Recruitment Procedures

Recruitment of Respondents

Respondents will be recruited primarily by Co-Principal Investigators, Dr. Bridget Long and Dr. Eric Bettinger using a variety of methods including networking referrals and invitations distributed via email, public postings, and social media announcements. Additional respondents may be recruited by Project Manager Lena Eisen.

Scheduling of Respondents:

Interested participants will be asked to contact the local researcher/interview administrator at their designated email or phone. Prospective participants will receive an email (Attachment III; Part A) describing the purpose of the survey interview process and details of participation, including the time commitment and consent requirement. After receiving the informational email, participants will be asked to select an interview time via an online sign-up tool. Participants will be scheduled on a first-come, first-served basis and sent a confirmation email for their scheduled time and, if applicable, location (Attachment III; Part B).

Consent to Participate in Research

Title of Research: Connecting Students with Financial Aid (CSFA) 2017- Cognitive Interview (OMB# 1850-0803)

Introduction and Purpose

You are being asked to participate in a cognitive interview carried out by Harvard University and Stanford University for a project funded by the National Center for Education Research (NCER) and sponsored by the National Center for Education Statistics (NCES), both part of the U.S. Department of Education. The purpose of the cognitive interview is to obtain your feedback on some of the questions that will be used in the survey portion of the Connecting Students with Financial Aid (CSFA) study. Feedback gathered from these interviews may be used to revise, improve, or confirm the clarity of the final study survey.

Procedures

You are one of up to 40 individuals who have been invited to participate in an interview during which you will be asked to answer a series of survey questions while discussing your understanding and reaction to the language used in those survey questions and their response options.

Notes will be taken during your interview to help us write a report summarizing the results of survey responses and our interview discussion. Your name will never be used in the report that we write.

Study Duration

Your participation in the interview will likely take about 30 minutes, and no more than 60 minutes.

Possible Risks or Discomforts

We do not anticipate that any of the discussion topics will make you uncomfortable or upset. However you may refuse to answer any question or take a break at any time.

Benefits

Your Benefits There is no monetary compensation for participating in the survey interview. However, light snacks and beverages may be provided if the interview is conducted in person.

Benefits for Other People We hope that this survey and interview process will help us improve students' understanding of our survey questions.

Confidentiality

We are conducting these cognitive interviews for the National Center for Education Statistics (NCES) of the U.S. Department of Education. This study is authorized by law under the Education Sciences Reform Act (20 U.S.C., § 9543). Your participation is voluntary. Your responses are protected from disclosure by federal statute (20 U.S.C., § 9573). All responses that relate to or describe identifiable characteristics of individuals may be used only for statistical purposes and may not be disclosed, or used, in identifiable form for any other purpose except as required by law.

Future Contacts

We will not contact you in the future as part of this interview.

Your Rights

Your decision to take part in this research study is completely voluntary. You can refuse any part of the study and you can stop participating at any time.

Your Questions

If you have any questions about the study, you may call Dr. Bridget Long at 617-495-3401 or Tracy Hunt White from the National Center for Education Studies (NCES) at 202-245-6507.

YOU WILL BE GIVEN A COPY OF THIS CONSENT FORM TO KEEP.

Interview Protocol

Introduction and Welcome

Hello, my name is [INSERT INTERVIEWER NAME], and I'll be conducting your interview today and taking notes. I am part of the Connecting Students with Financial Aid Study, a research program striving to increase completion of the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) and the likelihood of college persistence, particularly as a full-time student. Today, I hope to interview you as you complete a survey we plan to give to participants in our study.

Informed Consent

We are conducting interviews with you and other participants to evaluate the overall content and language within the survey we plan to use. The interview will likely take about 30 minutes, but no more than 60 minutes. We are particularly interested today in learning more about your understanding and comprehension of the questions in this survey and whether you have any suggestions about how we might improve it.

I will be taking notes so that we can review your ideas and comments after this interview is over. We will prepare a report that does not single out any one person but instead reports what we heard from all participants as a whole. No names will be mentioned in the report. Before we begin, I would like to describe what you can expect during your interview.

