

The Enterprise Development Network

Are you seeking capital to build or expand your business in a developing market?

Have you been unable to arrange financing to proceed with this investment?

The Enterprise Development Network (EDN) may be the answer.

Seek Financing

Seek Financing

The best way to determine which, if any, EDN funding sources are appropriate for your developing country project or business is to spend 5-10 minutes to submit a brief online screening document so that an EDN Originator can determine the best approach for your project.

Please note that this questionnaire does not constitute an application for funding, but serves as a tool to begin a conversation with an EDN Originator.

The services of an EDN Originator are not free of charge and pricing may vary by Originator and the extent of the services required to submit your application. We recommend that you discuss the potential cost of services with your Originator.

You may not have all the answers to the screening questions – just provide the information you have available and proceed to the next question. You can change your answers at any time prior to hitting the Submit button.

After completing the questions, you will be provided with a listing of all the EDN Originators from which to make a selection. Initially, the listing will display the Originators that work in your project location and sector. However, you can filter the listing further, and you are free to select up to 4 EDN Originators that you believe best fit your needs. The EDN Originator(s) you select will follow up with you within 5 business days to offer assistance. Even if you find your request falls outside of OPIC's funding guidelines, you may be well served reviewing your needs with an EDN Originator.

EDN Originators

EDN Originators have been trained as service providers to businesses with projects in developing countries. Originators are able to help develop finance application packages, refine marketing strategies, and draft or enhance business plans. Originators are familiar with EDN's loan application standards, and therefore can improve the likelihood and timeframe for a loan package to receive funding.

You can use the filters on this page to help identify EDN Originators who may be able to provide assistance in obtaining financing and other resources for your project. Start by selecting the country where your project is located and business sector. You can refine your results by selecting one or more services under Filter by Service, then click on Update. You can also narrow the search by making appropriate entries or selections in the Company name, Moody's Analytics Certified*, and/or Political Risk Insurance Originator options.

You can begin the process of finding financing for your project by choosing from 1-4 Originators from the list below and hitting the Next button.

*EDN Originators are Moody's Analytics Certified if they have completed a specialized three-day EDN finance workshop conducted by Moody's Analytics.
