What is B&B?

The Baccalaureate and Beyond Longitudinal Study (B&B) Field Test is a national study of approximately 1,600 graduates from U.S. colleges and universities who will be asked about their experiences in the 10 years since completing a bachelor's degree.

The study will collect information on graduate and other education, experiences in the labor market, earnings and expenses, family status, and personal and professional goals. In addition to survey responses, we collect related information from other sources, such as student loan and enrollment databases. There is a particular focus on careers in teaching and other employment outcomes.

Why am I being asked to participate?

You have been asked to participate in B&B because you completed the requirements for your bachelor's degree 10 years ago, during the 2006-07 academic year.

Why is my participation important?

Your survey responses help educators, researchers, and policymakers at the local, state, and national levels understand the experiences of recent college graduates. Your experiences are unique, and if you choose not to participate in B&B, no one else can be substituted for you.

What have we learned from previous rounds of B&B? The National Center for Education Statistics (NCES) has conducted only one previous 10-year follow-up with baccalaureate graduates – the Class of '93 was surveyed in 2003 as part of B&B:93/03.

About three-fifths of 1992-93 bachelor's degree recipients, surveyed 10 years later, reported that the quality of instruction they received as undergraduates (61 percent) and their undergraduate major field (58 percent) remained very important to their lives.

Within 10 years of completing a bachelor's degree, 25 percent of 1992-93 bachelor's degree recipients obtained an occupational license and 30 percent obtained a professional certification.

In 2003, 45 percent of 1992-93 graduates had participated in work-related training and 18 percent had taken personal enrichment classes in the prior year.

What happens to the results?

Results from the current study are scheduled to be released in 2019 and will be posted on the NCES website (<https://nces.ed.gov/surveys/b&b/>) along with results from previous B&B studies. Your responses will be combined with those of other students and will be presented in summary form only. No individually identifying information will be published.

Who is conducting B&B?

The 2008/18 Baccalaureate and Beyond Longitudinal Study is conducted by NCES, in the U.S. Department of Education's Institute of Education Sciences, with data collection being carried out under contract by RTI International, a nonprofit research organization based in North Carolina. NCES is authorized to conduct B&B by the Education Sciences Reform Act of 2002 (ESRA 2002, 20 U.S.C. §9543) and to collect students' education records from educational agencies or institutions for the purposes of evaluating Federally supported education programs under the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA, 34 CFR §§ 99.31(a)(3) and 99.35). All of the information provided by individuals and institutions may be used only for statistical purposes and may not be disclosed, or used, in identifiable form for any other purpose except as required by law (20 U.S.C. §9573 and 6 U.S.C. §151).

How will my information be protected?

NCES is required to follow strict procedures to protect personal information in the collection, reporting, and publication of data. All of the information you provide may be used only for statistical purposes and may not be disclosed, or used, in identifiable form for any other purpose except as required by law (20 U.S.C. §9573 and 6 U.S.C. §151).

Data security procedures for B&B are reviewed and approved by NCES data security staff. Your answers are secured behind firewalls and are encrypted during internet transmission using Secure Sockets Layer (SSL) protocol. All data entry modules are password protected and require the user to log in before accessing the data. Project staff is subject to large fines or imprisonment if individual responses are disclosed.

How do I participate?

You can complete the B&B interview online or over the phone.

WHAT TO EXPECT

How can I complete the B&B survey?

You may complete the B&B survey on the Web – simply log in from the home page by entering your Study ID number and password, which are provided in the B&B letter or e-mail you received. You can even complete it on your mobile device. How long will the survey take?

For most people, we expect the survey will take about 45 minutes, on average, but could take more or less time depending on your answers. You do not need to complete the survey in one session. You can get started and, if you choose, you can easily log out and resume at a later time. If you are asked to provide a résumé, the time to submit the résumé is estimated to average 10 minutes, including time to locate your file, review it, and load it to the website.

Do I have to participate?

Participation in this study is voluntary; however, your involvement is very important to the success of this study. By participating, you have the opportunity to help policymakers, researchers, and others better understand the experiences of bachelor's degree recipients.

Can I refuse to answer a question?

You may refuse to answer any question at any time. If you choose not to answer or are unable to answer a particular question, you may still continue with the rest of the survey.

How do I know your website is secure?

The B&B website is protected by Secure Sockets Layer (SSL; 128-bit encryption) technology. Your survey responses are collected over a secure server that is also protected by SSL.

Should I use a particular web browser to take the web survey?

To run the survey, your browser needs to support HTML5 and JavaScript, so the latest versions of Firefox, Chrome, or Safari will work, as will Internet Explorer 9 and later. If you are having any trouble completing the survey, please call our Help Desk at 1-877-262-4440 and we will be happy to assist you.

