2019 EIA Web Customer Survey

PURPOSE: The purpose of this survey is to collect feedback from users of the EIA website to help improve its navigation, web content and presentation, and electronic delivery of energy information. The results are analyzed internally at EIA to provide the highest quality of energy information to the public.

DESCRIPTION OF RESPONDENTS:

Respondents will be users of U.S. Energy Information Administration’s website.

To assist review, please provide answers to the following question:

Personally Identifiable Information:

1. Is personally identifiable information (PII) collected?  Yes  No

2. If Yes, will any information that is collected be included in records that are subject to the Privacy Act of 1974?  Yes  No These are statistical records as defined under 5 U.S.C. § 552A(a)(6) maintained for statistical research and not used in whole or in part in making any determination about an identifiable individual. Data will be encrypted when the respondent submits their response to the survey using FIPS 140-2 approved encryption software to protect the PII. The PII will be removed from the survey responses and stored in a separate data user frame file and stored in a restricted access folder.
3. If Yes, has an up-to-date System of Records Notice (SORN) been published?  Yes  No

Gifts or Payments:

Is an incentive (e.g., money or reimbursement of expenses, token of appreciation) provided to participants?  Yes  No

BURDEN HOURS

Category of Respondent	No. of Respondents	Participation Time (minutes)	Burden Hours
Totals	35,000	4	2,333

ESTIMATE OF RESPONDENT BURDEN HOURS AND COST – The burden to respondents is 2,333 hours and the cost to the respondents is estimated to be ($78.52* 2,333) = $183,187.

FEDERAL COST: There are no additional costs to the federal government anticipated. Expenses (equipment, overhead, printing, and support staff) will be incurred by EIA components as part of their normal operating budgets.

If you are conducting a focus group, survey, or plan to employ statistical methods, please provide answers to the following questions:

The selection of your targeted respondents

1. Do you have a customer list or something similar that defines the universe of potential respondents and do you have a sampling plan for selecting from this universe?

Yes  No

The medium for administration of this survey will be the EIA website itself. EIA has created an electronic survey form (HTML document with the questions is attached) that will be posted on the EIA website, allowing customers to easily and automatically submit their feedback. We will present the invitation to the survey after the customer has been on the website for brief period of time. It will appear on the homepage and every lower level webpage that a customer visits. The invitation will ask if they want to take the survey at that moment or have it presented to them at a later time (in five minutes).

The code for fielding the survey is similar to that used by the American Customer Satisfaction Index survey, a survey tool widely used across the government. EIA’s code ensures that our survey will not be blocked by pop-up blocker software. We want to make sure that the broadest possible customer population has the opportunity to respond. We also use temporary cookies to ensure that the survey is only presented once per customer. If they respond to the survey or say they do not want to take it, they will not see the invitation again.

EIA plans to have this survey on the website for up to seven days, or until 35,000 responses are received, whichever comes first. The number of survey completions will be monitored each day. The response rate is expected to be similar to that seen last year, where the required number of participants was reached after one week of the survey's posting.

Because EIA does not have a list or frame of its website customers, EIA cannot designate a scientific sample, although direct input from customers is needed. We do expect responses from a diverse group of customers based on the fact that customers surveyed in the past represented a diverse group and the sheer volume of input from previous surveys.

While the responses to this survey cannot be claimed as being representative of all users, EIA will get an understanding of users' opinions by obtaining consistent information from a large number of users. During the survey period, EIA can compute a proxy response rate by calculating survey responses/unique web customers per day, although the actual response percentage for most web surveys is expected to be very small.

All participation in this survey is voluntary. No self-identification information will be requested. All results will be presented in aggregate form. Subsequent analysis of the data collected will limit any divulgence of individual customer responses.
