SUPPORTING STATEMENT for the Paperwork Reduction Act Information Collection Submission for Rule 19h-1

This submission is being made pursuant to the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995, 44 U.S.C. Section 3501 et seq.

A. Justification

1. Necessity of Information Collection

Rule 19h-1 (the "Rule") under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (the "Exchange Act") prescribes the form and content of notices and applications by self-regulatory organizations ("SROs") regarding proposed admissions to, or continuances in, membership, participation or association with a member of any person subject to a statutory disqualification. The Rule was adopted on July 8, 1977, in response to changes made by the Securities Act amendments of 1975, and in order to codify procedures for Commission resolution of other issues relating to re-admission to, or continuance in, the securities business of persons subject to statutory disqualification. Rule 19h-1 was adopted pursuant to authority granted the Commission in Sections 6, 11A, 15, 15A, 17, 17A, 19, and 23 of the Exchange Act, 15 U.S.C. 78f, 78k-1, 78o, 78o-3, 78q, 78q-1, 78s, and 78w.

2. Purpose and Use of the Information Collection

The Commission uses the information provided in the submissions filed pursuant to Rule 19h-1 to review decisions of SROs to permit the entry into or continuance in the securities business of persons who have committed misconduct. The filings submitted pursuant to the Rule also permit inclusion of an application to the Commission for consent to associate with a member of an SRO notwithstanding a Commission order barring such association.

The Commission reviews filings made pursuant to the Rule to ascertain whether it is in the public interest to permit the employment in the securities business of persons subject to a statutory disqualification. The filings contain information that is essential to the staff's review and ultimate determination on whether an association or employment is in the public interest and consistent with investor protection. Without these filings, persons subject to a statutory disqualification could reenter or continue employment in the securities business without the Commission's critical review of their character, ability to act as a fiduciary, and their employer's plan of supervision. The failure to collect and review this information could result in significant harm to the investing public.

3. Consideration Given to Information Technology

At this time, the Commission only accepts written submissions under the collection of information. The Commission believes that submission of a written notice for review is the least burdensome and most effective means of giving the Commission notice of the SRO's intent.

4. Duplication

Not applicable. There is no duplication of this submission process to the Commission.

5. Effect on Small Entities

Rule 19h-1 does not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities.

6. Consequences of Not Conducting Collection

The principal purpose of Rule 19h-1 is to provide the Commission with an opportunity to ensure persons subject to statutory disqualification are not permitted to enter or to continue in the securities industry without the Commission's review of whether the entry or continuance is consistent with the public interest and the protection of investors. The information must be provided when persons who are subject to statutory disqualification seek to enter or to continue in the securities business. A less frequent reporting requirement would weaken the Commission's ability to ensure that investors are protected from persons who have committed misconduct that might affect their ability to act as a fiduciary. Moreover, a less frequent collection of information is not practical if the Commission is to have a meaningful and timely opportunity to review the proposed employment or continuance in the industry of such persons.

7. Inconsistencies with Guidelines in 5 CFR 1320.5(d)(2)

There are no special circumstances. This collection is consistent with the guidelines in 5 CFR 1320.5(d)(2).

8. Consultations Outside the Agency

In that this application is directed solely to the Commission and no other entities compile pertinent data on the applicants, no other agencies, state or local governments, or other organizations were consulted by the Commission on this matter.

9. Payment or Gift

Not applicable.

10. Confidentiality

No assurance of confidentiality is provided.

11. Sensitive Questions

The form of the notice does not impose the burden of any questions of a sensitive nature.

The collection of information includes Personally Identifiable Information ("PII").¹ In particular, the collection of information includes the following information about individuals, as described in the table below.

