

TITLE OF INFORMATION COLLECTION:

Pretesting Survey on Usage and Functionality of Smoke Alarms and Carbon Monoxide Alarms in Households Through the Use of Cognitive Interviews

PURPOSE:

The purpose of this study is to test a survey instrument and its accompanying communication materials for an upcoming study being conducted by the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC). CPSC has contracted EurekaFacts to conduct a nationwide assessment of the functionality of residential smoke and carbon monoxide (CO) alarms, as well as resident use and knowledge of smoke and CO alarms. This will require EurekaFacts to administer a nationwide survey (Appendix C, Volume II) on the usage and functionality of smoke alarms and carbon monoxide alarms in households (will be submitted for a separate OMB review). Results of the survey will inform CPSC recommendations to state/local jurisdictions related to codes, standards, and/or regulations of smoke and CO alarms and improve communication regarding the proper installation and maintenance of smoke and CO alarms for the general public. Before administering the survey, EurekaFacts is seeking OMB approval to test the instrument on a set of respondents through cognitive interviews.

The information gathered during this phase of the study will be used to revise the CPSC survey on the usage and functionality of smoke alarms and carbon monoxide alarms in households and its accompanying communication materials. Before administering the survey instrument, it is customary to check whether the communication materials and survey instrument are clear and understandable. After completing the questionnaire design, EurekaFacts plans to conduct testing sessions, referred to as cognitive interviewing, to ascertain the clarity and understandability of the survey and communication materials. The objective of cognitive interviewing is to provide an in-depth exploration of how respondents interpret and understand designed questions, response options, and concepts included in the survey to ensure that the survey measures intended constructs. The results of the cognitive interviewing will ensure that any questions that are misunderstood by respondents or that are difficult to answer are clarified before fielding the survey, and thus, increase the overall quality of survey data and the accuracy of the study results.

DESCRIPTION OF RESPONDENTS:

The recruitment objective is to identify 18 participants who will be willing to provide insight regarding their opinions and perceptions of a survey instrument and accompanying communication materials designed specifically for a future study. Eligible participants will include individuals who are 18 years or older and are considered head of the household. The main audiences will include: individuals who report having a smoke alarm that is not connected to a central alarm that may notify the police or fire department (Appendix A, Volume II), and individuals who do not have a smoke alarm installed (Appendix B, Volume II), or, if they do, their smoke alarm is connected to a central alarm. The contractor conducting the study will send e-mails (Appendices A – C, Volume I) to past study participants who may be or may know of eligible participants. Recruitment materials can be found in volume I.

Gifts or Payments:

Is an incentive (e.g., money or reimbursement of expenses, token of appreciation) provided to participants? [X - $50] Yes [] No

BURDEN HOURS

Category of Respondent	No. of Respondents	Participation Time	Burden
Cognitive Interview Participants	18	1.5 hrs.	27 hours
Totals	18		27 hours

FEDERAL COST: The estimated annual cost to the federal government is $8,336.00.

Total estimated cost to the government for conducting the data collection is as follows:

Number of Participants	18
Total estimated cost of conducting the evaluation session	$8,336.00
Cost per completed Participant	$463.11

The estimate is based on the total cost of the awarded research contract, divided by the specified number of completed participants.

IF SENT AS E-MAIL - Subject: Invitation to Participate in a CPSC Research Study

Dear <insert name>,

I am contacting you from EurekaFacts, LLC, a market research company in Rockville, MD. We are conducting an important research study for the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC).

Soon, we will begin a survey for CPSC about smoke and carbon monoxide alarms in people's homes. We are looking for people to participate in a confidential interview session to test questions that will be part of that survey. The purpose of the interview is to help us make sure that the questions we plan to ask in this survey are clear and understandable.

If you agree to participate, your interview session would take place at EurekaFacts, in downtown Rockville, and will last no more than 90 minutes. The interview session can be scheduled at your convenience. You will receive a $50 gift card in appreciation for your participation.

If you are interested in participating in this study, please <fill out an intake form at: <LINK>, or> call/email: <CONTACT PHONE>/<CONTACT EMAIL>. We look forward to communicating with you soon!

