The 2016/17 Baccalaureate and Beyond Longitudinal Study Student Survey Facsimile for Field Test

This appendix provides a list of the items proposed for the 2016/17 Baccalaureate and Beyond Longitudinal Study (B&B:16/17) field test student survey. While most items in the student survey have been included in surveys for the prior B&B cohort (B&B:08), the B&B:16/17 survey also includes revisions based on results from the B&B:08 cohort data collections and feedback from the B&B:16/17 Technical Review Panel (TRP) meeting conducted in October 2015. Revisions to the survey are intended to reflect current research goals as well as reduce respondent burden and improve data quality.

Table 1 provides a summary of the content of the B&B:16/17 field test (FT) student survey, including a column that indicates in color coded font whether items have remained the same (black) from the prior B&B cohort, were revised (purple), or added (green). Items added to the B&B:16/17 FT survey were drawn from a variety of sources. The source of the added items is described in the rational column of table 1. Many are items previously tested and included in other NCES studies<sup>1</sup>, while several items include new content recommended for inclusion by the TRP or which are necessary to conduct analyses of interest. Specifically, some month-level enrollment, employment, and financial questions have been added for respondents whose situations change only in the first year after receiving their bachelor's degree to allow researchers to explore how debt or other characteristics affect graduates' time to employment, the timing and duration of unemployment spells, and the timing of life milestones, such as family formation. In addition, in response to a recommendation made by the TRP, pre-kindergarten (pre-K) teachers will be included in the definition of "teachers" studied by B&B:16/17, particularly because some states are instituting universal pre-school programs and raising certification requirements to teach pre-K. To balance the inclusion of the additional items so that the timing estimate of the field test survey is 35 minutes, several survey questions have been revised to improve efficiency within the survey, and the following prior B&B cohort survey topics no longer considered relevant for this B&B:16/17 cohort or with little demonstrated analytic utility have been removed:

Undergraduate Enrollment

- Reasons for stop-out
- Able to complete bachelor's degree without attending 2-year institution

Postbaccalaureate Enrollment

- Night/weekend courses required in postbaccalaureate degree program(s)
- Percent of education costs at postbaccalaureate institution covered by financial aid

Postbaccalaureate Employment

<sup>1</sup> Items from the following studies have been added to the B&B:16/17 FT survey: 2012/14 Beginning Postsecondary Students Longitudinal Study full-scale student survey (BPS:12/14 FS, OMB# 1850-0631 v.8), 2014-2015 National Teacher and Principal Survey (OMB# 1850-0803), 2007-2008 National Postsecondary Student Aid Study full-scale student survey (NPSAS:08 FS, OMB# 1850-0666 v.4), 2015-16 National Postsecondary Student Aid Study field test student survey (NPSAS:16 FT, OMB# 1850-0666 v.13), and 2015-16 National Postsecondary Student Aid Study full-scale student survey (NPSAS:16 FS, OMB# 1850-0666 v.16).

- Reasons no longer employed at employer
- Reasons working outside of bachelor's degree field

Teaching

- Date of teacher certification
- Reasons did not apply for teaching position
- Reasons left school district
- Redundant detail for each teaching position (now each teaching position captured one time only in employment section of B&B:16/17 survey)

Background

- Method of becoming U.S. Citizen
- State of legal residence
- Currently live more than 50 miles from high school/NPSAS institution
- Type of volunteer work

A column has also been added to table 1 for items included in the abbreviated field test survey and reinterview survey. A notation of "(ABBREV)" has been added next to the abbreviated survey items in the facsimile. A subset of items from the field test survey has also been chosen to be tested in a 10-minute reliability reinterview. The reinterview will be administered to respondents who completed the non-abbreviated survey, approximately 4 weeks following completion of the main survey. A notation of "(REINTERVIEW)" has been added next to these items in the facsimile.

A hyperlinked Table of Contents to the items in the facsimile that (a) are being added to the field test survey, (b) have revisions, or (c) are included in the field test abbreviated survey or reinterview, is provided on page D-19.