PREVIOUS RESULTS

YOUR PARTICIPATION COUNTS!

Data collected from B&B will help researchers and policymakers better understand how earning a bachelor's degree impacts choices for additional education and employment paths. As with all prior B&B studies, results will be presented in summary form only; no individual results will be published.

HERE ARE A FEW THINGS WE'VE LEARNED FROM B&B STUDIES...

The National Center for Education Statistics (NCES) has conducted only one previous 10-year follow-up with baccalaureate graduates – the Class of '93 was surveyed in 2003 as part of B&B:93/03.

About three-fifths of 1992-93 bachelor's degree recipients, surveyed 10 years later, reported that the quality of instruction they received as undergraduates (61 percent) and their undergraduate major field (58 percent) remained very important to their lives.

In 2003, 45 percent of 1992-93 graduates had participated in work-related training and 18 percent had taken personal enrichment classes in the prior year.

CONFIDENTIALITY

The National Center for Education Statistics (NCES) is required to follow strict procedures to protect personal information in the collection, reporting, and publication of data. All of the information you provide may be used only for statistical purposes and may not be disclosed, or used, in identifiable form for any other purpose except as required by law (20 U.S.C. §9573 and 6 U.S.C. §151).

Data security procedures for B&B are reviewed and approved by NCES data security staff. Your answers are secured behind firewalls and are encrypted during internet transmission using Secure Sockets Layer (SSL) protocol. All data entry modules are password protected and require the user to log in before accessing any data. Project staff members are subject to large finer or imprisonment if they knowingly publish or communicate any individually identifiable information.

Congress has authorized the National Center for Education Statistics (NCES) of the U.S. Department of Education's Institute of Education Sciences to collect data about the costs of postsecondary education because policymakers at all levels need reliable and current national data in order to make decisions about postsecondary education. NCES is authorized to conduct the 2008/18 Baccalaureate and Beyond Longitudinal Study by the Education Sciences Reform Act of 2002 (ESRA 2002, 20 U.S.C. §9543) and to collect students' education records from educational agencies or institutions for the purposes of evaluating federally supported education programs under the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA, 34 CFR §§ 99.31(a)(3) and 99.35).

The study has been approved by the U.S. Office of Management and Budget (OMB). The valid OMB control number for this voluntary information collection is 1850-0729. The expiration date is xx/xx/xxxx.

ABOUT B&B

The Baccalaureate and Beyond Longitudinal Study (B&B) Field Test (B&B:08/18) is a national study of approximately 1,600 graduates from U.S. colleges and universities who will be asked about their experiences since completing a bachelor's degree.

The study will collect information on graduate and other education, experiences in the labor market, earnings and expenses, family status, and personal and professional goals. In addition to survey responses, we collect related information from sources such as student loan and enrollment databases. There is a particular focus on careers in teaching and other employment outcomes.

B&B:08/18 is the third follow-up survey from a cohort of students who completed their bachelor's degree requirements during the 2006-07 academic year. Most study participants were first surveyed in 2007 as part of the National Postsecondary Student Aid Study (NPSAS).

B&B:08/18 is conducted by the National Center for Education Statistics (NCES), in the U.S. Department of Education's Institute of Education Sciences, with data collection being carried out under contract by RTI International, a nonprofit research organization based in North Carolina.

Dear «fname» «lname»:

You have been selected to participate in the third round of the Baccalaureate and Beyond Longitudinal Study (B&B), conducted by the National Center for Education Statistics (NCES) in the U.S. Department of Education's Institute of Education Sciences. B&B is interested in your personal experience since you graduated from college during the 2006–07 school year. Data collected from B&B will help researchers and policymakers better understand how earning a bachelor's degree in majors such as «[major]» impacts choices for additional education and employment paths.

B&B begins in July of 2017. At that time, you will receive a letter in a large white envelope that will provide specific information about how to participate. I am writing in advance because many people like to know ahead of time that they will be asked to participate in a survey. I hope that you will take the time to help us. To say thanks, you will receive $«IncAmt» when you complete the survey.

NCES has contracted with RTI International to collect data for B&B on its behalf. The enclosed brochure provides a brief description of B&B, findings from past studies, and a summary of our confidentiality procedures. If you have additional questions or concerns about the study after reviewing this material, please call the RTI study director, Jennifer Wine at 1-877-225-8470.

We thank you in advance for your participation in this important study.

Dear «fname» «lname»:

You have been selected to participate in the third round of the Baccalaureate and Beyond Longitudinal Study (B&B), conducted by the National Center for Education Statistics (NCES) in the U.S. Department of Education's Institute of Education Sciences. B&B is interested in your personal experience since you graduated from college during the 2006–07 school year.
