SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

Congress makes the following findings:

(1) 2,100,146 persons were incarcerated in the United States at the end of 2001: 1,324,465 in Federal and State prisons and 631,240 in county and local jails. In 1999, there were more than 10,000,000 separate admissions to and discharges from prisons and jails.

(2) Insufficient research has been conducted and insufficient data reported on the extent of prison rape. However, experts have conservatively estimated that at least 13 percent of the inmates in the United States have been sexually assaulted in prison. Many inmates have suffered repeated assaults. Under this estimate, nearly 200,000 inmates now incarcerated have been or will be the victims of prison rape. The total number of inmates who have been sexually assaulted in the past 20 years likely exceeds 1,000,000.

(3) Inmates with mental illness are at increased risk of sexual victimization. America’s jails and prisons house more mentally ill individuals than all of the Nation’s psychiatric hospitals combined. As many as 16 percent of inmates in State prisons and jails, and 7 percent of Federal inmates, suffer from mental illness.

(4) Young first-time offenders are at increased risk of sexual victimization. Juveniles are 5 times more likely to be sexually assaulted in adult rather than juvenile facilities—often within the first 48 hours of incarceration.

(5) Most prison staff are not adequately trained or prepared to prevent, report, or treat inmate sexual assaults.

(6) Prison rape often goes unreported, and inmate victims often receive inadequate treatment for the severe physical and psychological effects of sexual assault—if they receive treatment at all.

(7) HIV and AIDS are major public health problems within America's correctional facilities. In 2000, 25,088 inmates in Federal and State prisons were known to be infected with HIV/AIDS. In 2000, HIV/AIDS accounted for more than 6 percent of all deaths in Federal and State prisons. Infection rates for other sexually transmitted diseases, tuberculosis, and hepatitis B and C are also far greater for prisoners than for the American population as a whole. Prison rape undermines the public health by contributing to the spread of these diseases, and often giving a potential death sentence to its victims.

(8) Prison rape endangers the public safety by making brutalized inmates more likely to commit crimes when they are released—as 600,000 inmates are each year.

(9) The frequently interracial character of prison sexual assaults significantly exacerbates interracial tensions, both within prison and, upon release of perpetrators and victims from prison, in the community at large.

(10) Prison rape increases the level of homicides and other violence against inmates and staff, and the risk of insurrections and riots.

(11) Victims of prison rape suffer severe physical and psychological effects that hinder their ability to integrate into the community and maintain stable employment upon their release from prison. They are thus more likely to become homeless and/or require government assistance.

(12) Members of the public and government officials are largely unaware of the epidemic character of prison rape and the day-to-day horror experienced by victimized inmates.

(13) The high incidence of sexual assault within prisons involves actual and potential violations of the United States Constitution. In Farmer v. Brennan, 511 U.S. 825 (1994), the Supreme Court ruled that deliberate indifference to the substantial risk of sexual assault violates prisoners' rights under the Cruel and Unusual Punishments Clause of the Eighth Amendment. The Eighth Amendment rights of State and local prisoners are protected through the Due Process Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment. Pursuant to the power of Congress under Section Five of the Fourteenth Amendment, Congress may take action to enforce those rights in States where officials have demonstrated such indifference. States that do not take basic steps to abate prison rape by adopting standards that do not generate significant additional expenditures demonstrate such indifference. Therefore, such States are not entitled to the same level of Federal benefits as other States.

(14) The high incidence of prison rape undermines the effectiveness and efficiency of United States Government expenditures through grant programs such as those dealing with health care; mental health care; disease prevention; crime prevention, investigation, and prosecution; prison construction, maintenance, and operation; race relations; poverty; unemployment and homelessness. The effectiveness and efficiency of these federally funded grant programs are compromised by the failure of State officials to adopt policies and procedures that reduce the incidence of prison rape in that the high incidence of prison rape—

(A) increases the costs incurred by Federal, State, and local jurisdictions to administer their prison systems;

(B) increases the levels of violence, directed at inmates and at staff, within prisons;

(C) increases health care expenditures, both inside and outside of prison systems, and reduces the effectiveness of disease prevention programs by substantially increasing the incidence and spread of HIV, AIDS, tuberculosis, hepatitis B and C, and other diseases;

(D) increases mental health care expenditures, both inside and outside of prison systems, by substantially increasing the rate of post-traumatic stress disorder, depression, suicide, and the exacerbation of existing mental illnesses among current and former inmates;

(E) increases the risks of recidivism, civil strife, and violent crime by individuals who have been brutalized by prison rape; and

(F) increases the level of interracial tensions and strife within prisons and, upon release of perpetrators and victims, in the community at large.

