Information about the Whistleblower Award Program

The Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act, signed into law by President Obama on July 21, 2010, authorizes the SEC to pay an award to eligible whistleblowers. You may be eligible for a monetary award if the information you submit leads to an SEC action that results in monetary sanctions exceeding $1,000,000. To learn more about the program, including the eligibility requirements in the statute and final rules approved by the Commission to implement this program, please click here.

You are encouraged to submit your information in writing online by filling out the online questionnaire, available here. If you submit electronically and would like to be considered for an award under our whistleblower program, you are required to answer yes to the appropriate question on the "About you" page of the questionnaire and to electronically submit the whistleblower declaration at the end of the questionnaire. Click here to see a screen shot of the required declaration. If you wish to remain anonymous but still be eligible for an award, you must be represented by, and provide contact information for, an attorney.

If you prefer to submit your information in hard copy, you may print out the newly-available Form-TCR and submit it:

- by mail to the Office of the Whistleblower, SEC, 100 F Street, NE, Mail Stop 5971, Washington, DC 20549; or
