Who must comply?	Voluntary participation by oil spill removal organizations (OSRO), no entity must comply.
What is this collection about?	The Response Resource Inventory (RRI) is used by the Coast Guard (CG) to maintain a comprehensive list of spill removal equipment. It is needed to improve the effectiveness of deploying response equipment in the event of an oil spill, and may also be used in the development of contingency plans. Participation by OSROs in the RRI is voluntary.
Where do I find the requirements for this information?	There are no requirements in the CFR. Information on the RRI can be found at— https://cgrri.uscg.mil , or by calling the CG National Strike Force Coordination Center (NSFCC) at 252-331-6000.
When must information be submitted to the Coast Guard?	OSRO spill removal equipment information is submitted when the organization elects to participate in the RRI or OSRO classification program.
How is the information submitted?	The information is submitted electronically via the web at — https://cgrri.uscg.mil .
What happens when complete information is received?	The data is maintained by the CG in a publicly accessible system.
For additional information, contact--	Additional information about RRI is available at— https://cgrri.uscg.mil . Questions about RRI can be sent to the CG NSFCC via the internet at https://cgrri.uscg.mil/contactUs.aspx , or by calling the 252-331-6000.

An agency may not conduct or sponsor, and a person is not required to respond to a collection of information unless it displays a valid OMB control number.

The Coast Guard estimates that the average burden for this report varies—from 6 to 24 hours for an update to an RRI submission, and from 10 to 40 hours for a new RRI submission. You may submit any comments concerning the accuracy of this burden estimate or any suggestions for reducing the burden to: Commandant (CG-MER), U.S. Coast Guard Stop 7601, 2703 Martin Luther King Jr Ave SE, Washington, DC 20593-7601 or Office of Management and Budget, Paperwork Reduction Project (1625-0102), Washington, DC 20503.