(15) The high incidence of prison rape has a significant effect on interstate commerce because it increases substantially—

(A) the costs incurred by Federal, State, and local jurisdictions to administer their prison systems;

(B) the incidence and spread of HIV, AIDS, tuberculosis, hepatitis B and C, and other diseases, contributing to increased health and medical expenditures throughout the Nation;

(C) the rate of post-traumatic stress disorder, depression, suicide, and the exacerbation of existing mental illnesses among current and former inmates, contributing to increased health and medical expenditures throughout the Nation; and

(D) the risk of recidivism, civil strife, and violent crime by individuals who have been brutalized by prison rape.

42 USC 15602.

SEC. 3. PURPOSES.

The purposes of this Act are to—

(1) establish a zero-tolerance standard for the incidence of prison rape in prisons in the United States;

(2) make the prevention of prison rape a top priority in each prison system;

(3) develop and implement national standards for the detection, prevention, reduction, and punishment of prison rape;

(4) increase the available data and information on the incidence of prison rape, consequently improving the management and administration of correctional facilities;

(5) standardize the definitions used for collecting data on the incidence of prison rape;

(6) increase the accountability of prison officials who fail to detect, prevent, reduce, and punish prison rape;

(7) protect the Eighth Amendment rights of Federal, State, and local prisoners;

(8) increase the efficiency and effectiveness of Federal expenditures through grant programs such as those dealing with health care; mental health care; disease prevention; crime prevention, investigation, and prosecution; prison construction, maintenance, and operation; race relations; poverty; unemployment; and homelessness; and

(9) reduce the costs that prison rape imposes on interstate commerce.

SEC. 4. NATIONAL PRISON RAPE STATISTICS, DATA, AND RESEARCH. 42 USC 15603.

(a) ANNUAL COMPREHENSIVE STATISTICAL REVIEW.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Bureau of Justice Statistics of the Department of Justice (in this section referred to as the “Bureau”) shall carry out, for each calendar year, a comprehensive statistical review and analysis of the incidence and effects of prison rape. The statistical review and analysis shall include, but not be limited to the identification of the common characteristics of—

(A) both victims and perpetrators of prison rape; and
(B) prisons and prison systems with a high incidence of prison rape.

(2) CONSIDERATIONS.—In carrying out paragraph (1), the Bureau shall consider—

(A) how rape should be defined for the purposes of the statistical review and analysis;

(B) how the Bureau should collect information about staff-on-inmate sexual assault;

(C) how the Bureau should collect information beyond inmate self-reports of prison rape;

(D) how the Bureau should adjust the data in order to account for differences among prisons as required by subsection (c)(3);

(E) the categorization of prisons as required by subsection (c)(4); and

(F) whether a preliminary study of prison rape should be conducted to inform the methodology of the comprehensive statistical review.

(3) SOLICITATION OF VIEWS.—The Bureau of Justice Statistics shall solicit views from representatives of the following: State departments of correction; county and municipal jails; juvenile correctional facilities; former inmates; victim advocates; researchers; and other experts in the area of sexual assault.

(4) SAMPLING TECHNIQUES.—The review and analysis under paragraph (1) shall be based on a random sample, or other scientifically appropriate sample, of not less than 10 percent of all Federal, State, and county prisons, and a representative sample of municipal prisons. The selection shall include at least one prison from each State. The selection of facilities for sampling shall be made at the latest practicable date prior to conducting the surveys and shall not be disclosed to any facility or prison system official prior to the time period studied in the survey. Selection of a facility for sampling during any year shall not preclude its selection for sampling in any subsequent year.

Confidentiality.

