The non-Chinook salmon ICA annual report provides information about the performance of the non-Chinook salmon ICA as a whole. This information is necessary for the Council to evaluate the salmon bycatch management measures and to provide the public with information about how the programs operate and bycatch reduction under these programs.

The ICA representative must submit the ICA annual report so that it is postmarked or received by the Council by April 1 of each year. The Council makes the annual report available to the public, and the report is posted on the NMFS Alaska Region website

<http://www.npfmc.org/salmon-bycatch-overview/bering-sea-chum-salmon-bycatch/>

The ICA annual report must include the following information

An estimated number of non-Chinook salmon avoided as demonstrated by the movement of fishing effort away from Chum Salmon Savings Areas,

The results of the compliance audit required at § 679.21(g)(2)(v)

Participation in the Non-Chinook Salmon Inter-cooperative Agreement (ICA) is voluntary. Industry members who participate in an approved ICA are either provided exemptions to certain other salmon bycatch management measures or are provided access to a higher salmon prohibited species catch (PSC) limit. For any ICA participant to be exempt from closure of the Chum Salmon Savings Area as described at § 679.21(e)(7)(ix) and at § 679.22(a)(10), the ICA must be filed in compliance with the requirements and approved by NMFS.

The ICA is a salmon bycatch management agreement among all of the American Fisheries Act (AFA) pollock cooperatives and the Western Alaska Community Development Quota (CDQ) groups. The agreement is a private, contractual agreement between the interested parties. The effectiveness of the Program through the ICA is dependent upon rapidly gathering, analyzing, and disseminating accurate bycatch data. Once a non-Chinook salmon bycatch reduction ICA is approved by NMFS, it is not required to be resubmitted annually and is only required to be resubmitted to NMFS if components of the ICA covered by NMFS regulations are amended.

The ICA allows vessels participating in the Bering Sea pollock fishery to utilize their internal cooperative structure to reduce non-Chinook salmon bycatch using a method called the voluntary rolling hotspot system (VRHS). Through the VRHS, industry members provide each other real-time salmon bycatch information so that they can avoid areas of high non-Chinook salmon bycatch rates.

The ICA must include an annual compliance audit. The ICA group must cooperate fully in such audit, including providing information required by the auditor. The compliance audit must be conducted by a non-party entity, and each party must have an opportunity to participate in selecting the non-party entity. If the non-party entity hired to conduct a compliance audit discovers a previously undiscovered failure to comply with the terms of the ICA, the nonparty entity must notify all parties to the ICA of the failure to comply and must simultaneously distribute to all parties of the ICA the information used to determine the failure to comply occurred and must include such notice(s) in the compliance report.

If the entity retained to facilitate vessel PSC avoidance behavior and information sharing determines that an apparent violation of an ICA chum salmon savings area closure has occurred, that entity must promptly notify the Board of Directors of the cooperative to which the vessel involved belongs. If this Board of Directors fails to assess a minimum uniform assessment within 180 days of receiving the notice, the information used by the entity to determine if an apparent violation was committed must be disseminated to all parties to the ICA.

The non-Chinook ICA or any amendments to an approved ICA must be postmarked or received by NMFS by December 1 of the year before the year in which the ICA is proposed to be effective.
