

National Panel of Tobacco Consumer Studies (OMB Control Number 0910-0815)

Change Request (83-C)

December 28, 2016

The Food and Drug Administration is submitting this nonmaterial/non-substantive change request (83-C) to incorporate several non-substantive changes to the questionnaires and respondent materials for establishing the panel based on findings and lessons learned from the initial implementation phase.

Overview of the Change Request for OMB Control No. 0910-0815

Between August 18 and October 16, 2016, an initial implementation phase of the National Panel of Tobacco Consumer Studies (TCS) was conducted to test screening and recruitment protocols, field procedures, and respondent materials in advance of the national implementation effort.

There is no change in the burden estimate included in the original clearance request. All changes described in this memorandum and reflected in the attachments were approved by the Institutional Review Board at RTI International (RTI) on November 29, 2016.

Questionnaire Changes

Based on field observations and experiences during the initial implementation phase, minor revisions are requested to the mail screener, field screener, enrollment survey, and baseline survey. These changes include:

- Addition of FDA logo to the mail screener to be consistent with already approved materials
- Update to the survey return address on the mail screener
- Minor edits to introductory and exit script text for improved readability or consistency across panel materials
- Removal of redundant or unnecessary text or instructions, or corrections to instructions
- Addition of “Don’t Know” and “Refused” options for all demographic questions
- Reordering of several questions to improve survey flow
- Refinements to Spanish translations for several questions
- Refinements to programming specifications
- Removal of questions not needed for analysis or screening

Respondent Material Changes

Minor revisions are also requested to the respondent materials based on interviewer feedback:

- Reformatted and streamlined the doorstep transition script for improved readability by interviewers
- Added references to “Adult” residents to lead letters and CAPI nonresponse letters; minor cosmetic changes made to the letters to improve readability and emphasize important points in the text to encourage participation
- Added FDA logo to select respondent materials to be consistent with already approved materials

- Resolved minor inconsistencies in descriptions of the panel participation requirements across materials

During the initial implementation phase, a number of households refused to begin the screening process at the doorstep, assuming instead that no one in the household was eligible for the panel. Conversion attempts with these and other pending screening and enrollment households are critical to achieving the 4,000-member enrollment target within the allotted schedule and budget. Additional, targeted materials to address specific nonresponse situations are needed. These include:

- Refusal letters for partial enrollment situations and early doorstep refusals before screening is initiated
- A screener reminder postcard announcing the interviewer’s upcoming visit
- Priority letters for pending screening and enrollment cases that inform respondents that the field period is ending soon and their participation is important
- A controlled access letter for building/property managers to inform them of the interviewer’s visit and request their assistance in providing access to gated communities or controlled-access buildings