(5) SURVEYS.—In carrying out the review and analysis under paragraph (1), the Bureau shall, in addition to such other methods as the Bureau considers appropriate, use surveys and other statistical studies of current and former inmates from a sample of Federal, State, county, and municipal prisons. The Bureau shall ensure the confidentiality of each survey participant. *

(6) PARTICIPATION IN SURVEY.—Federal, State, or local officials or facility administrators that receive a request from the Bureau under subsection (a)(4) or (5) will be required to participate in the national survey and provide access to any inmates under their legal custody.

(b) REVIEW PANEL ON PRISON RAPE.—

(1) ESTABLISHMENT.—To assist the Bureau in carrying out the review and analysis under subsection (a), there is established, within the Department of Justice, the Review Panel on Prison Rape (in this section referred to as the "Panel").

(2) MEMBERSHIP.—

(A) COMPOSITION.—The Panel shall be composed of 3 members, each of whom shall be appointed by the Attorney General, in consultation with the Secretary of Health and Human Services.

(B) QUALIFICATIONS.—Members of the Panel shall be selected from among individuals with knowledge or expertise in matters to be studied by the Panel.

(3) PUBLIC HEARINGS.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—The duty of the Panel shall be to carry out, for each calendar year, public hearings concerning the operation of the three prisons with the highest incidence of prison rape and the two prisons with the lowest incidence of prison rape in each category of facilities identified under subsection (c)(4). The Panel shall hold a separate hearing regarding the three Federal or State prisons with the highest incidence of prison rape. The purpose of these hearings shall be to collect evidence to aid in the identification of common characteristics of both victims and perpetrators of prison rape, and the identification of common characteristics of prisons and prison systems with a high incidence of prison rape, and the identification of common characteristics of prisons and prison systems that appear to have been successful in deterring prison rape. *

(B) TESTIMONY AT HEARINGS.—

(i) PUBLIC OFFICIALS.—In carrying out the hearings required under subparagraph (A), the Panel shall request the public testimony of Federal, State, and local officials (and organizations that represent such officials), including the warden or director of each prison, who bears responsibility for the prevention, detection, and punishment of prison rape at each entity, and the head of the prison system encompassing such prison.

(ii) VICTIMS.—The Panel may request the testimony of prison rape victims, organizations representing such victims, and other appropriate individuals and organizations.

(C) SUBPOENAS.—

(i) ISSUANCE.—The Panel may issue subpoenas for the attendance of witnesses and the production of written or other matter.

(ii) ENFORCEMENT.—In the case of contumacy or refusal to obey a subpoena, the Attorney General may in a Federal court of appropriate jurisdiction obtain an appropriate order to enforce the subpoena.

(c) REPORTS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Not later than June 30 of each year, the Attorney General shall submit a report on the activities of the Bureau and the Review Panel, with respect to prison rape, for the preceding calendar year to—

(A) Congress; and

(B) the Secretary of Health and Human Services.

(2) CONTENTS.—The report required under paragraph (1) shall include—

(A) with respect to the effects of prison rape, statistical, sociological, and psychological data;

(B) with respect to the incidence of prison rape—

(i) statistical data aggregated at the Federal, State, prison system, and prison levels;

(ii) a listing of those institutions in the representative sample, separated into each category identified under subsection (c)(4) and ranked according to the incidence of prison rape in each institution; and

(iii) an identification of those institutions in the representative sample that appear to have been successful in deterring prison rape; and

(C) a listing of any prisons in the representative sample that did not cooperate with the survey conducted pursuant to section 4.

(3) DATA ADJUSTMENTS.—In preparing the information specified in paragraph (2), the Attorney General shall use established statistical methods to adjust the data as necessary to account for differences among institutions in the representative sample, which are not related to the detection, prevention, reduction and punishment of prison rape, or which are outside the control of the State, prison, or prison system, in order to provide an accurate comparison among prisons. Such differences may include the mission, security level, size, and jurisdiction under which the prison operates. For each such adjustment made, the Attorney General shall identify and explain such adjustment in the report.

(4) CATEGORIZATION OF PRISONS.—The report shall divide the prisons surveyed into three categories. One category shall be composed of all Federal and State prisons. The other two categories shall be defined by the Attorney General in order to compare similar institutions.

Sexual contacts can happen to boys as well as girls. People who try to have sexual contact with young people are not always strangers but can be someone they know well like a youth, a staff member, teacher, counselor, or minister. People who try to have sexual contact with young people aren’t always men or boys—they can also be women or girls. And sometimes people try to make young people have sexual contact even if the young person doesn’t want to do it.

