yet, please fill out the enclosed survey and mail it back in the postage-paid envelope today. It should only take a few minutes.

If you don't have children living there, we still need your response to ensure that every type of household in America is represented. If there are no children in your household, you only need to answer the first question on page 2 of the survey and return the survey to us.

This first-of-its kind national survey is the best way to get a complete picture of our children's health and their health care needs. Because households in all 50 states and the District of Columbia have been selected to participate, this study also will inform us about children's health and the availability of health care services in every location. We must make sure that the health care needs of children of all ages and in every state are met, both now and in the future.

Your household was scientifically selected to represent thousands of other households in your state. No one can substitute for you. If we don't receive your response, the picture of American children's health will be incomplete.

Raising healthy children concerns all of us. The future of the United States depends upon it. Thank you so much in advance for taking part in this national effort.

If you have questions or need assistance, please contact us toll-free at 1-800-845-8241 or by email at childrenshealth@census.gov.

Dear [enter City here] resident:

In June, I wrote asking for your help with the National Survey of Children's Health. As of today, it appears that we have not yet received your response.

It may be that you did reply, but your questionnaire has not yet reached us. Thank you very much if you have already sent it.

If you haven't been able to respond, I encourage you to fill out the enclosed questionnaire today. The study period is drawing to a close.

Please remember that we need to hear from you whether you have children living in your household or not. We need to represent all types of households, including those with and without children. It only takes a few minutes to fill out the questionnaire.

We would not ask for your help in this study if your response was not essential. Since June, we have been in contact with you about the National Survey of Children's Health, which the Census Bureau is conducting on behalf of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. I am writing again as this is the last opportunity to participate in this very important study.

The survey is designed to provide accurate and complete information about the health care needs of our nation's children. The information gathered in this study can give the public and our state and national governments key insights into how the youngest members of our society are doing and what they need in order to thrive.

If you have responded to our request to participate in the study, please accept our sincere thanks. Your participation ensures that the information we gather is accurate and complete. If you have not yet responded, please complete the enclosed questionnaire now and return it in the postage-paid envelope.

Since the study period will soon end, this is the last time I will have the opportunity to write and ask for your help. I hope that you will complete the questionnaire and mail it back. We want to be sure that the study accurately reflects the experiences of households like yours.

If you have any hesitation about participating in the study, please contact us toll-free at 1-800-845-8241 or by email us at childrenshealth@census.gov so we may address your concerns.

Dear Resident:

A few weeks ago you responded to my request to help with the National Survey of Children's Health. We greatly appreciate your participation and the participation of thousands of other parents and caregivers from every state who have made the first step of this effort a success.

The second, and final step is to complete a more detailed survey about the child who is a member of your household.

This voluntary survey has more questions than we asked in the short survey you completed earlier. Here we will collect more detailed information on the child's health status, visits to health care providers, health care costs, and health insurance coverage. The questionnaire should be filled out by an adult who is familiar with this child's health and health care. For most households, it should take less than 30 minutes to complete.

I want to assure you that your responses to this questionnaire are confidential, as explained on the front page of the survey. The U.S. Census Bureau and the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services are required by law to protect the confidentiality of every individual's responses in accordance with the Confidential Information Protection and Statistical Efficiency Act (CIPSEA), 44 U.S.C. 3501. All information you provide will only be used for statistical purposes and will not be disclosed, or used, in an identifiable way for any other purpose in accordance with the Privacy Act of 1974 (5 U.S.C. Section 552a) and System of Records Notice COMMERCE/Census-7. The Census Bureau is conducting this survey under Title 13 U.S.C. Section 8(b) and Title 42 U.S.C. Section 701(a)(2).

This survey and survey forms have been approved by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) and have been given the number . Response to this collection of information is not required unless it displays a valid approval number from OMB. The eight-digit OMB number appears in the upper right corner of the report form.

We realize that answering these questions requires some time and effort. We have enclosed a small token of appreciation as a way to say thank you. Your participation provides critical information on the health and health care needs of children in your state and ensures that households like yours are fairly represented.

