IN15. [Hello, my name is [INTERVIEWER] and I’m calling from Mathematica Policy Research.]

[I’m calling / I would like to speak with] you about the YouthBuild Evaluation. You may have received a letter recently to let you know that someone from Mathematica would be calling to see how you are doing since [we last spoke to you / you joined the study].

[The interview should take around 35 minutes to complete. To thank you, we will send you a card worth [$25/$40]. The card can be used anywhere that a credit or debit card can be used.]

The YouthBuild Evaluation is a study paid for by the U.S. Department of Labor and the Corporation for National and Community Service. The goal of the study is to learn how YouthBuild helps youth and young adults get a GED certificate or high school diploma, gain employment skills and find work or prepare for post-secondary training or education. This study will provide us with important information that will help create better programs for young people.

The U.S. Department of Labor has funded three organizations, MDRC, Mathematica Policy Research, and Social Policy Research Associates, to work with YouthBuild programs to run the study. As part of the study, we are asking you to complete this short interview. The interview covers several topics, including education, planning for the future, employment, earnings, involvement with the criminal justice system, and social and emotional development.

Individual responses will not be matched with specific individuals. Responses to this data collection will be used only for the purposes of the study. The reports prepared from this survey will summarize findings across all study participants and individual forms will not be available to anyone outside the study team, except as required by law.