	Nature of Information Collection Burden	PII Collected
i.	19h-1(a) – Notice of admission or continuance notwithstanding a statutory disqualification	 Name of the person concerned and last known place of residence or business as reflected on the records of the SRO Qualifications, experience and disciplinary records of the proposed supervisors of the person and their family relationship (if any) to that person A copy of a completed Form U-4 with the respect to the proposed association of such person. Form U-4 collects the person's name, date of birth, social security number ("SSN"), employer address, place of birth, height, weight, hair color, eye color, residential address history, employment history, and criminal history. Name and place of employment of any other associated person of the proposed employer who is subject to a statutory disqualification
ii.	19h-1(a)(4) – Notification of proposed admission or continuance pursuant to an exception from the notice requirements	 Name of the person subject to statutory disqualification Name of the person's prospective supervisor(s)
iii.	19h-1(b) – Preliminary notifications	 Name of the person subject to statutory disqualification The person's last known place of residence
iv.	19h-1(d) – Application to the Commission for relief from certain statutory disqualifications	1. Name of the person concerned and last known place of residence or business as reflected on the records of the SRO

¹ The term "Personally Identifiable Information" refers to information which can be used to distinguish or trace an individual's identity, such as a person's name, social security number, biometric records, etc. alone, or when combined with other personal or identifying information that is linked or linkable to a specific individual, such as date and place of birth, or mother's maiden name.

		 Qualifications, experience and disciplinary records of the proposed supervisors of the person and their family relationship (if any) to that person A copy of a completed Form U-4 with the respect to the proposed association of such person. Form U-4 collects a person's name, date of birth, SSN, employer address, place of birth, height, weight, hair color, eye color, residential address history, employment history, and criminal history. Name and place of employment of any other associated person of the proposed employer who is subject to a statutory disqualification

Pursuant to Rules 19h-1(a) and 19h-1(d), respondents will be required to submit a copy of a completed Form U-4. Form U-4 is a form adopted and used by the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority. Form U-4 requires the disclosure of certain PII, including an individual's name, date of birth, SSN, employer address, place of birth, height, weight, hair color, eye color, residential address history, employment history, and criminal history. While the Commission does not explicitly request SSNs as part of the collection of information, because Form U-4 collects the SSNs of natural persons, the Commission may indirectly receive SSNs as part of the collection information. The Commission collects a copy of Form U-4 for informational purposes only in order to facilitate the staff's review and ultimate determination on whether an association or employment is in the public interest and consistent with investor protection.

The Commission has published a System of Records Notice for the collection of information relating to 19h-1.²

12. Burden of Information Collection

i. 19h-1(a) - Notice of admission or continuance notwithstanding a statutory disqualification

The notice required under Rule 19h-1(a) is an ongoing reporting burden. The Commission estimates that this collection of information would apply to approximately 20 SROs each year. The Commission estimates that each SRO would be required to submit a notice under Rule 19h-1(a) approximately 11 times each year. Finally, the Commission estimates that a SRO would spend on average approximately 80 hours submitting each notice required by Rule 19h-1(a). The Commission does not estimate any ongoing, annual burdens associated with Rule 19h-1(a).

² See System of Records Notice SEC-18, available at http://www.sec.gov/about/privacy/sorn/secsorn18.pdf.

In summary, the Commission estimates that, over a three-year period, the total reporting burden for completing and submitting the notice required by Rule 19h-1(a) would be 52,800 hours³, or 17,600 hours per year when annualized over three years. The reporting burden per respondent would be 2,640 hours⁴, or 880 hours per year when annualized over three years.

ii. 19h-1(a)(4) – Notification of proposed admission or continuance pursuant to an exception from the notice requirements

The notification required under Rule 19h-1(a)(4) is an ongoing reporting burden. The Commission estimates that this collection of information would apply to approximately 20 SROs each year. The Commission estimates that each SRO would be required to submit a notification under Rule 19h-1(a)(4) approximately 9 times each year. Finally, the Commission estimates that a SRO would spend on average approximately 80 hours submitting each notice required by Rule 19h-1(a)(4). The Commission does not estimate any ongoing, annual burdens associated with Rule 19h-1(a)(4).

