The beaver is an excellent swimmer. It can achieve a speed of up to seven miles per hour in water. Its protection against the cold consists of a skin with thousands of single hairs and a thick layer of fat. With its big lungs it can easily stay under water for more than twenty minutes. The beaver is not only skilful in felling trees, but also an experienced craftsman in building dams. When the beaver fells a tree, it gnaws on the trunk in such a way that the upper and the lower part of the trunk are only connected with each other at a small point. When the connection is narrow and the beaver has become tired, the wind will do the rest. The twigs and thin branches are cut off by the beaver and piled up near its den, which is built on a small island. The thick branches are sorted out and used as wood for building dams.

Q12B-Q14B Note: You need to repeat the past three screens for each member in the household

Q15. Race –

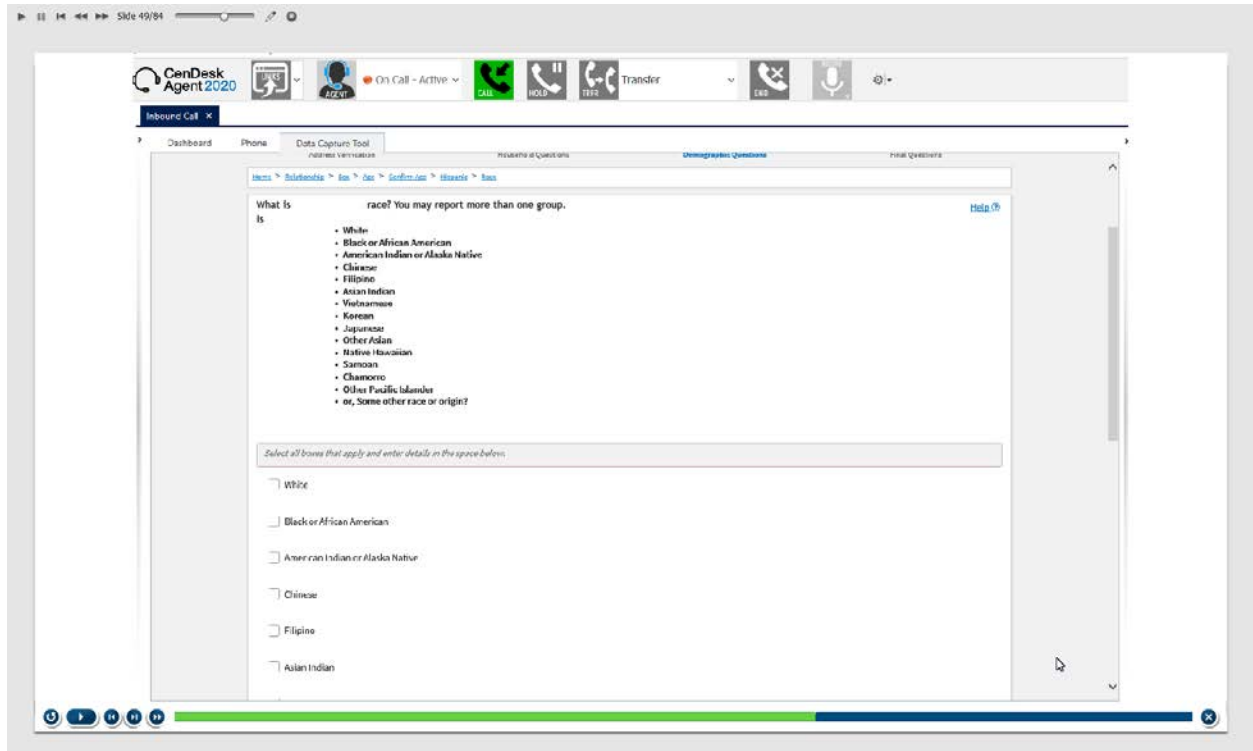

We can discuss how to design this race screen. I'd like to have it designed as decennial is going to have it where the ethnicity opens up if they touch the race box, but the difference is that the Hispanic origin will be in the list as a race. We can change the instruction to something like: "Mark all the races that apply. They are allowed to mark more than one race. Be sure to enter their ethnicity as well."

The screenshot shows a mobile application interface for data capture. At the top, the status bar shows the time as 9:41 AM and various icons. Below the status bar, there is a header with 'MENU', 'Field Data Capture', and 'HELP'. The main title is 'RACE OR ETHNICITY'. The instruction reads: 'What is YOUR race or ethnicity? You may report more than one group.' Below this, it says 'Are YOU' followed by a message box: 'Show screen to respondent after reading the response options'. There are four radio button options: 'White', 'Hispanic, Latino, or Spanish', 'Black or African American', and 'Asian'. A blue circular icon with a downward arrow is positioned to the right of the 'Black or African American' option. At the bottom, there are three buttons: 'Previous', 'Options', and 'Next'.