Question Name	BB17BEXCUR (REINTERVIEW)
Wording	When you were working on your bachelor’s degree at [NPSAS], were you involved in...
Help Text	Please indicate if you were involved in any of the listed activities while perusing your bachelor's degree. Fraternities and Sororities are typically social organizations at colleges and universities. Some can be more "service" based in nature, placing a main focus on community service. While social fraternities and sororities usually do engage in community service projects or activities, the primary intent is to provide members with a foundational group of brothers and sisters to support them through the college experience. Most often, membership in a fraternity or sorority is obtained while an undergraduate student but continues, thereafter, for life. Extracurricular clubs or groups are clubs or groups in which students participate outside of the classroom. Some examples include, major or field of study clubs or drama clubs. Intramural or recreational sports provide students an opportunity to participate in a variety of sport activities without athletic scholarship, coaches, etc. Most universities offer teams in traditional sports such as basketball, softball, soccer, volleyball, and flag football, as well as nontraditional activities such as ultimate Frisbee, floor hockey, badminton, racquetball, and tennis. Intercollegiate sports are competitive and involve two or more college teams playing against each other. Teams are categorized based on the size of the school. For example, depending on the size of the school and their association, schools can be a part of the National Collegiate Athletic Associate (NCAA) or the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA).

Practicums (student teaching) are common for education and social work majors. In some cases, the practicum may be a part-time student teaching placement that occurs the semester before a student's full-time student teaching placement. A co-operative experience is a structured method of combining classroom-based education with practical work experience. A doctoral degree-research/scholarship is a PhD or other doctor's degree that requires advanced work beyond the master's level, including the preparation and defense of a dissertation based on original research, or the planning and execution of an original project demonstrating substantial artistic or scholarly achievement. Some examples of this type of degree may include EdD, DMA, DBA, DSc, DA, or DM, and others, as designated by the awarding institution.

An undergraduate certificate or diploma is a formal award certifying the satisfactory completion of a postsecondary education program. Undergraduate certificates and diplomas are designed to equip people with the skills needed for direct entry to employment, and for progression to higher education or training. Examples include undergraduate certificates in administrative support, computer programming, and medical records.

A post-master's certificate usually requires completion of 24 semester credit hours beyond the master's degree but does not meet the requirements of academic degrees at the doctoral level.

Wording	Which of the following did you receive or use to pay for your [POST-BA DEGREE] at [POST-BA SCHOOL]?
Help Text	Indicate the type of financial aid you have received to help pay for your education expenses and living expenses. Education expenses include tuition, fees, and books. Additionally, any costs associated with your education such as a computer are considered education expenses. Living expenses include rent, food, and clothing. Additionally, expenses such as transportation and utilities are considered living expenses. The list below provides examples of types of aid: Examples of federal student loans include Subsidized and unsubsidized Direct Loans (formerly known as Stafford Loans), Perkins Loans and Graduate PLUS loans. Private student loans tend to cost more in terms of the interest that must be repaid than do the loans offered by the Federal government. Unlike federal student loans, private loans are credit based and therefore often require a cosigner if the student does not have an established credit history. Grants or scholarships do not have to be repaid. Most scholarships are restricted to paying all or part of tuition expenses, though some also cover room and board. Graduate assistantships are a form of financial aid awarded to students to help support their education. Examples include teaching assistantships and research assistantships. Students usually receive a waiver for all or part of their tuition and a stipend to assist with other living expenses, and are required to perform teaching or research duties. Fellowships are based on merit, rather than just need. Payment usually includes a waiver for educational expenses as well as a stipend. Fellowships do not have to be repaid. Work-study jobs are offered to students with financial need, allowing them to work part-time to earn money to help pay their education expenses. Students must file a FAFSA (Free Application for Federal Student Aid) in order to be considered for the Federal Work-Study (FWS) program. Work-study jobs are often located on the campus of a student's school and may or may not be related to a student's course of study. Employer assistance is any monetary assistance that your employer contributes towards your educational costs. Own money refers to the student's own finances, and excludes parents' money.