In summary, the Commission estimates that, over a three-year period, the total reporting burden for completing and submitting the notification required by Rule 19h-1(a)(4) would be 43,200 hours⁵, or 14,400 hours per year when annualized over three years. The reporting burden per respondent would be 2,160 hours⁶, or 720 hours per year when annualized over three years.

iii. 19h-1(b) – Preliminary notifications

The notification required under Rule 19h-1(b) is an ongoing reporting burden. The Commission estimates that this collection of information would apply to approximately 20 SROs each year. The Commission estimates that each SRO would be required to submit a notification under Rule 19h-1(b) approximately 28 times each year. Finally, the Commission estimates that an SRO would spend on average approximately 13 hours submitting each notice required by Rule 19h-1(b). The Commission does not estimate any ongoing, annual burdens associated with Rule 19h-1(b).

In summary, the Commission estimates that, over a three-year period, the total reporting burden for completing and submitting the notification required by Rule 19h-1(b) would be

⁵ 20 (total number of respondents) x 9 (number of responses per year, per respondent) x 80 (hour burden per response) x 3 (years) = 43,200.

⁶ 1 (respondent) x 9 (number of responses per year, per respondent) x 80 (hour burden per response) x 3 (years) = 2,160.

 $^{^{3}}$ 20 (total number of respondents) x 11 (number of responses per year, per respondent) x 80 (hour burden per response) x 3 (years) = 52,800.

⁴ 1 (respondent) x 11 (number of responses per year, per respondent) x 80 (hour burden per response) x 3 (years) = 2,640.

21,840 hours⁷, or 7,280 hours per year when annualized over three years. The reporting burden per respondent would be 1,092 hours⁸, or 364 hours per year when annualized over three years.

iv. 19h-1(d) – Application to the Commission for relief from certain statutory disqualifications

The application required under Rule 19h-1(d) is an ongoing reporting burden. The Commission estimates that this collection of information would apply to approximately 20 SROs each year. The Commission estimates that applications under Rule 19h-1(d) will be submitted by SROs on behalf of the persons seeking relief.

The Commission estimates that an SRO would be required to submit an application under Rule 19h-1(d) approximately 5 times a year. Finally, the Commission estimates that an SRO would spend on average approximately 80 hours submitting each application required by Rule 19h-1(d). The Commission does not estimate any ongoing, annual burdens associated with Rule 19h-1(d).

In summary, the Commission estimates that, over a three-year period, the total reporting burden for completing and submitting the application required by Rule 19h-1(d) would be 24,000 hours⁹, or 8,000 hours per year when annualized over three years. The reporting burden per respondent would be 1,200 hours¹⁰, or 400 hours per year when annualized over three years.

⁷ 20 (total number of respondents) x 28 (number of responses per year, per respondent) x 13 (hour burden per response) x 3 (years) = 21,840.

 $^{^{8}}$ 1 (respondent) x 28 (number of responses per year, per respondent) x 13 (hour burden per response) x 3 (years) = 1,092.

 $^{^9}$ 20 (total number of respondents) x 5 (number of responses per year, per respondent) x 80 (hour burden per response) x 3 (years) = 24,000.

 $^{^{10}}$ 1 (respondent) x 5 (number of responses per year, per respondent) x 80 (hour burden per response) x 3 (years) = 1,200.

TOTAL							47,280	7,092	141,840

13. Costs to Respondents

The Commission estimates that respondents will not seek outside assistance in completing the collection of information, and therefore, respondents will not experience any external costs in connection with the collection of information.

14. Cost to Federal Government

Not applicable.

15. Changes in Burden

The Commission has increased its estimate of the number of respondents from 5, as described in its prior submission, to 20. The Commission is making this change to be consistent with the current number of SROs registered with the Commission.

In addition, the Commission is now providing burden estimates for each of the four components of Rule 19h-1 that impose a collection of information.

Finally, the Commission no longer estimates that each response to the collection of information would impose a burden of 5 hours per respondent. The Commission has increased its estimates of the burdens imposed by each response to the collection of information, as described above.

16. Information Collection Planned for Statistical Purposes

Not applicable.

17. OMB Expiration Date Display Approval

The Commission is not seeking approval to not display the expiration date for OMB approval.

18. Exceptions to Certification for Paperwork Reduction Act Submissions

This collection complies with the requirements in 5 CFR 1320.9.

B. Collection of Information Employing Statistical Methods

This collection does not involve statistical methods.