Thank you,

Appendix F: Cognitive Interview Consent Form

For Participation in Cognitive Interviewing
Study Name: U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) Survey on Usage and Functionality of Smoke Alarms and Carbon Monoxide Alarms in Households

EurekaFacts, LLC

About the study

Thank you for your interest in participating in the Smoke and Carbon Monoxide (CO) Alarms Survey. This consent form explains this research study. EurekaFacts developed a nationwide survey for the CPSC on household safety. The survey is very important and will help the CPSC improve the safety of U.S. homes. The purpose of this interview is to help ensure that the questions we ask in the survey are clear and understandable.

Research session

The interview should take no more than 90 minutes. During the interview, you will receive a printed copy of survey questions that you will be asked to answer verbally. The interviewer will ask open-ended questions to follow-up on why you selected each answer. Questions will focus on your understanding of the questions. You will also be asked whether you have any suggestions on how we might improve the questions.

Confidentiality

You will be assigned a unique identification number (ID), and your name will not be linked to your answers or comments. Your responses will be used for research purposes only, and will not be disclosed or used in identifiable form. The sessions will be audio-recorded and the recordings will be used only by the researchers conducting the study. No one else will hear the recordings. Project researchers may also observe the interview.

Potential risks

This research does not involve any foreseeable risks.

Voluntary participation

Your participation in this research study is completely voluntary. You may stop at any time, and you do not have to answer any questions you do not wish to answer.

By signing below, you agree to participate in this research study, and acknowledge that you have read and understood the information provided above. You will receive $50 after the interview in appreciation for your participation. We thank you for your voluntary participation, and ask you to sign the form below.

However, the interview will require a flexible probing approach, with the selection of relevant probes or modifications to the suggested probe formulations, depending on the participant's think-aloud responses and answers to the survey items.*

Introduction:

Hello, my name is _____, and I work for EurekaFacts. It's nice to meet you. I would like to thank you very much for helping us out today.

Let me begin by explaining our goal and what you are going to be doing. We will soon be conducting a nationwide survey on household safety. The survey is very important and will help the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission or CPSC, to improve the safety of U.S. homes. Before we give out the survey, we would like feedback from participants regarding the survey questions and accompanying communication materials. The purpose of today's interview is to help us make sure that the questions we will be asking other household residents, and the accompanying communication materials, as part of a nationwide household safety survey, are clear and understandable.

To help us make the survey better, I am going to ask you to work on these questions in a way that may be different from what you are used to. Instead of going through the questions quietly, I want you to tell me what you are thinking as you are trying to figure out the answer to the questions. We call this "Thinking-aloud" because we would like you to say everything that you are thinking out loud as you answer the questions. Saying what you are thinking is extremely important to us because it will help us make sure that the questions we are asking are as clear and understandable as they can be. In a moment, I will give you an example of the think-aloud process. Then, I will give you a chance to practice it.

Before we begin, I want to reassure you that we will keep the information you give us confidential. The interview is for research purposes only, and none of the answers you provide will be shared with anyone other than our research team.

I will not be evaluating your answers, and no one will know that it was you who answered these questions. There is no right or wrong answer. The goal is to see whether the survey materials and questions are clear and understandable, and I need your help to do this.

If at any time you decide that you do not want to continue, that is your choice, and you may stop. This interview is being observed by my colleagues, who will be taking notes about your comments. Additionally, the interview will also be recorded, so that we can review the tapes later. No one else will hear your interview or review the tapes of your interview, except the researchers on this project.

We will work together for about 90 minutes.

Do you have any questions?

Okay, let's begin.

Think-Aloud Demonstration and Practice:

I'm now going to show you how to think out loud. When I am finished, you will get a chance to practice answering a question thinking aloud. Since we can't tell what is going on in your brain, and what you're thinking as we read these questions to you, we need you to "think aloud."

Let me give you an example (Demonstrate think-aloud with example 1).

The point of the think-aloud is not to describe what you are doing, or to tell me what you plan to do. Just say aloud whatever words and thoughts come into your head.

If I don't hear you speaking, I'll ask you to keep talking. I'm telling you this now, so you won't think I am criticizing the way you are working. I need to hear when you are confused, and determine what confuses you, and when you understand what you are reading or are being asked to do.

