Email text for personal and professional contacts

Dear [contact]:

The American Institutes for Research is assisting the National Center for Education Statistics, of the U.S. Department of Education, to recruit adults to test a series of survey items. We are specifically looking for adults ages 18 to 65 who have a credential for work, such as a certification or license, or who are working towards getting a certification or license. We will be asking these adults to participate in a one-time, voluntary, 60-minute research interview.

Eligible participants will receive $40 for their participation.

If you or someone you know is interested in participating, please contact [contact info].

Thank you for your time and help with this important study.

Sincerely,

Informed Consent -Adult

The American Institutes for Research (AIR) is assisting with data collection for a study being conducted by the National Center for Education Statistics (NCES), part of the U.S. Department of Education. We are interviewing adults ages 18 to 65 to gather information that will improve a national survey about adults' credentials for work. For this study, a staff member will meet with participants individually for 60 minutes at <Location>. Participants will receive $40 to thank them for their time and participation.

Participants will be asked to think aloud while they read the survey questions. Additionally, the interviewer will ask targeted questions to gain a better understanding of the survey questions. Participants' responses will be audio-recorded. The information collected during this study is for research purposes only. Your participation is voluntary, you can skip any question you do not want to answer, and you may request to stop at any time during the session. We do not anticipate that any of the questions will make you uncomfortable or upset. However, you may refuse to answer any question or take a break at any time. There are no direct benefits to you for participating in this study, but these interviews will help us improve the survey instrument.

Before you are eligible to participate, the attached consent form is required.

If you have questions about this research study, please contact XXXX XXXXX at the American Institutes for Research at XXX-XXX-XXXX.

Thank you,
