

Dear (Respondent),

My name is Brian Hewitt, and I work on the Survey Development Team here at the U.S. Energy Information Administration (EIA). EIA is considering collapsing distillate product categories on Forms EIA-782A and EIA-782C and collecting more detail on gasoline sales. We are interested in speaking with survey respondents to determine the destination state for sales of petroleum products, assess respondents' understanding of instructions for reporting bonded kerosene-type jet fuel and assess their ability to report information. As part of this effort, EIA is conducting interviews with survey respondents. The attached letter explains this research project in detail.

Please contact me if you are interested in being interviewed for this study or have any questions about this research. Thank you for your time.