SCREENING BATTERY: ITEMS BY TYPE OF CONTACT – ASKED OF ALL RESPONDENTS

The next questions ask about sexual contact you may have had while you’ve been here. Please think about any time when this might have happened with other youth or with facility staff here. Please include any kind of sexual contact, whether you wanted to do it or not.

YOUNGER YOUTH INTRODUCTION

C1Y. These next questions are about sexual contacts that happen in this facility.

Sexual contacts are when someone touches your private parts or you touch someone else’s private parts in a sexual way. By private parts, we mean any part of the body that would be covered by a bathing suit.

THROUGHOUT THE SURVEY THE RESPONDENT CAN CLICK ON “SEXUAL CONTACTS” OR ON “PRIVATE PARTS” TO RECEIVE THE FOLLOWING DEFINITIONS:

By sexual contacts, we mean when someone touches your private parts or you touch someone else’s private parts in a sexual way.

By private parts, we mean any part of the body that would be covered by a bathing suit.

Sexual contacts can happen to boys as well as girls. People who try to have sexual contact with young people are not always strangers but can be someone they know well like a youth, a staff member, teacher, counselor, or minister. People who try to have sexual contact with young people aren’t always men or boys – they can also be women or girls. And sometimes people try to make young people have sexual contact even if the young person doesn’t want to do it.

DATE

Dear Parent or Guardian:

The U.S. Department of Justice is doing a special study called the National Survey of Youth in Custody (NSYC) to learn more about what it is like for young people living in correctional facilities. This study was done the last time in 2012, when nearly 10,000 young people took part.

Beginning in 2017, the NSYC will be done again and more than 19,000 youth will be asked to take part in the study. FACILITY NAME is participating in NSYC this time and we would like your permission to ask your child to be in the study.

I have enclosed a consent form that describes the study. Here are a few of the important pieces of information explained on the consent form:

- We are asking your permission to ask your child if he/she would like to do the interview. Your child does not have to take part in the study, even if you give permission for us to ask him/her.
- If you and your child agree, a researcher will show him/her how to answer questions using a laptop computer.
- Youth will be asked questions about what it is like living at the facility, including questions about staff, other youth who live in the facility, and their physical and mental health. Some youth will also be asked questions about alcohol and drug use, contact with others outside the facility and their plans after they are released and some will be asked about sexual experiences that might have happened, including those in this facility.
- The computer will randomly decide which questions your child is asked; it has nothing to do with your child's background or history.
- Your child's name will not be put in the computer. No one will be able to connect your child's name to his/her answers in the computer. But it's different if your child directly tells the researcher about any abuse or harm to him/her or another child. If that happens, we have to report it to the government agency that investigates these problems. If your child tells the researcher s/he is in danger of hurting him/herself, the researcher will tell the facility.

We ask that you read the enclosed brochure and consent form. Please indicate on the form whether or not you agree to let your child participate in the study, sign the form, and date it. Then return it to FACILITY CONTACT in the enclosed pre-addressed stamped envelope.

If you have any questions about the objectives and goals of the study, please contact the facility or the National Survey of Youth in Custody Information Line (1-XXX-XXX-XXX). If you have questions about what your child's rights would be as a participant, please contact the Westat Human Subjects Protections Office at 1-888-920-7631; please leave a message with your full name, the name of the study (National Survey of Youth in Custody) and a phone number beginning with the area code.

Thank you for helping us with this important study.

Estimado padre/madre o tutor/a,

El Departamento de Justicia de los Estados Unidos está llevando a cabo un estudio especial llamado Estudio Nacional de Jóvenes Detenidos (National Survey of Youth in Custody - NSYC) para conocer más cómo viven los jóvenes en un centro correccional. La última vez que se llevó a cabo este estudio fue en 2012 y en él participaron casi 10,000 jóvenes.

En los primeros meses de 2017, se llevará a cabo el estudio NSYC otra vez y se le preguntará a más de 19.000 jóvenes si desean participar en el estudio. En esta ocasión, NOMBRE DE LA INSTITUCIÓN está participando en el NSYC y quisiéramos su permiso para preguntarle a su hijo/a si desea participar en el estudio.

