Messaging to Improve Patient-Provider Communication and Engagement on Risks of Alcohol Use During Pregnancy Final Screener

Study Objective

Objective of Interviews:

The purpose of this study is to conduct formative research to assess perceptions among women of reproductive age regarding alcohol use during pregnancy, determine women's comfort with discussing alcohol use, contraception (birth control), and pregnancy with their healthcare providers, and examine provider comfort with and use of alcohol screening and brief intervention (SBI).

General Composition of In-Depth Interviews

General Criteria

- The study population includes women of reproductive age (21 – 45 years of age) who drink alcohol. It includes the following groups of women:
  - Women who have never been pregnant, are not trying to get pregnant, but are sexually active and have consumed alcohol in the past 3 years.
  - Women who have never been pregnant and are trying to get pregnant and have consumed alcohol in the past 3 years.
  - Women who have had a baby in the previous year and have consumed alcohol in the past 3 years.
- Recruit six women of each group per city:
  - Chicago, IL
  - Atlanta, GA
  - Boston, MA
  - Denver, CO

Hello, I'm _____ calling from EurekaFacts in Maryland, a social science research company, on behalf of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. We are inviting women to discuss their views about women's health. If you qualify for this project and complete an hour-long interview, you will receive a $40 incentive in appreciation for the completion of the interview.

You were selected to represent women just like you, and this is an opportunity to share your experiences that may result in improvements to women's health in general. To determine if you qualify, I need to ask you a few questions. Some of the questions are about behaviors that impact your health, so they may seem personal. You can refuse to answer any questions I ask, and you can stop me from asking any more questions at any time. I'd like to start by asking a few questions now to see if you qualify.