If you have any questions about the study or need replacement materials please call us toll-free at 1-800-845-8241 or email us at childrenshealth@census.gov.

Thank you once again for your help.

Sincerely,

The second and final step is to complete a more detailed survey about one child who is a member of your household. Since there is more than one child in your household, the one about whom we would like you to answer questions is:

[Insert name of child here]

We have selected only one child per household in order to minimize the amount of time needed to complete the questions. This child has been selected at random to make sure that we are able to represent every type of child and the full range of health situations across the country. It is important that you answer the questions about this selected child.

This voluntary survey has more questions than we asked in the short survey you completed earlier. For most households, it will take less than 30 minutes to complete. Dear [enter City here] resident:

Thank you again for helping us complete the first part of the National Survey of Children's Health – one of our nation's most important surveys for understanding the health and health care needs of America's children.

About three weeks ago, we mailed you the second and final part of this study. If you have already completed this follow-up survey, many thanks. We greatly appreciate your taking the time to respond.

If you haven't had the chance to complete the questionnaire, please do so very soon. For most households, it should only take 30 minutes or less to complete this survey.

Your response, combined with the responses of other families, will provide the information necessary to determine the health status of our children and plan for their health care needs in each state and across our country. This first-of-its-kind study is the best way we have to gather this critical information.

Your participation ensures that households like yours are accurately represented in the information produced by the survey.

I want to assure you that your responses to this questionnaire are confidential. The laws that protect your responses can be found on the front page of the survey. The U.S. Census Bureau and the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services are required by law to protect the confidentiality of every individual's responses.

Thank you very much for taking part in this important study. If you have questions or need assistance, please contact us toll-free at 1-800-845-8241 or by email at childrenshealth@census.gov.

I wrote last month requesting your assistance in completing the final part of the National Survey of Children's Health, which we are conducting for the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.

To the best of our knowledge, we have not yet received your response. It may be that you did return the completed questionnaire, but our communications have crossed in the mail. If you did respond, thank you very much for doing so.

If you haven't been able to complete the questionnaire yet, I hope you can fill it out and return it today. The time for the study is running out, and we want to be sure that your response is included. For most households, it should take about 30 minutes or less to complete the questionnaire.

Feel free to contact us toll-free at 1-800-845-8241 or by email at childrenshealth@census.gov if you have any questions or need any assistance in completing this survey.

The information collected in this study will be used to help today's children grow into tomorrow's healthy adults. We ask for your help because this survey is the only way we have to gather this important information. And because your household was selected to represent thousands of others, your response is even more important.

I want to assure you that your responses to this questionnaire are confidential as explained on the front page of the survey. The U.S. Census Bureau and the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services are required by law to protect the confidentiality of every individual's responses.

During the past few months, we have contacted you seeking your participation in completing the final part of the National Survey of Children's Health. The U.S. Census Bureau is conducting this important national survey on behalf of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.

As you might recall, the survey is designed to provide accurate and complete information about the health and health services needs of our nation's children. The information gathered in the study gives the public and our state and national governments key insights into how the youngest members of our society are doing, and what they need in order to thrive.

If you have responded to our request to participate in the second and final part of the survey, please accept our sincere thanks. Your participation ensures that the information we gather is accurate and complete. If you have not been able to participate thus far, I'd like to ask you to do so now. We have enclosed another copy of this survey for your convenience.

Since the study period will soon end, this is the last time I will be able to write to ask for your help. I hope that you will complete the questionnaire and mail it back. We want to be sure that the study accurately reflects the experience of households like yours.

Hundreds of families have already returned their surveys. We would greatly appreciate it if you could respond soon so that families like yours are accurately represented.

We know there are many competing demands for your time and we appreciate your thoughtful consideration of this request. It should take 30 minutes or less to complete the survey. Once you have completed it, please enclose it in the postage-paid envelope and mail it as soon as possible.

Finally, thank you for your kind consideration of this request. If you have questions or need assistance, please contact us toll-free at 1-800-845-8241 or by email at childrenshealth@census.gov.