Anexa encontrará una planilla de consentimiento que explica de qué se trata el estudio. A continuación se presentan algunas informaciones importantes que aparecen explicadas en la planilla de consentimiento:

- Estamos solicitando su permiso para preguntarle a su hijo/a si desea participar en el estudio. Aunque usted haya dado su permiso para preguntarle, su hijo/a no está obligado/a a participar en el estudio.
- Si usted y su hijo/a están de acuerdo, un investigador le mostrará cómo contestar a las preguntas utilizando un laptop.
- Al/a la joven se le harán preguntas sobre cómo es vivir en esta institución, sobre el personal, sobre los otros jóvenes que viven aquí y sobre su salud física y mental. A algunos jóvenes se les harán preguntas acerca del alcohol y de las drogas que pudieran haber tomado, acerca del contacto con otras personas fuera de la institución y qué planes tienen para después de su liberación, y a otros se les harán preguntas acerca de las experiencias sexuales que pudieran haber tenido, inclusive en esta institución.
- El computador, al azar, decidirá qué preguntas se le harán a su hijo/a, sin que ello tenga nada que ver con los antecedentes o el historial de su hijo/a.
- En el computador no se pondrá el nombre de su hijo/a. Nadie podrá relacionar el nombre de su hijo/a con las respuestas que ingrese en el computador. Pero será diferente si su hijo/a le dice directamente al investigador que él mismo u otro/a muchacho/a ha sido objeto de algún abuso o maltrato. Si ese fuera el caso, tendremos que reportarlo a la agencia gubernamental que se encarga de investigar estos casos. Si su hijo/a le dice al investigador que él o ella está en peligro de hacerse daño, el investigador tendrá que informarle a la institución.

Le pedimos que lea el folleto anexo y la planilla de consentimiento. Por favor, indique en la planilla si está de acuerdo o no con permitir que su hijo/a participe en el estudio, firme la planilla y colóquela la fecha. Luego, envíela a CONTACTO DE LA INSTITUCIÓN colocándola dentro del sobre anexo en el que ya está impresa la dirección y tiene las estampillas.

Si tiene preguntas acerca de los propósitos y objetivos del estudio, por favor contacte a la institución o la línea para información del Estudio Nacional de Jóvenes Detenidos (National Survey of Youth in Custody (1-XXX-XXX-XXX)). Si tiene preguntas acerca de los derechos de su hijo/a como participante de un estudio, puede llamar a la Oficina de Protección de Participantes en Estudios de Westat al 1-888-920-7631; deje un mensaje con su nombre completo, el nombre del estudio sobre el cual llama (Estudio Nacional de Jóvenes Detenidos) y un número de teléfono empezando por el código de área.

Gracias por ayudarnos en este importante estudio.

EXPIRATION DATE:

The U.S. Department of Justice is doing a special study called the National Survey of Youth in Custody to learn more about what it is like for young people living in correctional facilities. The government will use the study to see if changes need to be made at facilities. We will combine the answers that youth from each facility give into a report on the facility. No names will appear in the report.

Young people in every state in the country will be asked to be part of this study, and we would like your permission to ask your child to be in the study. If you (and your child) agree, he/she will spend about 35 minutes answering questions using a computer. Youth will be asked questions about what it is like living at the facility, including questions about the staff, other youth who live in the facility, and their physical and mental health. Some youth will also be asked questions about alcohol and drug use, contact with others outside the facility and their plans after they are released and some will be asked about sexual experiences that might have happened, including those in this facility.

The computer will randomly decide which questions your child is asked; it has nothing to do with your child's background or history. If your child agrees to be in the study, a researcher will show him/her how to use the computer. He/she will see the questions on the screen and hear the questions through headphones. Your child will touch the screen to answer the questions. No one will know which questions your child is asked or what he/she answers.

Your child does not have to do the survey. It is entirely up to you whether we can ask your child, and then it is up to your child. Your choice will not affect your child's case or the services that he/she gets in any way. If your child agrees to do the survey, he/she can stop answering questions at any point. If there is a question that your child does not want to answer, he/she can skip it.