Now I want you to practice thinking aloud. I'm going to give you a simple survey item. First, I will read it out loud, and then I will listen for your response. Please try to think aloud as you figure out your answer. Remember to say out loud whatever you are thinking.

Example 1:

When you are hungry in the afternoon, which of the following choices would you consider buying from a vending machine? (Please check all that apply)

Chocolate Bar

Potato Chips

Granola Bar

Animal Crackers

Pretzels

Soda

Other _____ (Specify)

Example 2:

How many windows are in your home? _____

Next, I would like to show you some communication materials we will be using during the study. As part of the survey process, we will be sending out a letter to notify residents of the study. I have a draft of the letter right here.

[Place prenotification letter (ITEM A) in front of respondent]

Could you please take a moment and read this letter?	In your own words, can you tell me what you think this letter is saying? <hr/> <hr/> <hr/>
Although this is not a survey question, we'd still like to hear your thoughts.	Was there anything about this letter that you found difficult to understand or was not clear? Were there any words you didn't understand? <hr/> <hr/>

ITEM B

INTRODUCTION

Hello, my name is [NAME] from EurekaFacts, a survey research company in Rockville, MD. EurekaFacts, on behalf of the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC), is conducting an important nationwide survey on household fire and carbon monoxide safety. The survey will help CPSC improve home safety and save lives. Your experiences and thoughts on the topic are extremely valuable to this effort.

May I speak with _____?

The purpose of this survey is to gather information about the functionality of smoke and carbon monoxide (CO) alarms in homes in the United States. If your home does not have any smoke or CO alarms, we are still interested in conducting the survey. Findings from this research will help CPSC improve home safety. The interview will last no more than [Survey Length], and if you qualify and complete the in-home interview, you will receive a $50 gift card from a major credit card company in appreciation for your participation.

Would you like to hear more about this study?

IF ELIGIBLE

Thank you for answering these questions. You are eligible to help with this important research effort.

The purpose of this survey is to gather information about the functionality of smoke and carbon monoxide (CO) alarms in homes in the United States. Findings from this research will help CPSC improve home safety.

This study will require a two-member survey team to visit your home to ask you a series of questions about household fire and carbon monoxide safety and then test your smoke and carbon monoxide alarms to see if they are working properly. The interview will last no more than [Survey Length]. In appreciation for your participation, we will provide you with a $50 gift card from a major credit card company. If any of your alarms don't work, we will offer to replace them free of charge.

The interview is for research purposes only, and none of the answers you provide will be shared with or used by anyone else.

When the survey team arrives at your residence, a team member will read from a script to inform you of the reason for the visit that day. Again, we'd like your assistance in making sure survey script is clear and understandable. Therefore, I am going to read the script to you now, and when I am finished, I will follow up with some questions regarding the script. Are you ready?

[Read script (ITEM C) to respondent]

	Based on what I said, what do you think will happen during this study? <hr/> <hr/> <hr/> Was there anything about what I said that you found difficult to understand or was unclear? Were there any words you didn't understand? <hr/> <hr/> Record problematic words: <hr/> <hr/> Was there anything mentioned in this item that may not have been discussed in the previous communication items shared with you? [If yes, probe] <hr/> <hr/> <hr/>

Thank you, those are all of the communication items we have for you. Now we will go on to some of the survey questions.

ITEM C

“We are asking people in your community a few questions about their smoke and carbon monoxide alarms, and doing some simple tests to make sure the alarms work properly. If the batteries in your alarm need to be replaced, we have new batteries to give you, free of charge. Additionally, if any of your alarms do not work, we have new ones to replace them, again, free of charge. As you probably know, properly operating smoke alarms can help protect you and your family if there’s a fire. Additionally, properly operating carbon monoxide alarms can help protect you from carbon monoxide poisoning. We would like to collect any alarms that don’t work and send them to the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission’s lab to find out why they don’t work. This interview will take up to 60 minutes, and at the end of the interview, we will provide you with a $50 gift card in appreciation for your participation.”

[Question 4a - Version 1]

4a. Do you have any smoke alarms in your home? When considering whether you do, please do not include any uninhabited outbuildings or apartment hallways.

- Yes
- No
- Don't know

Q4: As we work together, I will be reading each question aloud, and recording your responses along with any think-aloud comments. Once you are finished answering the question, I'll follow up with some questions that will help us know whether the questions are clear and understandable. <hr/> OK, please listen as I read this question, and then tell me your response. Remember to think-aloud when providing your response.	In your own words, can you tell me what you think this question was asking? <hr/> <hr/> Was there anything about this question that you found difficult to understand or unclear? Were there any words you didn't understand? <hr/> <hr/> IF R SELECTS "DON'T KNOW" I noticed you selected Don't Know, in response to this question. How do you think we could word the question or describe the alarm in a way that would assist people with identifying whether there is an alarm in the home? <hr/> <hr/> [Show question to respondent] In this question, what does the term "smoke alarm" [point to term] mean to you? <hr/> <hr/> IF NEEDED, FOLLOW UP: Is there another term you would use for "smoke alarm," in this context? <hr/> <hr/> Tell me what you were thinking when I asked about "uninhabited outbuildings or apartment hallways." [point to item] <hr/> <hr/> IF NEEDED, FOLLOW UP: Could you provide an example? <hr/> <hr/>

How would you know if your smoke alarm is connected to a central alarm or security system?

[Read the alternative version of the item to the participant, and ask them the following]:

Looking at both versions, do you find one of these two questions easier to answer? If so, which one, and why?

Version 1 Version 2 Same

Does the explanation in this version [point to version 2] help you with understanding the question? Would you have answered the question differently if the question was included initially?

[Question 4b – Version 1]

4b. Are any of your smoke alarms connected to a central alarm or security system that notifies the police or fire department?

- Yes
- No
- Don't Know

[Question 4b – Version 2]

4b. Are any of your smoke alarms connected to a central alarm or security system that notifies the police or fire department? What we mean by this is, if the smoke alarm detected smoke, would it automatically notify the police or fire department?

- Yes
- No
- Don't Know

4c. Has the police or fire department ever arrived at your residence for a fire- or smoke-related incident and informed you that they are responding to a notification they received from a central alarm or security system?

- Yes
- No
- Never had a fire or smoke-related incident

4d. On a scale of 1 to 5, where 1 is “Not at All Safe,” and 5 is “Extremely Safe,” to what extent do you believe your home is safe with your current smoke alarms?

1 2 3 4 5 DK RF

The protocol provides a list of suggested probes to ask and guidelines on which survey items need to be tested. However, the interview will require a flexible probing approach, with the selection of relevant probes or modifications to the listed probe formulations, depending on the participant's think-aloud responses and answers to the survey items.*

Introduction:

Hello, my name is _____, and I work for EurekaFacts. It's nice to meet you. Thank you very much for helping us out today.

Let me begin by explaining our goal and what you are going to be doing. We will soon be conducting a nationwide survey on household safety. The survey is very important and will help the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC), improve the safety of U.S. homes. Before we give out the survey, we would like feedback on the survey questions and accompanying communication materials from you. The purpose of today's interview is to help us make sure that the questions we will be asking other household residents and the accompanying communication materials, as part of a nationwide household safety survey, are clear and understandable.

To help us make the survey better, I am going to ask you to work on these questions in a way that may be different from what you are used to. Instead of going through the questions quietly, I want you to tell me what you are thinking as you are trying to figure out the answer to the questions. We call this "thinking-aloud" because we would like you to say everything that you are thinking out loud as you answer the questions. Saying what you are thinking is extremely important to us because it will help us make sure that the questions we are asking are as clear and understandable as they can be. In a moment, I will give you an example of the think-aloud process. Then, I will give you a chance to practice it.

Before we begin, I want to reassure you that we will keep the information you give us confidential. The interview is for research purposes only, and none of the answers you provide will be shared with anyone other than our research team.

I will not be evaluating your answers, and no one will know that it was you who answered these questions. There is no right or wrong answer. The goal is to see whether the survey materials and questions are clear and understandable, and I need your help to do this.

If at any time you decide you do not want to go on, that is your choice, and you may stop.

This interview is being observed by my colleagues, who will be taking notes about your comments. In addition, the interview will also be recorded, so we can review the tapes later. No one else will hear or review the tapes, except for the researchers on this project.

We will work together for about 90 minutes.

Do you have any questions?

Okay, let's begin.

