

QID1.

The Building Bridges and Bonds (B3) evaluation, funded by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, Administration for Children and Families (ACF), is examining the effectiveness of programs that are or are like Responsible Fatherhood programs. A key objective of the B3 study is to learn about the organizational context, design, and operations of the programs chosen to operate promising strategies. The purpose is to provide information to practitioners and policymakers within multiple levels of government. ACF has contracted with MDRC to complete the evaluation.

The length of this survey is different for different people, but on average it should take about 40 minutes. Your participation in this survey is important and will help us understand more about the staff that work in fatherhood programs. Your responses will be kept private to the extent permitted by law and used only for research purposes. They will be combined with the responses of other staff and no individual names will be reported.

Participation in the survey is completely voluntary. There are no known risks of participating in this survey, except that you may feel uncomfortable answering some questions in the survey. You can refuse to answer those questions if you wish.

If you have any questions about the survey, please do not hesitate to contact MDRC. You can reach MDRC by calling 1-xxx-xxx-xxxx or emailing xxxxxx@mdrc.org.
