OFFICE OF PERSONNEL MANAGEMENT

Privacy Act of 1974: Revised System of Records

AGENCY: U.S. Office of Personnel Management (OPM).

ACTION: Notice of a revised system of records.

SUMMARY: The Office of Personnel Management (OPM) is revising a system of records in its inventory of record systems subject to the Privacy Act of 1974 (5 U.S.C. 552a), as amended.

DATES: The revisions will be effective without further notice forty (40) calendar days from the date of this publication, unless we receive comments that result in a contrary determination.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Program Manager, Freedom of Information and Privacy Act office, NBIBSORN@opm.gov.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: In accordance with the Privacy Act of 1974, 5 U.S.C. 552a, as amended, OPM, National Background Investigations Bureau is revising the Personnel Investigations Records (OPM/Central-9) system of records. The records in this system may be used to provide investigatory information for determinations concerning whether an individual is or continues to be suitable or fit for Government employment or military service; eligible for logical and physical access to federally controlled facilities and information systems; eligible to hold a sensitive position (including but not limited to eligibility for access to classified information); fit to perform work for or on behalf of the Government as an employee of a contractor; qualified for Government service; qualified to perform contractual services for the Government; and loyal to the United States. The system is also used to document such determinations.

OPM is revising OPM/Central-9, Personnel Investigations Records, by adding two categories of individuals, namely, individuals who are applicants or employees of the District of Columbia Public Schools, and individuals about whom OPM has provided an adjudication advisory opinion at the request of another Federal agency's adjudication or security office.

OPM is updating and adding categories of records to ensure consistency with the Federal Investigative Standards. Specifically, OPM is amending record category "a" to acknowledge that under the Federal Investigative Standards, OPM/Central-9 may include civil and criminal fingerprint histories, bureau of vital statistics records, publicly-available electronic information, and prior security clearance and investigative information related to spouses and cohabitants. OPM is amending record category “e” to clarify that records include “credentialing” records, formerly referred to as “HSPD-12” records. OPM is adding record category “f” to acknowledge that records include electronic submissions in OPM’s Electronic Questionnaires for Investigative Processing (e-QIP) system.

OPM is revising the language in the already existing purposes and adding new purposes for which the records are used. The revisions to existing purposes and new purposes are consistent with the purpose for which the records were originally collected, as described above. The revised language clarifies that background investigations include investigations related to military service; that the authority for OPM to use the data for personnel research is 5 U.S.C. 1103(a)(8); and that initiatives to make background investigations more effective and efficient may be undertaken either by OPM or by the Office of the Director of National Intelligence. The new purposes are for supporting legally-authorized homeland security, law enforcement, intelligence, and insider threat detection and prevention activities.

OPM is updating the system’s authority citation; adding an explanation of procedures for agencies holding decentralized segments of OPM/Central-9; adding new routine uses and revising the language in the already existing routine uses; updating the safeguards for records in the system; defining new requirements for notification, access, and amendment procedures; revising the record source categories; revising language in the section on exempted records; and, adding language reserving the right to assert exemptions for records received from another agency that could be properly claimed by that agency in responding to a request and to refuse access to information compiled in reasonable anticipation of a civil action or proceeding. Additionally, OPM is noting two edits in the Security Classification and Amendment Procedures sections to correct verbiage that is misquoted online in the Federal Register SORN Compilations.

Specifically regarding the addition of new routine uses and revision of existing routine uses, OPM is making the following revisions:

- To eliminate unnecessary duplication, OPM combined four existing routine uses related to background investigations, adjudications, employment, and contracting (formerly routine uses a, b, c, and g) into three routine uses (a, e, and aa), while making clarifying changes to their text.

- OPM has incorporated, as routine uses l through q, the text of six routine uses from the OPM Prefatory Statement of Routine Uses for Internal and Central Systems of Records, which we previously incorporated only by reference. We revised one of these routine uses—related to disclosure of information for equal employment opportunity (EEO) activities—to eliminate obsolete text related to certain compliance matters, and to add text related to matters for which the records may be used (in processing Federal-sector EEO complaints).

- OPM has revised the language of an existing routine use (now routine use b) to permit release of records to any element of the U.S. intelligence community for use in intelligence activities for the purpose of protecting United States national security interests.

- OPM has added a new routine use x for release of records to insider threat, counterintelligence, and counterterrorism officials, consistent with E.O. 13587 of October 7, 2011.

- OPM has revised an existing routine use and added an additional routine use (now routine uses j and k) for release of records in connection with data breach detection, prevention, and remediation, based on new Office of Management and Budget guidance.

- OPM has added routine uses r and s for release of records to an agency Office of Inspector General for investigations of misconduct or fraud and the performance of audit authorities under the Inspector General Act of 1978.

- OPM has added routine use t for release of records related to unemployment claims.

- OPM has added routine use u for the release of records to appropriately-cleared individuals to determine whether information is or should be classified.

- OPM has added two routine uses (v and w) for release of records to the Director of National Intelligence consistent with section 3001 of the Intelligence Reform and Terrorism Prevention Act of 2004, and E.O. 13467 of June 30, 2008.

- OPM has added routine use y for the release of records to Federal, State, local, tribal, foreign, or other public authority in the event of a natural or manmade disaster.

- OPM has added routine use z for the release of records to Federal, State, and local government agencies, if necessary, to obtain information from them which will assist OPM in its responsibilities as an authorized Investigation Service Provider to evaluate and improve the effectiveness and efficiency of background investigation methodologies.

- OPM has eliminated, as obsolete, application to this system of records of one prefatory routine use (routine use 6) related to statistical studies.

- OPM has eliminated, as obsolete, former routine use i, for furnishing information to the Office of Management and Budget in connection with the coordination and clearance of private relief legislation.

- Former routine uses e, f, j, k, and l have been renumbered as routine uses c, d, g, h, and i.

OPM notes that individuals seeking records of investigations performed by other investigative agencies, which have their own systems of records, should contact those agencies instead of the Office of Personnel Management.

What is the authority for maintaining the OPM/Central-9, Personnel Investigations Records?

Depending on the purpose of the investigation, the Executive Orders (E.O.s) 9397, 10450, 10577, 10865, 12333, 12968, and 13467, as amended; E.O.s 13488 and 13549; 5 U.S.C. 1103, 1302, 1303, 1304, 3301, 7301, 9101, and 11001; 22 U.S.C. 272b, 290a, and 2519; 31 U.S.C. 1537; 42 U.S.C. 1874(b)(3), 2165, 2201, and 20132; 50 U.S.C. 3341; Public Law 108-136; 5 CFR parts 2, 5, 731, 732, 736, and 1400; and Homeland Security Presidential Directive 12 (HSPD 12).

What is the probable or potential individual privacy effect on amending and updating the OPM/Central 9, Personnel Investigations Records?

The probable or potential effect on individual privacy is limited. Additional routine uses of the information have been added which are still consistent with the purpose for which we collect the information. Records in OPM/Central-9 continue to be restricted to individuals who have undergone the appropriate background investigation and have a need to know in order to perform their official duties or to recipients as is consistent with the conditions of disclosures under the Privacy Act to include the routine uses published in the System of Records Notice.

U.S. Office of Personnel Management.

Beth F. Cobert,

Acting Director.

Office of Personnel Management

OPM/CENTRAL-9

SYSTEM NAME:

Personnel Investigations Records

SECURITY CLASSIFICATION:

None for the system. However, records within the system may have national security/foreign policy classifications up through Top Secret.