Think-Aloud Demonstration and Practice:

I'm now going to show you how to think out loud. When I am finished, you will get a chance to practice answering a question thinking aloud. Since we can't tell what is going on in your brain and what you're thinking as we read these questions to you, we need you to "think aloud."

Let me give you an example (Demonstrate think-aloud with example 1).

The point of the think-aloud is not to describe what you are doing or to tell me what you plan to do. Just say aloud whatever words and thoughts come into your head.

If I don't hear you speaking, I'll ask you to keep talking. I'm telling you that now so you won't think I am criticizing the way you are working. I need to hear when you are confused, and determine what is confusing you, and when you understand what you are reading or are being asked to do.

Now you will do a think-aloud practice. I'm going to give you a simple survey item. First, I will read it out loud, and then I will listen for your response. Please try to think aloud as you figure out your answer. Remember to say out loud whatever you are thinking.

Example 1:

When you are hungry in the afternoon, which of the following choices would you consider buying from a vending machine? (Please check all that apply)

Chocolate Bar

Potato Chips

Granola Bar

Animal Crackers

Pretzels

Soda

Other _____ (Specify)

Example 2:

How many windows are in your home? _____

Next, I would like to show you some communication materials we will be using during his study. As part of the survey process, we will be sending out a pre-notification letter to tell residents about the study. I have a draft of the letter here.

[Place prenotification letter (ITEM A) in front of respondent]

Could you please take a moment and read this letter?	In your own words, can you tell me what you think this letter is saying? <hr/> <hr/> <hr/>
Although this is not a survey question, we'd still like to hear your thoughts.	Was there anything about this letter that you found difficult to understand or unclear? Were there any words you didn't understand? <hr/> <hr/>
Remember to think aloud as you read this letter. Let me know when you are finished.	Record problematic words: <hr/> <hr/>

Dear <insert name>,

The U. S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) has asked EurekaFacts, a survey research company, to conduct a nationwide survey about household fire and carbon monoxide (CO) safety. The survey is very important and will help the CPSC improve home safety and save lives.

We would like to ask you to support this initiative by completing the survey. In the coming weeks, you may receive a phone call from EurekaFacts, from the number <NUMBER>, asking you to take part in a brief in-home interview. Please take a few minutes to respond and find out more about this study. Your experiences and thoughts on the topic are extremely valuable for this effort.

You've been specifically chosen as someone from whom we'd like to hear. Your household was selected at random from a list of households across the country that represent different regions and types of homes. Participation in this survey is voluntary and your responses will be maintained confidential and anonymous. If your home is selected for a visit you will be eligible to receive a $50 gift card (from a major credit card company).

If you are interested in participating in this study, please go to the website <INTAKE WEB ADDRESS> and enter your unique ID: [abc123]

Or you can call EurekaFacts at the toll-free-number <NUMBER>. To learn more about this study, please visit <WEBSITE>.

Thank you for your willingness to participate in this important survey.

Sincerely,

EurekaFacts, LLC on behalf of the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission

I have another item I would like to share with you. Before scheduling the interview, members from our call center will telephone potential participants. During this call, the call center representatives will read from a script, which will explain the study. We'd like your assistance in making sure that this script is clear and understandable. I am going to read the script to you now, and when I am finished, I will follow up with some questions regarding the script. Are you ready?

[Read script (ITEM B) to respondent]

Great. That is all the communication items we have for you. Now we will go on to some of the survey questions.

ITEM B

INTRODUCTION

Hello, my name is [NAME] from EurekaFacts, a survey research company in Rockville, MD. EurekaFacts, on behalf of the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC), is conducting an important nationwide survey on household fire and carbon monoxide safety. The survey will help CPSC improve home safety and save lives. Your experiences and thoughts on the topic are extremely valuable for this effort.

May I speak with _____?

The purpose of this survey is to gather information about the functionality of smoke and carbon monoxide (CO) alarms in homes in the United States. If your home does not have any smoke or CO alarms, we are still interested in conducting the survey. Findings from this research will help CPSC with improving home safety. The interview will last no more than [Survey Length], and if you qualify and complete the in-home interview you will receive a $50 gift card from a major credit card company in appreciation for your participation.

Would you like to hear more about this study?

IF ELIGIBLE

Thank you for answering these questions. You are eligible for the telephone survey.