Question Name	BB17IUGLN
Wording	Next, [{if CATI} I {else} we] have some questions about how you paid for your education.  Other than money you may have borrowed from family or friends, did you take out any type of student loans to help pay for your undergraduate education prior to [BA DATE] ?
Help Text	Indicate whether you took out any student loans to help pay for your undergraduate education prior to [BA DATE] .  Do not include Parent PLUS loans, grants or scholarships, or money borrowed from family or friends.  Federal student loans, such as subsidized and unsubsidized Direct Loans (also known as Stafford Loans), are from the federal government.  Private student loans are borrowed from a private lender, such as a bank, credit union, or state, and usually require a co-signer.  School loans are loans for which your school-rather than the Federal government, state government, or another private organization-is the lender. School loans are sometimes restricted to individuals meeting certain qualifications.  State education loans, offered through state-funded programs in certain states, typically require the borrower to be a state resident or attend an approved school within the state. Interest rates and repayment terms for state education loans vary from state to state.

Question Name	BB17IUGLNTYP
Wording	What type of loans did you take out to help pay for your undergraduate education prior to [BA DATE]?
Help Text	Indicate the type of loan you took out to help pay for your undergraduate education prior to [BA DATE] .  Do not include Parent PLUS loans, grants or scholarships, or money borrowed from family or friends.  Examples of federal student loans :

Subsidized and unsubsidized Direct Loans

An education loan borrowed from the federal government (Direct Loans), with an interest rate and other terms that are set by the federal government.

Students must file a FAFSA (Free Application for Federal Student Aid) in order to be considered for Direct Loan eligibility.

Undergraduate and graduate level students are eligible to receive Direct Loans, which can be either subsidized or unsubsidized.

Perkins Loan

Awarded to undergraduate and graduate students with exceptional financial need.

This is a campus-based loan program, with the school acting as the lender using a limited pool of funds provided by the federal government.

Private student loans:

Private loans are offered by private lenders. (Some common characteristics of private loans are noted below.)

With private loans there are no federal application forms to complete.

Some students and parents use private loans as a supplement when their federal loans do not provide enough money.

Private loans can have higher interest rates than federal loans.

Unlike federal student loans, private loans are credit based and therefore often require a cosigner if the student does not have an established credit history.

Some examples of commonly used private loans include:

Sallie Mae Smart Option Loan

Wells Fargo Collegiate Loan

Discover Student Loan

Loans from credit unions

Loans from states such as Minnesota's SELF loan

States with private or alternative student loan programs include Alaska, Connecticut, Georgia, Iowa, Kentucky, Maine, Massachusetts, Minnesota, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Texas, and Vermont.

Home equity loans are not considered private loans.

Help Text	Respond based on the current status of any federal student loans you have, including loans for your bachelor's degree and any taken out since earning your bachelor's degree. If you are currently repaying any private student loans, even if you are still in your deferment period, please answer "Yes." A loan modification is any change to the original terms of your student loan. During times of hardship, some lenders will review loans on a case by case basis and make adjustments. For example, lenders may reduce the interest rate to make payments more manageable. A loan consolidation allows you to combine multiple student loans into one loan. The result is a single monthly payment instead of multiple payments. A loan extension lengthens the original term of your loan. For example, if you originally had 25 years to pay back your loan, it might be possible to extend the term to 40 years. This brings your monthly payment down helping in cases of financial hardship. A loan delinquency occurs when no prior arrangements have been made (for example, a deferment or forbearance) and monthly payments are not made on your student loans. After a period of time in delinquency, your loan will go into default. Once a student loan goes into default, it is turned over to a collection agency.

