

SUPPORTING STATEMENT FOR NEW AND REVISED INFORMATION COLLECTIONS

OMB CONTROL NUMBER 3038-0081

This supporting statement covers two separate information collections for two final rulemakings: (a) Derivatives Clearing Organization General Provisions and Core Principles and (b) Derivatives Clearing Organizations and International Standards.

Justification

1. Explain the circumstances that make the collection of information necessary. Identify any legal or administrative requirements that necessitate the collection. Attach a copy of the appropriate section of each statute and regulation mandating or authorizing the collection of information.
 - a. Derivatives Clearing Organization General Provisions and Core Principles (the “DCO Final Rule”): Section 725(c) of the Dodd-Frank Act amended Section 5b(c)(2) of the CEA to allow the Commission to establish regulatory standards for compliance with the derivative clearing organization (“DCO”) core principles. Accordingly, the Commission adopted a final rule to set specific standards for compliance with DCO Core Principles.¹ Additionally, section 725(b) of the Dodd-Frank Act, which also amended section 5b of the Commodity Exchange Act (“CEA”),² requires a DCO to designate an individual as a chief compliance officer (“CCO”) who will be responsible for filing an annual report that describes the DCO’s compliance activities. Accordingly, the Commission published regulations that would require the appointment of a CCO, the filing of an annual report and adherence to certain recordkeeping requirements (“DCO Final Rule”).³ The information collected pursuant to those regulations is necessary for the Commission to evaluate whether DCOs are complying with Commission regulations. OMB assigned Control Number 3038-0081 to the information collection involved in the Section 725(b) Regulations.
 - b. Derivatives Clearing Organizations and International Standards (the “SIDCO-Subpart C DCO Final Rule”): The Commission adopted final regulations that establish additional standards for compliance with the DCO core principles set forth in section

¹ See Derivatives Clearing Organization General Provisions and Core Principles, 76 FR 69334 (November 8, 2011) (DCO Final Rule).

³ See General Regulations and Derivatives Clearing Organizations, 75 FR 77576 (December 13, 2010) (notice of proposed rulemaking) and Derivatives Clearing Organization General Provisions and Core Principles, 76 FR 69334 (November 8, 2011) (final rule).

5b(c)(2) of the CEA⁴ for systemically important DCOs (“SIDCOs”)⁵ and DCOs that elect to opt-in to the SIDCO regulatory requirements (“Subpart C DCOs”) (the “SIDCO-Subpart C DCO Final Rule”). The additional requirements set forth in the SIDCO-Subpart C DCO Final Rule are consistent with certain international standards, namely, the Principles for Financial Market Infrastructures (“PFMIs”) published by the Committee on Payment and Settlement Systems and the Board of the International Organization of Securities Commissions (“IOSCO”).⁶ The SIDCO-Subpart C DCO Final Rule include recordkeeping and reporting requirements that are collections of information requiring approval under the PRA.⁷

While Subpart A and Subpart B of part 39 of the Commission’s regulations incorporate the vast majority of the standards set forth in the PFMIs,⁸ the Commission has recognized that, in certain instances, the standards set forth in the PFMIs may not be fully covered by the requirements set forth in Subpart A and Subpart B. The Subpart C regulations, as amended by this final rulemaking, address any remaining gaps between existing regulations and the PFMI standards. The information that would be collected under these final SIDCO/Subpart C DCO Regulations is necessary for the Commission to determine whether a DCO meets the Subpart C DCO standards that have been finalized therein and is likely to be able to maintain compliance with such standards; to evaluate whether SIDCOs and Subpart C DCOs are complying with Commission regulations; and to perform risk analyses with respect to SIDCOs and Subpart C DCOs.

2. Indicate how, by whom, and for what purpose the data would be used. Except for a new collection, indicate the actual use the agency has made of the information received from the current collection.

⁴ 7 U.S.C. 7a-1(c)(2)(A). Section 725(c) of the Dodd-Frank Act amended Section 5b(c)(2) of the CEA which sets forth the core principles with which a DCO must comply in order to register and maintain registration with the Commission. In furtherance of the goals of the Dodd-Frank Act to reduce risk, increase transparency and promote market integrity, the Commission, pursuant to its enhanced rulemaking authority under section 725(c)(2)(i) of the Dodd-Frank Act, adopted regulations establishing standards for compliance with the DCO core principles. See Section 725(c)(2)(i) of the Dodd-Frank Act (giving the Commission explicit authority to promulgate rules regarding the core principles pursuant to its rulemaking authority under Section 8a(5) of the CEA).

⁷ As noted above, approval of this information collection is being sought as an amendment to collection 3038-0081. See section 1.a supra.

⁸ Indeed, Subpart A and Subpart B were informed by the consultative report for the PFMIs. See generally 76 FR at 69334.

- a. The information collected in the DCO Final Rule is analyzed by the Commission and its staff to determine whether DCOs are in compliance Commission regulations.
 - b. With respect to the SIDCO/Subpart C DCO Regulations, the information collection associated with these final regulations will be used by the Commission to determine whether a DCO that has elected to become subject to the Subpart C regulations meets the Subpart C standards that have been adopted in the final regulations. The information collection also is designed to be coordinated with various risk management practices (including governance, financial resource, liquidity, default, and recovery and wind-down practices) that are consistent with the goals of the Dodd-Frank Act and the PFMI. It will permit the Commission and its staff to review such practices, and to determine whether a SIDCO or Subpart C DCO is in compliance with the Commission's regulations.
3. Describe whether, and to what extent, the collection of information involves the use of automated, electronic, mechanical, or other technological collection techniques or other forms of information technology, e.g. permitting electronic submission of responses, and the basis for the decision for adopting this means of collection. Also describe any consideration of using information technology to reduce burden.
- a. With respect to the DCO Final Rule, the required information may be filed electronically.
 - b. With respect to the SIDCO/Subpart C DCO Regulations, the reporting requirements may be effected electronically, and the recordkeeping may be maintained in the same manner.
4. Describe efforts to identify duplication. Show specifically why any similar information already available cannot be used or modified for use for the purposes described in Item 2 above.
- The required information with respect both to the DCO Final Rule and the SIDCO/Subpart C DCO Regulations is not already collected by the Commission for any other purpose, collected by any other agency, or available for public disclosure through any other source.
5. If the collection of information involves small business or other small entities (Item 5 of OMB From 83-I), describe the methods used to minimize burden.
- The required information with respect both to the DCO Final Rule and the SIDCO/Subpart C DCO Regulations does not involve any small businesses or other small entities.
6. Describe the consequence to the Federal Program or policy activities if the collection were conducted less frequently as well as any technical or legal obstacles to reducing burden.

- a. With respect to the DCO Final Rule, the CEA, as amended by the Dodd-Frank Act, requires a report to be submitted annually to the Commission. If the collection was conducted less frequently, it would not comport with the requirements of the CEA. In addition, the Commission requires an annual report to obtain timely information that is necessary to ensure that DCOs remain in compliance with Commission regulations.
- b. With respect to the SIDCO/Subpart C DCO Regulations, as noted above,⁹ Section 804 of the Dodd-Frank Act requires the Council to designate those FMUs that the Council determines are, or are likely to become, systemically important (meaning that a failure or disruption to the functioning of the FMU could create or increase the risk of significant liquidity or credit problems spreading among financial institutions or markets and, thereby threaten the stability of the U.S. financial system). Section 805 of the Dodd-Frank Act directs the Commission to consider relevant international standards and existing prudential requirements when prescribing risk management standards governing the operations related to payment, clearing, and settlement activities for FMUs that are: (a) designated as systemically important by the Council and (b) engaged in activities for which the Commission is the Supervisory Agency. Two of the FMUs that have been designated as systemically important under Title VIII of the Dodd-Frank Act are CFTC-registered DCOs for which the Commission is the Supervisory Agency. In addition, Section 752 of the Dodd-Frank Act, directs the Commission to consult and coordinate with foreign regulatory authorities on the establishment of consistent international standards with respect to the regulation of, among other things, swaps, futures, and options transactions.

If the collections contained in the final SIDCO/Subpart C DCO Regulations were conducted less frequently, the implementation of regulations consistent with these provisions of the Dodd-Frank Act and relevant international standards would be undermined, as would the ability of the Commission to ensure that SIDCOs and Subpart C DCOs are in compliance with Commission regulations and have established appropriate risk management practices.

7. Explain any special circumstances that require the collection to be conducted in a manner:

- requiring respondents to report information to the agency more often than quarterly:

- a. The DCO Final Rule requires DCOs to report information to the Commission on an annual basis, but would allow the Commission to collect information at other times as necessary. This provision is designed to address the need for the Commission to ensure that DCOs remain in compliance with Commission regulations.
- b. The SIDCO/Subpart C DCO Regulations do not require DCOs to report information to the Commission more frequently than quarterly. Many of the requirements are one-time events, particularly those related to a DCO opting-into compliance with the Subpart C regulations (e.g., requirements involving the preparation and filing of a Subpart C Election Form).