We are talking with residents about household fire and carbon monoxide safety. The interview will last no more than [Survey Length], and can be done over the phone. In appreciation for your participation, we will mail you a $25 gift card from a major credit card company.

Your responses to this survey will be kept completely confidential and your information will not be shared with anyone other than the EurekaFacts researcher team. Any information provided to the CPSC will be reported as group data with no identifying information.

[Question 4a - Version 1]

4a. Do you have any smoke alarms in your home? When considering whether you do, please do not include any uninhabited outbuildings or apartment hallways.

- Yes
- No
- Don't know

Q4: As we work together, I will be reading each question aloud, and record your response along with any think-aloud comments Once you are finished answering the question, I'll follow up with some questions that will help us know whether the questions are clear and understandable. <hr/> OK, please listen as I read this question, and then tell me your response. Remember to think-aloud when providing your response.	In your own words, can you tell me what you think this question was asking? <hr/> <hr/> Was there anything about this question that you found difficult to understand or unclear? Were there any words you didn't understand? <hr/> <hr/> IF R SELECTS DON'T KNOW I noticed you selected Don't Know, in response to this question. How do you think we could word the question or describe the alarm in a way that would assist you with determining whether there is an alarm in the home? <hr/> <hr/> [Show question to respondent] In this question, what does the term "smoke alarm" [point to term] mean to you? <hr/> <hr/> IF NEEDED, FOLLOW UP: Is there another term you would use for "smoke alarm," in this context? <hr/> <hr/> Tell me what you were thinking when I asked about "uninhabited outbuildings or apartment hallways." [point to item] <hr/> <hr/> IF NEEDED, FOLLOW UP: Could you provide an example? <hr/> <hr/>

[Read the alternative version of the item to the participant and ask them the following]:

After hearing both versions: Do you find one of these two questions easier to answer? If so, which one and why?

Version 1 Version 2 Same

Which term is more familiar to you, “smoke alarm” or “smoke detector”?

Alarm Detector Neither

Do you think there is a difference between an “alarm” and a “detector”?
FOLLOW UP: How do you think they are (the same or different)?

[Question 4a - Version 1]

4a. Do you have any smoke alarms in your home? When considering whether you do, please do not include any uninhabited outbuildings or apartment hallways.

- Yes
- No
- Don't know

[Question 4a - Version 2]

4a. Do you have any smoke detectors in your home? When considering whether you do, please do not include any uninhabited outbuildings or apartment hallways.

- Yes
- No
- Don't know

[Question 4b – Version 1]

4b. Are any of your smoke alarms connected to a central alarm or security system that notifies the police or fire department?

- Yes
- No
- Don't Know

Q 4b: Please listen as I read the question, and then tell me your response. Remember to think aloud when providing your response.	In your own words, can you tell me what you think this question was asking? <hr/> <hr/> Was there anything about this question that you found difficult to understand or was not clear? central alarm or security system, or are you unfamiliar with what is central alarm or security system is?

How might someone know that their smoke alarm is connected to a central alarm or security system?

[Read the alternative version of the item to the participant and ask them the following]:

Looking at both versions, do you find one of these two questions easier to answer? If so, which one and why?

Version 1 Version 2 Same

Does the explanation in this version [point to version 2] help you with understanding the question? Would you have answered the question differently if it were initially included?

[Question 4b – Version 1]

4b. Are any of your smoke alarms connected to a central alarm or security system that notifies the police or fire department?

- Yes
- No
- Don't Know

[Question 4b – Version 2]

4b. Are any of your smoke alarms connected to a central alarm or security system that notifies the police or fire department? What we mean by this is, if the smoke alarm detected smoke, it would automatically notify the police or fire department.

- Yes
- No
- Don't Know

4c. Has the police or fire department ever arrived at your residence for a fire- or smoke-related incident and informed you that they are responding to a notification they received from a central alarm or security system?

- Yes
- No
- Never had a fire or smoke-related incident

4d. On a scale of 1 to 5, where 1 is “Not at All Safe,” and 5 is “Extremely Safe,” to what extent do you believe your home is safe with the current smoke alarms?

1 2 3 4 5 DK RF

Q4c - 4d: Please listen as I read these questions, and then tell me your response after each question. Remember to think aloud when providing your responses. [After Q 4c, read Q 4c probes] [After Q 4d, read Q 4d probes]	Question 4c In your own words, can you tell me what you think this question was asking? <hr/> <hr/> Was there anything about this question that you found difficult to understand or unclear? INTERVIEWERS, PLEASE NOTE:

Ask respondent to answer the questions that may not apply. Some questions may not apply. Although the item may not apply, we are still interested in understanding whether the question and its response options are clear and understandable. Additionally, we would like to see whether the response options are inclusive, and mutually exclusive.

Q 9a – 9c: Please listen as I read these questions, and then tell me your response after each question.

Remember to think aloud when providing your response.

[After Q 9a, read Q 9a probes]

[After Q 9b, read Q 9b probes]

[After Q 9c, read Q 9c probes]

Question 9a

In your own words, can you tell me what you think this question was asking?

IF NEEDED: Could you please tell me what you were thinking when I asked about “attached garage.”

Question 9b

In your own words, can you tell me what you think this question was asking?

Was there anything about this question that you found difficult to understand or unclear? Were there any words you didn’t understand?

Record problematic words:

[Show question to respondent]

Did all of the options make sense to you in this question?

For this question, can you think of any other purposes that should be provided in this list?

IF R SELECTS ONLY ONE RESPONSE ASK: Is that all?

PROBE: For what reasons did you select only one response?

Question 9c

In your own words, can you tell me what you think this question was asking?

Was there anything about this question that you found difficult to understand or was not clear? Were there any words you didn't understand?

Record problematic words:

Introduction to get into apartment building

The following script is to be read if there is a front desk concierge. If there is no front desk concierge present, skip script, and proceed to appointment.

“Hello. We are with EurekaFacts, an independent research firm, conducting research on behalf of the Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC).”

Show them your EurekaFacts-provided identification and credentials.

“Part of our research requires us to interview a resident of this building. We spoke with the property manager before coming here.”

1b. Do we have permission to enter the building?

- Yes (PROCEED TO RESIDENCE)
 No (SKIP TO Q3a)

If refused entry, say thank you, and terminate.

B. SURVEY INFORMATION

Suggested Preamble to get in the door--surveyors can alter, as applicable):

“Hello. I am a firefighter/Red Cross volunteer [First and Last Name] from [your [XYZ] fire department/ [Organization], and this is [First and Last Name] from an independent research firm, EurekaFacts.”

Show them fire department or American Red Cross credentials, preferably not a badge. Have copies of letters endorsing the survey from the local fire department, CPSC, and/or American Red Cross, if needed.

“We are conducting a nationwide survey on household safety for the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC). The survey is very important and will help the CPSC improve home safety. We called earlier and discussed this study with [Name] from this residence, and scheduled a visit for today.”

2a. Is [Name of respondent previously contacted] available to speak with us?

- Yes (CONTINUE WITH PREAMBLE)
 No

2b. Is there another person available we may speak with, who is 18 years or older, and may be considered one of the heads of the household?

- Yes
 No (TERMINATE)

If respondent is not available: When would be a good time to reach them?

Terminate: Thank you for speaking with us today. Unfortunately, we need to speak with an adult who can answer questions regarding the home. Have a nice day.

“We are asking people in your community a few questions about their smoke and carbon monoxide alarms, and we are doing some simple tests to make sure the alarms work properly. If the batteries in your alarm need to be replaced, we have new batteries to give out, free of charge. Additionally, if any of your alarms do not work, we have new ones to replace them, again free of charge. As you probably know, properly operating smoke alarms can help protect you and your family in the event of a fire. In addition, properly operating carbon monoxide alarms can help protect you in the event of carbon monoxide poisoning. We would like to collect any alarms that don’t work and send them to the Consumer Product Safety Commission’s lab to find out why they don’t work. This interview will take up to 60 minutes, and at the end of the interview, we will provide you with a $50 gift card in appreciation for your participation.

“Before we begin, we’d like for you to review a consent form with information about the study.”

Pull up the informed consent form, and hand the tablet to the respondent.

“This is the informed consent form. It explains the reason for our visit today. Could you please read this, and if you agree to allow this interview to proceed, please sign the bottom. Let me know if you have any questions.
