- Provide this organization’s mission statement or statement of purpose as well as a brief institutional history.

C. Narrative⁸ (not to exceed four single-spaced pages; no less than 12-point type)

The National Medals are designed to recognize outstanding libraries and museums that have made significant contributions in service to improve the wellbeing of their communities. This year, we are particularly interested in museum and library programs that build community cohesion and serve as a catalyst for positive community change, including services for veterans and military families, at-risk children and families, the un- and under-employed, and youth confronting barriers to STEM-related employment. Address questions 1-4 thoroughly and succinctly. The jurors considering the pool of potential medal recipients will focus carefully on your answers to these questions.

⁸ For organizations applying in the Digital Library category, please address:

- services to your community including services to other organizations and services to end users;
- access to resources;
- sustainability and preservation plans for the digital library;
- accessibility for people with disabilities (e.g., compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act).

1. Describe the community⁹ and the particular community needs addressed.
 - Quantify and describe the population groups/communities your organization is reaching through its programs, services, and/or partnerships.
 - What particular community needs do you address?
 - How did you identify these particular needs and work with the community to craft solutions?
 - How are these needs incorporated into your strategic plan?

2. Describe the programming your organization has developed for these particular community needs. (See section C.1.)
 - Please include a brief description of your full portfolio of services, even if you focus on a particular area of service.
 - How do you involve your community in the development of your programs?
 - How have these partnerships increased your ability to reach out to the targeted population groups and communities you serve?
 - Describe how you serve community members with special needs. Please address accessibility for people with disabilities.

3. Describe what impact your organization's programs and services have had on the identified community needs.
 - Do you conduct a formal evaluation of your programs? If so, what have you learned about meeting the needs of your audiences?
 - If you do not have a formal evaluation of programs, how do you measure success?
 - How have you used this information to plan future programs and services?

4. Describe your organization's financial situation.
 - List your organization's three primary sources of revenue. Do you have a sustainable funding model that will enable growth?
 - Describe any private or non-profit groups that support your mission and activities and the extent of their support.

D. Letters of Support (required - three maximum, submitted with the Nomination Form)

- These letters should come from community members who have direct knowledge of the organization's community service. We recommend that the letters come from different segments of the broader community served by the institution and from individuals who have either witnessed or experienced first-hand a particular program or service.
- Nomination letters from members of Congress are welcome and will not count against the three-letter maximum.
- Address letters to the Director of the Institute of Museum and Library Services and include them with this Nomination Form.

⁹ Academic and research libraries may interpret "community" as your campus community and/or local community.

Program Overview:

The National Medals are designed to recognize outstanding libraries and museums that have made significant contributions in service to improve the wellbeing of their communities. This year, we are particularly interested in museum and library programs that build community cohesion and serve as a catalyst for positive community change, including services for veterans and military families, at-risk children and families, the un- and under-employed, and youth confronting barriers to STEM-related employment.

Selected institutions demonstrate extraordinary approaches to serving their constituents; they exceed expected levels of community outreach. These organizations have established themselves as community anchor institutions. Recipient institutions are honored at an awards ceremony that is held in Washington, DC.

Nominations should describe the:

- population served and community needs;
- institution's programs, services, and partnerships;
- impact and evaluation of programs; and
- financial sustainability.

How are the recipients of the National Medal selected?

The Director of the Institute of Museum and Library Services, with the advice of the Museum and Library Services Board, selects the recipients of the National Medals. In addition to the Medal, IMLS may grant a monetary award.

When are the recipients of the National Medal announced?

The recipients of the National Medals are usually announced in the spring on the IMLS website and through a press release.

Who is eligible for a National Medal?

For museums:

- Aquariums, Arboretums/Botanical Gardens, Art Museums, Children's/Youth Museums, General Museums, Historic Houses/Sites, History Museums, Natural History/Anthropology Museums,

Nature Centers, Planetariums, Science/Technology Museums, Specialized Museums, and Zoos may be nominated for the National Medal for Museum Service if they: are either a unit of State or local government or a private nonprofit organization that has tax-exempt status under the Internal Revenue Code;

- are located in one of the 50 States of the United States of America, the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the U.S. Virgin Islands, Guam, American Samoa, the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, the Republic of the Marshall Islands, the Federated States of Micronesia, or the Republic of Palau; and
- qualify as a museum that, using a professional staff, is organized on a permanent basis for essentially educational or aesthetic purposes; owns or uses tangible objects, either animate or inanimate; cares for these objects; and exhibits these objects to the general public on a regular basis through facilities that it owns or operates.

A public or private nonprofit agency which is responsible for the operation of a museum may apply on behalf of the museum.

Previous library of museum medal recipients may reapply after ten years.

For libraries:

- Academic and Research Libraries/Archives, Digital Libraries, Library Associations, Library Consortia, Public Libraries, Research Libraries/Archives that make information available to the public and that are not an integral part of an institution of higher learning, Public School Libraries, Tribal Libraries, and Private or Special Libraries that are considered libraries as determined by the State in which they are located, may be nominated for the National Medal for Library Service. They should also be: either a unit of State or local government or be a private nonprofit organization that has tax-exempt status under the Internal Revenue Code; and
- located in one of the 50 States of the United States of America, the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the U.S. Virgin Islands, Guam, American Samoa, the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, the Republic of the Marshall Islands, the Federated States of Micronesia, or the Republic of Palau.

Who may nominate a library or museum for the National Medal?

Anyone, including the institution's employees, board members, members of its community, and elected officials, may nominate a museum or library for this honor.

What steps should nominators take?

- If an institution self-nominates, it simply needs to submit the nomination materials to IMLS by the deadline.
- If someone outside of the institution wants to make a nomination, they should notify the museum or library directly and ask them to complete and submit the nomination form in advance of the deadline.

What information is necessary in order for an institution to be considered for the National Medal and who is responsible for providing it?

Your institution, not the individual who nominates it, must complete the Nomination Form and include the following four parts:

1. Cover Sheet
2. Executive Summary & Mission Statement
3. Narrative (four questions)
4. Letters of Support

Do not include additional cover letters, binders, folders or attachments. For detailed information on answering parts B-D, refer to the Nomination Form.

What is the deadline for submitting the Nomination Form?

The Nomination Form and letters of support should be sent by October 2, 2017, to this email address: nationalmedals@imls.gov

Alternatively, nominations may be mailed and postmarked by October 2, 2017, to this address:
