(Question visible only to those who came through the public web site or who came through the link but manage different market)

5. SEARCH ENGINE

[Q5] Please type in the correct official name of the food hub that you manage or represent.

As you start typing, food hubs with the same or similar name(s) may appear and you may choose the proper market name by clicking on the "update" link in the right column.

Should there be a spelling mistake in the name of the market listed, but you are sure (by checking the location address) that this is the market you manage or represent, you will have an opportunity to correct the spelling of the official market name.

For your convenience, you may also search the list by typing in the zip code of the physical LOCATION of the food hub (not the zip code for the mailing address, as it might be different).

On-farm market name or location zipcode:.....

Displayed food hub names	Location street	City	State	Zip code	Update
Xa		Ka	AZ		Update => Go to Q6 (Is the name correct?)

THANK-YOU PAGE

Dear Food Hub Manager/Representative,

Thank you for updating your food hub listing for the [current year] National Food Hub Directory. If you wish to enter information about an additional food hub, please click here.

We greatly appreciate your participation in this very important project to help keep consumers informed about food hubs.

If you have any questions about the Directory itself, please contact us at directoryupdates@ams.usda.gov or (202) 720-8317.

If you update information on your food hub by XXXX, it will appear in the [current year] USDA National Food Hub Directory by YYYY. This means consumers will be able to find your hub just as the busy summer season is getting underway. Food hub listings submitted after MMMM, but by KKKK will be published in the Directory by LLLL.

Thank you for updating your hub listing for the [current year] National Food Hub Directory.

Sincerely,

Ed Ragland
Agricultural Economist
