The U.S. Internal Revenue Code (IRC) requires the Social Security Administration (SSA) to withhold a 30 percent Federal income tax from 85 percent of monthly retirement, survivors and disability benefits paid to beneficiaries who are neither citizens nor residents of the U.S. This results in an effective tax of 25.5 percent of the monthly benefit. SSA must withhold this tax from the benefits of all nonresident aliens except those who are residents of countries that have tax treaties with the U.S. that provide an exemption from this tax, or a lower rate of withholding. Currently these countries are Canada, Egypt, Germany, India, Ireland, Israel, Italy, Japan, Romania, Switzerland, and the United Kingdom. You must check with the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) for the current list.

If you are a U.S. resident alien, your worldwide income generally is subject to U.S. income tax, regardless of where you are living. A person cannot be considered a U.S. resident in any year for which he or she has claimed a tax treaty benefit as a resident of a country other than the U.S.

For Federal income tax purposes, a person can be considered a U.S. resident, even if that person lives outside the U.S., if he or she:

- Has been lawfully admitted to the U.S. for permanent residence, and that residence has not been revoked or determined to have been administratively or judicially abandoned, or
- Meets a substantial presence test as determined by the provisions of the IRC. To meet this test in a given year, the person must be present in the U.S. on at least 31 days in that year, and a minimum total of 183 days counting all days of U.S. presence in that year, one-third of the total number of days of U.S. presence in the previous year, and one-sixth of the total number of days of U.S. presence in the year before that. The days of U.S. presence and exclusions are defined in the IRC.