Interview Format

- _ I will be asking you to complete a short survey and may ask about some of your answers in more detail.
- _ I may ask you to read a question aloud during the survey or ask you to verbalize your answer as you make a selection.
- _ I may ask follow up questions to help us learn more about how you arrived at your answer and whether you have suggestions that would improve the question or response options.

I will begin the survey by asking you to answer some background questions about yourself and your educational background. I would like to remind you that your name will not be associated with what you say and that our report will not identify any names of persons participating in these interviews. This is not a test; there are no right or wrong answers. Your experiences and opinions are important to us, and we hope that you will feel free to share them openly. We thank you for your time and insight. Your participation will help to improve the project.

If you have no objections, we will start now.

Begin Survey

Note: The interviewer may ask follow up / general probe questions when the respondent expresses hesitation or suggests having difficulty with a survey item. Continue observing and listening, probing when appropriate, and noting respondent feedback as the interview progresses.

Examples of General Probes

- What do you think the question was asking?
- How would you rephrase the question in your own words?
- How easy or difficult was it to understand the question?
- [If answering a multiple-choice question:] Were you satisfied with the answer choices?
 - o [If no:] What additional choices would you recommend be included?
- Did you find any of the language confusing?
- Do you see ways to make the questions or answer options more clear?
- How did you feel when answering the question?
- What was the reason for that comment?
- Probe for examples.
- Can you tell me more about that?
- You seemed to hesitate/take a moment before giving/entering your response. Can you tell me what you were thinking about?
- What do you mean by...?
- Is there any additional information that we should have provided to help understand the message?
- Does this term/question sound OK to you, or would you prefer something different?

Post-Survey

- Thank you for completing the survey. Do you have any additional questions or suggestions before we end our session?
- We really appreciate your involvement in this process. Your participation is very helpful as we prepare for the future use of the survey.

Background Questions:

PQ 1. Are you currently attending college at least part-time?
PQ 2. Have you ever completed a financial aid form?
PQ 3. Have you worked with other students trying to access higher education?

Start Survey: Online Survey will employ automatic skip logic to select appropriate question ordering

Q1: (Consent Page) Not relevant for testing.
Q2: Did you apply for financial aid from the federal and/or state government to help you with college expenses for the 2017-18 school year (i.e., this year)?
Q3: Did you apply for financial aid from anyone else (a non-governmental source) to help you with college expenses for the 2017-18 school year?
Q4: Prior to 2017-18, have you ever applied for state or federal government financial aid to help you with college expenses?
Q5: Are you aware that to continue getting financial aid, you must complete the financial aid application each year?
Q6a: Did you know that last year the government financial aid form was made available to students starting October 1, 2016, which is 3 months earlier than usual?
Q6b: (If Q6a= Yes) How did you find out about the early availability of the financial aid form?

Display If Q2 = No (Respondent did NOT apply for federal and/or state government aid for 17-18)

Q7: Do you know what the FAFSA is?
Q8a: Why did you not apply for financial aid for 2017-18? (Student rationale for not applying)
Q8b: Please choose all the statements that apply to you: (Student perceptions/opinions about financial aid process and eligibility)

Display If Q2 = Yes or Q4 = Yes (A Student has EVER applied for federal and/or state government financial aid)

Question Block Header: We're interested in your experiences with applying for financial aid.

Q9: How did you learn about the process of applying for government financial aid? (Check all that apply)
Q10: Did you receive assistance from another person to complete your financial aid forms (i.e., the FAFSA) the last time you did so? If yes, please indicate from whom. (Includes an option to indicate that there was no assistance received)

<<ALL STUDENTS>>

Block Header: When completing their financial aid forms, students have the option of using the IRS Data Retrieval Tool to help them. The IRS Data Retrieval Tool allows you to electronically transfer your federal tax return information to your federal financial aid form. Last March, the IRS Data Retrieval Tool was unavailable for several weeks.

Q11a: Did the fact that the IRS Data Retrieval Tool was not available for several weeks affect whether you completed your federal financial aid forms for 2017-18?
Q11b: Did the fact that the IRS Data Retrieval Tool was not available for several weeks affect when you completed your federal financial aid forms for 2017-18?
