Comment:

this survey will produce nothing of value. it is a valueless survey so the cdc can look like they are doing "something" but this "smething" is of no value. we know how to prevent tick bites. we know enough. i do not think this is a helpful issue. i think we need to know medications that can help recover. i thought that was why we employed research people. but evidently all we have in the cdc these days is paper collecting or digital collecting survey people, no research people? woark on the issuses of the disease is what we need and what we thought we were paying for. not collection of what we alrady know you will getfrom the surveyed what you already know. where is the groundbreaking. i thought we employed govt employees to do that, not just survey the public. something is desperately wrong in what taxpayers are being gouged to pay money for at the cdc. its not working the focus on mgt has gone astray. we dont need this spending on this survey. cut the funding to zero on this mismanaged idea. this is more of nothing wasteful out of control spending govt. *🌐