Wording	Our records indicate that you previously told us you received private loans . Is that correct?
Help Text	Please indicate if you have received private student loans to help pay for your education. Include the private student loan amount borrowed for your bachelor's degree. Do not include Parent PLUS loans, grants or scholarships, or money borrowed from family or friends. Private loans, also known as alternative loans, are offered by private lenders. (Some common characteristics of private loans are noted below.) With private loans there are no federal application forms to complete. Some students and parents use private loans as a supplement when their federal loans do not provide enough money. Private loans can have higher interest rates than federal loans. Unlike federal student loans, private loans are credit based and therefore often require a cosigner if the student does not have an established credit history. Some examples of commonly used private loans include: Sallie Mae Smart Option Loan Wells Fargo Collegiate Loan Discover Student Loan Loans from credit unions Loans from states such as Minnesota’s SELF loan States with private or alternative student loan programs include Alaska, Connecticut, Georgia, Iowa, Kentucky, Maine, Massachusetts, Minnesota, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Texas, and Vermont. Home equity loans are not considered private loans.

Question Name	BB17IPVPAYMT
Wording	What is the current repayment status of your private loans ?
Help Text	Respond based on the current status of any private student loans you have, including loans for your bachelor's degree and any taken out since earning your bachelor's degree. If you are currently repaying any private student loans, even if you are still in your deferment period, please answer "Yes." A loan modification is any change to the original terms of your student loan. During times of hardship, some lenders will review loans on a case by case basis and make adjustments. For example, lenders may reduce the interest rate to make payments more manageable. A loan consolidation allows you to combine multiple student loans into one loan. The result is a single monthly payment instead of multiple payments. A loan extension lengthens the original term of your loan. For example, if you originally had 25 years to pay back your loan, it might be possible to extend the term to 40 years. This brings your monthly payment down helping in cases of financial hardship.

A loan delinquency occurs when no prior arrangements have been made (for example, a deferment or forbearance) and monthly payments are not made on your student loans. After a period of time in delinquency, your loan will go into default. Once a student loan goes into default, it is turned over to a collection agency.

An industry certification or occupational license qualifies an individual to work in a particular occupational area. An occupational license is required by law in order to practice a given profession. An industry certification allows an individual to work in an occupational area but is not required by law. An industry certification or occupational license shows you are qualified to perform a specific job and includes things like a Licensed Teacher, Licensed Realtor, Certified Medical Assistant, Certified Construction Manager, or a Project Management Professional.

A vocational or technical certificate or diploma is typically earned by completing a program of study offered by a college or university, a community college, or a trade school, but it does not lead to an associate's, bachelor's or graduate degree. An example is a mechanics diploma, which differs from a high school diploma.

If you have more than one certificate, license, or diploma, please answer "Yes" to which option(s) best describe them. It is possible to say "Yes" to both options.

Help Text

A regular classroom teacher (full- or part-time) refers to a teacher who is a regular classroom teacher in any grade level from pre-kindergarten to twelfth grade.

A short-term substitute teacher refers to a certified or non-certified teacher who works as a replacement for a regular teacher when he/she takes a leave of absence for a short-term period of time (up to 12 weeks). He/she may substitute for a regular teacher for as short a period as a day or for a week at a time.

A long-term substitute teacher refers to a certified or non-certified teacher who works as a replacement for a regular teacher when he/she takes a leave of absence for a long-term period of time (more than 12 weeks). This type of substitute teaches in place of the regular teacher for more than 12 weeks consecutively.

A teacher's aide refers to a certified or non-certified assistant who aids the teacher in preparing classroom materials for instruction and may help with grading and special projects. He/she does NOT assume full responsibility for classroom instruction.

A support teacher works largely with other teachers, rather than with students, and often designs or conducts professional development activities for others. Examples of activities include developing curricula, supporting other teachers' use of technology for instruction, analyzing achievement data and helping teachers understand or use those data to improve instruction, or coaching in particular subject areas or instructional methods. Examples of positions include literacy coaches, math coaches, teachers on special assignment with professional development responsibilities, etc.

A student teacher refers to a teacher who is shadowing a teacher and taking on various roles in the classroom. While some teaching may be involved, this type of teacher does not primarily teach students.

An itinerant teacher refers to a teacher who holds one position or assignment, but who teaches in multiple schools.

If you consider yourself to be a teacher at the Pre-K through 12 level but none of the types of teachers indicated reflects your teaching position, respond "Other teaching position."