SYSTEM LOCATION(S):

b. Records may be maintained in various NBIB field offices, including the Personnel Investigations Center, 601 10th Street, Fort Meade, MD, for limited periods of time. These records would include investigative and administrative records, including files and duplicate records or records which extract information from the main files. This is necessary to assist field offices in their day to day operations. Investigative activities conducted by field offices are reported to NBIB headquarters at one or more stages of the background investigation process. Upon completion of activities to include fieldwork, quality review, and/or adjudicative action, documents are returned to NBIB headquarters or destroyed in accordance with the published retention schedule.

c. Decentralized segments: When OPM discloses a record maintained as part of the Central-9 system of records, the disclosed record shall be considered a “decentralized copy”. A recipient agency that maintains a decentralized copy of a Central-9 record maintains what is referred to as a “decentralized segment” of the Central-9 system of records. Decentralized segments may be maintained as part of a recipient agency’s system of records, however, they remain subject to the policies and practice described below. Recipient agencies shall only maintain a decentralized copy of a record for an authorized purpose and for as long as the subject of the decentralized copy remains of interest to the recipient agency. These copies may be located in the personnel security office or other designated offices responsible for making suitability, fitness, security clearance, access, HSPD 12 credentialing decisions, decisions about eligibility for assignment to or retention in sensitive national security positions or acceptance or retention in the armed forces, or hiring determinations on an individual. The use, custody, retention, and release of decentralized segments is described in greater detail as follows:

- Use and custody: Reports of investigation were removed from OPM’s Governmentwide systems of records and placed in OPM’s Central systems of records in 1979 because they are physically maintained by OPM in a central repository, consist of records of both OPM and other agencies’ employees, and are not maintained by other agencies under OPM direction. 44 FR 30836 (May 29, 1979). An agency’s “internal security records” may include “the informational copy of the Commission’s (OPM’s) report of investigation (provided to agencies on a temporary basis) . . . along with agency-created security data” so long as the subject of the report remains of interest to the agency for an authorized purpose. 44 FR at 30836-37; see this Notice’s Purpose statement. Internal agency review of the record, for the purpose it was given to the recipient agency or another purpose described in this notice, is permissible. However, the decentralized copy remains a part of the OPM/Central-9 system of records even while the copy is in the recipient agency’s custody; under 5 CFR 297.104(b), all records in Central systems of records are established and maintained by OPM (in contrast, Governmentwide systems are maintained both by OPM and by the agencies with custody over them under 5 CFR 297.104(c)).

- Retention: Decentralized copies should be retained consistent with the guidance defined in applicable NARA General Records Schedules. Under NARA General Records Schedule 18, Part 22 (b), investigative reports and related documents furnished to an agency by OPM should be destroyed in accordance with OPM’s instructions. OPM instructs that the records may be maintained only so long as the subject of the report remains of interest to the agency for a purpose defined in this Notice. Upon separation or when the subject is no longer of interest to the agency, the agency must dispose of any/all background investigation records.

- Privacy Act requests for reports of investigation: Under 5 CFR 297.105(c), only OPM responds to initial Privacy Act requests for records in an OPM Central system of records. If an agency receives, from the subject of a report, a request for access or amendment, the agency should contact the OPM NBIB Freedom of Information and Privacy Act (FOI/PA) office and refer that request to OPM accordingly. OPM NBIB’s FOI/PA office will make an access or amendment determination under the Privacy Act.

- FOIA, Routine Use Releases, and Releases based upon a Privacy Act Condition of Disclosure: Section 9(c) of Executive Order 10450 states that copies of reports of investigation held by agencies “remain the property of” OPM and restricts agencies from redisclosing reports without OPM permission. In addition, the reports may include other government agency data that was disclosed to OPM with redisclosure limitations. For these reasons an agency that seeks to internally redisclose an OPM report of investigation for a purpose not described in this Notice, or to externally redisclose an OPM report of investigation for any purpose, should first contact the OPM NBIB Freedom of Information and Privacy Act (FOI/PA) office. OPM NBIB’s FOI/PA office will make a release determination by applying the routine uses described in this Notice or other uses prescribed in 5 U.S.C. 552a(b); or, in the case of a FOIA referral, by applying the FOIA. Alternatively if the record will be used in a legal proceeding that has commenced, the agency should contact OPM’s Office of General Counsel under 5 CFR part 295. Because the disclosure is made from OPM/Central-9, even if made by the agency under OPM’s direction, OPM will record all required disclosure accountings for routine use releases. It is therefore unnecessary for the agency to make a separate decision of whether to disclose the report from its internal systems of records.

