

Proposed Page Feedback Functionality for FinancialAidToolkit.ed.gov

Image of the page feedback tile:

The feedback tile is a rectangular box with a light gray background and a thin teal border. At the top, the question "Was this page helpful?" is displayed in a teal font. Below the question are two radio buttons: "Yes" (gray) and "No" (orange). A text input field labeled "Tell us why." is provided for comments. A teal "SUBMIT >" button is located at the bottom left. At the bottom right, a link reads "Want to give us feedback about the site as a whole? Complete our survey."

The respondent will select "Yes" or "No" and will have the option of providing comments in the text field. When the respondent clicks on the "SUBMIT" button, the feedback will be collected for later review via Excel file.

The "Complete our survey." link will send the site visitor to the Financial Aid Toolkit's full-site survey, which asks questions about the site as a whole (as opposed to this page feedback tile, which asks about the specific page the site visitor is currently reading). The full-site survey was previously approved.

The screenshot shows the Federal Student Aid Financial Aid Toolkit website. The top navigation bar includes links for 'ABOUT US', 'Student or parent? Visit STUDENTAID.GOV', 'I want to...', 'Search', and a 'Feedback' icon. The main header features the 'Federal Student Aid' logo and the text 'PROUD SPONSOR of the AMERICAN MIND®'. The page title is 'Financial Aid Toolkit'. The main content area shows the 'Get Training' section, with sub-links for 'Learn About Financial Aid', 'Conduct Outreach', 'Get Training', and 'Search Financial Aid Tools and Resources'. Below this, a breadcrumb navigation shows 'Home > Get Training > National Training for Counselors and Mentors > NT4CM Frequently Asked Questions'. The main content is titled 'Got a question about National Training for Counselors and Mentors?' and includes a sub-section 'We've got answers.' A list of 11 frequently asked questions is provided, ranging from 'What is NT4CM?' to 'How can I learn more about NT4CM?'. To the right of this content is a 'Feedback' tile with the following sections: 'Announcements' (with links to 'Details on the Transfer of FAFSA.com to the Department of Education' and 'Federal Student Aid Update Webinar August 13'), 'Remind Students Not to Share Their FSA IDs With Anyone', 'See all announcements...', 'Was this page helpful?' (with 'Yes' and 'No' radio buttons), 'Tell us why.' (with a text input field), and 'SUBMIT' (a button). Below these is a note: 'Want to give us feedback about the site as a whole? Complete our survey.'

1. What is NT4CM?

National Training for Counselors and Mentors (NT4CM) is a free, annual training program designed to provide counselors and mentors with information and materials that will help them more effectively advise students and their families about how to prepare financially for college.

The program was developed through a partnership of the following organizations: Federal Student Aid (FSA), National Association of Student Financial Aid Administrators (NASFAA), National Council of Higher Education Loan Programs (NCHELP), National Association for College Admission Counseling (NACAC), American School Counselor Association (ASCA), National College Access Network (NCAN), and Council for Opportunity in Education (COE).

2. Why was NT4CM established?

NT4CM recognizes the essential role that counselors and mentors play in delivering critical financial aid information to students—information that can often make the difference in a student's ability to attend college. Because these professionals play such a pivotal role and have limited time to devote to learning about financial aid, these one-day training sessions are intended to provide attendees with comprehensive up-to-date information regarding federal and state student aid programs. NT4CM is designed to maximize the resources available to counselors and mentors
