Dear: Mr [REDACTED]

Enclosed is a Notice of Potential Private Pension Benefits containing the information you requested. This is the only pension information in our files.

When a person leaves a job covered by a private pension plan before retirement age, but has earned a right to future pension benefits under the plan, such benefits are called "deferred vested benefits." We maintain this information about persons who have deferred vested benefit rights with private pension plans. We give this information to these persons (and their dependents or survivors) upon request, or automatically when they apply for Social Security benefits.

We have information about a participant's right under a pension plan only after he or she either:

- Stops working under the plan,
- Has had a break in service of a specified period within the plan.

Plan Administrators have up to 7 months after the close of the plan year to file a deferred vested rights report. This information should be available in our records about 15 to 18 months after the end of the plan year.

The information we gave you applies only to deferred vested benefit rights under private pension plans. It does not apply to your Social Security earnings record nor any Social Security benefits to which you may be entitled.

Please contact the Plan Administrator listed in the notice to apply for any benefits which may be due, or for any additional information.

We apologize for the delay in answering your letter.

We are writing to tell you that you, or the worker whose Social Security number appears at the top of this form, MAY be entitled to some private pension benefits upon retirement. Also, your family, or the worker's family, may be entitled to retirement or survivor benefits.

These Are Not Social Security Benefits

These potential benefits are NOT Social Security benefits and we do not make any decisions about the payment of these benefits. The following provides some basic information about these private pension benefits.

Information About Pension Benefits

You have, or the worker has, earned pension rights although no longer employed in a job covered by the pension plan. These are called "deferred vested benefits." Private pension plan administrators must provide information about such benefits to us through the Internal Revenue Service. We provide this information about the pension plan when the individual asks for it or when a claim is filed for Social Security benefits.

If You Want to Apply for These Benefits

If you want to apply for these pension benefits or have any questions, you should contact the pension Plan Administrator shown below. Include the 9 digit identification number shown below and a copy of this notice when you write to the Plan Administrator.
