U.S. Environmental Protection Agency Office of Sustainable Communities Local Foods, Local Places Summit and Peer Exchange Participant Survey ICR Request

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's Office of Sustainable Communities (OSC) is planning to distribute a simple conference participant survey at the end of its two-day Local Foods, Local Places (LFLP) program event to be held July 24 – 25, 2017. The survey audience for the conference is conference attendees, who include federal partners, state officials, as well as local community members participating in the LFLP program. The attached survey is intended to seek customer feedback about the conference sessions in order to gauge participant satisfaction, and help conference organizers make improvements to similar future events.
