

Your DPRP application has not been accepted

We regret to inform you that your application for recognition by the CDC Diabetes Prevention Recognition Program (DPRP) has not been accepted. Your organization's application was not accepted because our review of your proposed alternate curriculum determined that your curriculum does not meet the criteria specified in the CDC Diabetes Prevention Recognition Program Standards and Operating Procedures (DPRP Standards). (Reasons will be specified).

You may reapply using a CDC-preferred curriculum specified on our web page, or you may propose another alternate curriculum that meets all of the key elements of the Diabetes Prevention Program research trial lifestyle curriculum and specified within the DPRP Standards. In either case, if you chose to resubmit your application, a new application (chose "initial" application type) should be submitted using the online application form.

If you have any other questions about your application, please contact CDC at DPRPask@cdc.gov.

Thank you for your interest in the CDC DPRP and for your commitment to helping people with prediabetes strive to prevent type 2 diabetes and improve their health through this program.

The CDC DPRP Team