- requiring respondents to prepare a written response to a collection of information in fewer than 30 days after receipt of it:

With respect to the DCO Final Rule and the SIDCO/Subpart C DCO Regulations, in order for the Commission to assess adequately whether a DCO is in compliance with the Commission regulations, a DCO might be required to prepare a written response to a collection of information in fewer than 30 days, depending on the exigency of the situation. Prompt attention may be particularly important with respect to SIDCOs, in light of the potential impact that a SIDCO's failure could have on the U.S. financial system.

- requiring respondents to submit more than an original and two copies of any document;

With respect both to the DCO Final Rule and SIDCO/Subpart C DCO Regulations, DCOs are required to submit only single copies of documents.

- requiring respondents to retain records other than health, medical, government contract, grant-in-aid, or tax records, for more than three years;

The CEA explicitly requires record retention by DCOs for more than three years. A DCO is required by core principle K to maintain records of all activities related to its business as a DCO in a form and manner that is acceptable to the Commission for a period of not less than 5 years. This is applicable both the DCO Final Rule and SIDCO/Subpart C DCO Regulations.

- in connection with a statistical survey, that is not designed to produce valid and reliable results that can be generalized to the universe of study;

No statistical surveys are involved in either the DCO Final Rule or the SIDCO/Subpart C DCO Regulations.

- requiring the use of a statistical data classification that has not been reviewed and approved by OMB;

Neither the requirements of the DCO Final Rule nor the requirements of the SIDCO/Subpart C Regulations involve the use of statistical data classification.

- that includes a pledge of confidentiality that is not supported by authority established in statute or regulation, that is not supported by disclosure and data security policies that are consistent with the pledge, or which unnecessarily impedes sharing of data with other agencies for compatible confidential use; or

The Commission and its staff do not make unsupportable pledges of confidentiality in any circumstance.

- requiring respondents to submit proprietary trade secrets, or other confidential information unless the agency can demonstrate that it has instituted procedures to protect the information's confidentiality to the extent permitted by law.

The Commission has procedures to protect the confidentiality of an applicant's or registrant's data. These are set forth in the Commission's regulations at parts 145 and 147 of title 17 of the Code of Federal Regulations.

8. If applicable, provide a copy and identify the date and page number of publication in the Federal Register of the agency's notice required by 5 C.F.R. 1320.8(d), soliciting comments on the information collection prior to submission to OMB. Summarize public comments received in response to that notice and describe actions taken by the agency in response to these comments. Specifically address comments received on cost and hour burden.

With respect both to the DCO Final Rule and SIDCO/Subpart C DCO Regulations, a copy of the Federal Register notice soliciting comments on this collection (82 Fed. Reg. 24688, May 30, 2017) is attached. The Commission received no comments.

Describe efforts to consult with persons outside the agency to obtain their views on the availability of data, frequency of collection, the clarity of instructions and recordkeeping disclosure, or reporting format (if any), and on the data elements to be recorded, disclosed, or reported.

With respect to the DCO Final Rule and SIDCO/Subpart C DCO Regulations, as set forth above, the Commission affirmatively sought comments on the extension of information collection requirements described herein.

Consultation with representatives of those from whom information is to be obtained or those who must compile records should occur at least once every three years—even if the collection of information activity is the same as in prior periods. There may be circumstances that may preclude consultation in a specific situation. These circumstances should be explained.

No such circumstances are anticipated.

9. Explain any decision to provide any payment or gift to respondents, other than remuneration of contractors or grantees.

This question does not apply.

10. Describe any assurance of confidentiality provided to respondents and the basis for the assurance in statute, regulations, or agency policy.

The Commission does not provide respondents with an assurance of confidentiality. The Commission fully complies with section 8(a)(1) of the Commodity Exchange Act, which strictly prohibits the Commission, unless specifically authorized by the Commodity Exchange Act, from making public “data and information that would separately disclose the business transactions or market positions of any person and trade secrets or names of customers.” The Commission has procedures to protect the confidentiality of an applicant’s or registrant’s data. These are set forth in the Commission’s regulations at parts 145 and 147 of title 17 of the Code of Federal Regulations.

11. Provide additional justification for any questions of a sensitive nature, such as sexual behavior and attitudes, religious beliefs, and other matters that are commonly considered private. This justification should include the reasons why the agency considers the questions necessary, the specific uses to be made of the information, the explanation to be given to persons from whom the information is requested, and any steps to be taken to obtain their consent.

This question does not apply. None of the required information is sensitive, as that term is used in Question 11.

12. Provide estimates of the hour burden of the collection of information. The Statement should:

- Indicate the number of respondents, frequency of response, annual hour burden and an explanation of how the burden was estimated. Unless directed to do so, agencies should not conduct special surveys to obtain information on which to base hour burden estimates. Consultation with a sample (fewer than ten) of potential respondents is desirable. If the hour burden on respondents is expected to vary widely because of differences in activity, size or complexity, show the range of estimated hour burden, and explain the reasons for the variance. Generally, estimates should not include burden hours for customary and usual business practices.
- If the request for approval covers more than one form, provide separate hour burden estimates for each form and aggregate the hour burdens in Item 13 of OMB Form 83-I.
- Provide estimates of annualized cost to respondents for the hours burdens for collections of information, identifying and using appropriate wage rate categories. The cost of contracting out or paying outside parties for information collection activities should not be included here. Instead, this cost should be included in Item 13.

See Attachment A.

In addition to other research, Commission staff discussed the costs associated with the annual report required in the Section 725(b) Regulations with the CCO of a DCO. The estimates related to the information collection in the SIDCO/Subpart C DCO Regulations are based on the experience of the Commission and its staff with DCOs engaged in related practices since the DCO core principles were first enacted in 2000, and also are provided in Attachment A.

13. Provide an estimate of the total annual cost burden to respondents or record keepers resulting from the collection of information. (Do not include the cost of any hour burden shown in Items 12 and 14).

- The cost estimate should be split into two components; (a) a total capital and start-up cost component (annualized over its expected useful life) and (b) a total operation and maintenance and purchase of services component. The estimates should take into account costs associated with generating, maintaining, and disclosing or providing the information. Include descriptions of methods used to estimate major costs factors including system and technology acquisition, expected useful life of capital equipment, the discount rate(s), and the time period over which costs will be incurred. Capital and start-up costs include, among other items, preparations for collecting information such as purchasing computers and software, monitoring, sampling, drilling and testing equipment, and record storage facilities.
- If cost estimates are expected to vary widely, agencies should present ranges of cost burdens and explain the reasons for the variance. The cost of purchasing or contracting out information collection services should be a part of this cost burden estimate, agencies may consult with a sample of respondents (fewer than ten), utilize the 60-day pre-OMB submission public comment process and use existing economic or regulatory impact analysis associated with the rulemaking containing the information collection, as appropriate.
- Generally, estimates should not include purchases of equipment or services, or portions thereof, made: (1) prior to October 1, 1995, (2) to achieve regulatory compliance with requirements not associated with the information collection, (3) for reasons other than to provide information or keep records for the government or (4) as part of customary and usual business or private practices.

No new start-up or operations and maintenance costs are involved. See Attachment B. The costs associated with the the DCO Final Rule and the SIDCO/Subpart C DCO Regulations are provided in the responses to questions 12 and 14.

14. Provide estimates of the annualized costs to the Federal Government. Also provide a description of the method used to estimate cost, which should include quantification of hours, operational expenses (such as equipment, overhead, printing and support staff), and any other expense that would not have been incurred without this collection of information. Agencies may also aggregate cost estimates from Items 12, 13, and 14 in a single table.

- a. The estimate of the cost to the government per respondent is about $464 per year with respect to the collection contained in the the DCO Final Rule. This is primarily salaries and benefits for staff to analyze the information received, as follows: one full time equivalent reviewing, for 8 hours each, twelve annuals report at an average salary of $58 per hour.
 - b. The same formula generally will apply to the collection contained in the SIDCO/Subpart C DCO Regulations. The primary cost to the federal government will be the salaries and benefits for staff to process the Subpart C Election Forms received; periodically review reports, disclosures, and records for compliance with the CEA and these implementing regulations; and perform risk analyses with respect to a SIDCO or Subpart C DCO based upon the various safeguards contained in the regulations. It is anticipated that these costs will translate into 10 Commission employees, who will spend approximately 10% of their time performing these tasks. At an estimated combined salary and benefit cost of $75 per hour per employee, the costs to the government will be approximately $156,000.¹⁰
15. Explain the reasons for any program changes or adjustments reported in Items 13 or 14 of the OMB Form 83-I.
- No new start-up or operations and maintenance costs are involved.
16. For collection of information whose results are planned to be published for statistical use, outline plans for tabulation, statistical analysis, and publication. Provide the time schedule for the entire project, including beginning and ending dates of the collection of information, completion of report, publication dates, and other actions.
- This question does not apply.
17. If seeking approval to not display the expiration date for OMB approval of the information collection, explain the reasons that display would be inappropriate.
- This question does not apply.
18. Explain each exception to the certification statement identified in Item 19, "Certification for Paperwork Reduction Act Submissions," of OMB Form 83-I.
- This question does not apply.

¹⁰ 10 employees x [.10 x 2,080 hours per year] x $75.00 per hours = $156,000.