ROUTINE USES OF RECORDS MAINTAINED IN THE SYSTEM, INCLUDING CATEGORIES OF USERS AND THE PURPOSES OF SUCH USES:

In addition to those disclosures generally permitted under 5 U.S.C. 552a(b) of the Privacy Act, all or a portion of the records of information contained in this system may be disclosed outside OPM as a routine use pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 552a(b)(3). OPM provides a report of investigation to an agency only for a specified purpose, as described in this Notice. Internal agency review of the record, for the purpose it was given to the recipient agency or another purpose described in this Notice, is permissible. Any other disclosure requires OPM's consent as described in the System Location section of this Notice. The routine uses listed below are specific to this system of records only:

a. To designated officers and employees of agencies, offices, and other establishments in the executive, legislative, and judicial branches of the Federal Government or the Government of the District of Columbia having a need to investigate, evaluate, or make a determination regarding loyalty to the United States; qualifications, suitability, or fitness for Government employment or military service; eligibility for logical or physical access to federally-controlled facilities or information systems; eligibility for access to classified information or to hold a sensitive position; qualifications or fitness to perform work for or on behalf of the Government under contract, grant, or other agreement; or access to restricted areas.

q. To disclose information to the Federal Labor Relations Authority or its General Counsel when requested in connection with investigations of allegations of unfair labor practices or matters before the Federal Service Impasses Panel.

r. To another Federal agency's Office of Inspector General when OPM becomes aware of an indication of misconduct or fraud during the applicant's submission of the standard forms.

s. To another Federal agency's Office of Inspector General in connection with its inspection or audit activity of the investigative or adjudicative processes and procedures of its agency as authorized by the Inspector General Act of 1978, as amended, exclusive of requests for civil or criminal law enforcement activities.

The record will be used to provide leads to assist in locating missing subjects or assist in determining the health and safety of the subject. The record will also be used to assist in identifying victims and locating any surviving next of kin.

z. To Federal, State, and local government agencies, if necessary, to obtain information from them which will assist OPM in its responsibilities as the authorized Investigation Service Provider in conducting studies and analyses in support of evaluating and improving the effectiveness and efficiency of the background investigation methodologies.

aa. POLICIES AND PRACTICE FOR STORING, RETRIEVING, ACCESSING, RETAINING AND DISPOSING OF RECORDS IN THE SYSTEM:

STORAGE:

Records are maintained in paper format in file folders, on microfilm, as digital images, on computer tapes, and in electronic databases such as the Personnel Investigations Processing System, the Central Verification System, and the e-QIP system.

RETRIEVABILITY:

Records are retrieved by the name, Social Security Number, unique case serial number and/or other unique identifier of the individual on whom they are maintained.

SAFEGUARDS:

Paper files are stored in a locked filing cabinet or a secure facility with an intrusion alarm system. Microfilm is secured in a facility with an intrusion system. Electronic records are maintained on secure servers in a limited access room with a keyless cipher lock and/or smart card reader. All employees who have a need to access the information are required to have the appropriate investigation consistent with the risk and sensitivity designation of that position, and the investigation must be favorably adjudicated or an interim access be granted before they are allowed access to the records.

The U.S. Postal Service and other postal providers are used to transmit hard copy records sent to and from field offices. Information that is transmitted electronically from field offices is encrypted.

RETENTION AND DISPOSAL:

Investigative files and the computerized data bases which show the scheduling or completion of an investigation are retained for 16 years from the date of closing or the date of the most recent investigative activity, whichever is later, except for investigations involving potentially actionable issue(s), which will be maintained for 25 years from the date of closing or the date of the most recent investigative activity.

The digital capture of a fingerprint card set is forwarded to the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and the card is destroyed when it is verified that the digital copy was accurately captured and transferred.

Hard copy records are destroyed by shredding and recycling, and computerized records are destroyed by electronic erasure.