We will do everything we can to protect your child's privacy. We want you to understand a few things about the study:

- The researcher who meets with your child will not ask for your child's name, and your child will not be asked to put his/her name in the computer.
- Your child's answers will be used only for statistical and research purposes and they will always be kept private.
- All the answers that he/she puts in the computer will be confidential – that is, no one will know your child's answers.
- All information sent over the internet to and from government computers is subject to screening for security threats.
- All of the researchers working on this study have signed documents saying that they will protect your child's privacy and not to tell anyone anything that he/she has said.
- A law protects your child's privacy. If someone violates this law, punishment may include fines up to $10,000.
- But there is an important exception to the privacy rule. If your child tells the researcher about any abuse or harm to him/her or another child, it will be reported to the government agency that investigates these kinds of problems. If your child tells the researcher he/she is in danger of hurting him/herself, the researcher will tell the facility.

Some of the questions on the computer might ask about private and sensitive things and may bother your child. If thinking about the questions upsets or makes your child sad, he/she may talk to a counselor at the facility. If he/she does not want to talk to a counselor who works there, arrangements can be made to talk with a counselor who does not work at the facility [or for him/her to call the ChildHelp National Hotline (1-800-4-A-Child or 1-800-422-4453).]

If you have any questions about the study, you can call (FACILITY CONTACT NAME) at (FACILITY NAME) at (FACILITY PHONE NUMBER) or you can call the National Survey of Youth in Custody Information Line (1-XXX-XXX-XXXX). If you have questions about (NAME OF YOUTH)'s rights as a study participant, you can call the Westat Human Subjects Protections Office at 1-888-920-7631; please leave a message with your full name, the name of the study (National Survey of Youth in Custody) and a phone number beginning with the area code.

Please indicate your choice by checking one of the boxes below and signing and dating the form. Then return it in the enclosed self-addressed stamped envelope.

- Yes, I give my permission for you to ask my child to take part in this study.
- No, I do not give you permission to ask my child to take part in this study.

VENCIMIENTO:

El Departamento de Justicia de Estados Unidos está llevando a cabo un estudio especial llamado Estudio Nacional de Jóvenes Detenidos (National Survey of Youth in Custody) con el fin de conocer más cómo viven los jóvenes en un centro correccional. El gobierno utilizará este estudio para ver si es necesario hacer cambios en estas instituciones. Vamos a combinar las respuestas dadas por los jóvenes de cada facilidad en un informe sobre la facilidad. En el informe no aparecerá ningún nombre.

Se les pedirá a los jóvenes de todos los estados del país que participen en este estudio y quisiéramos su permiso para preguntarle a su hijo/a si desea participar. Si usted (y su hijo/a) está(n) de acuerdo, su hijo /a necesitará unos 35 minutos para responder a las preguntas en un computador. Al /a la joven se le harán preguntas sobre cómo vive en esta institución, sobre el personal, sobre los otros jóvenes que viven en la institución y sobre su salud física y mental. A algunos jóvenes también se les harán preguntas acerca del alcohol y de las drogas que pudieran haber tomado, acerca del contacto con otras personas fuera de la institución y qué planes tienen para después de su liberación, y a otros se les harán preguntas acerca de las experiencias sexuales que pudieran haber tenido, inclusive en esta institución.

El computador, al azar, decidirá qué preguntas se le harán a su hijo/a, sin que tenga nada que ver con los antecedentes o el historial de su hijo/a. Si su hijo/a acepta participar en el estudio, un investigador le mostrará cómo utilizar el computador. Verá las preguntas escritas en la pantalla y las escuchará a través de los audífonos. Su hijo/a tocará la pantalla del computador para responder a las preguntas. Nadie sabrá qué preguntas se le harán a su hijo/a ni tampoco lo que responda.

Su hijo/a no está obligado/a a participar en el estudio. Es su decisión permitirnos preguntarle a su hijo/a y, luego, dependerá de él/ella. Su decisión no afectará de ninguna manera ni el caso de su hijo/a ni los servicios que recibe. Si su hijo/a acepta participar, puede dejar de responder a las preguntas en cualquier momento. Si hay una pregunta que su hijo/a no quiere contestar, puede pasarla.

Nosotros haremos todo lo posible para proteger la privacidad de su hijo/a. Queremos que entienda usted algunas cosas acerca del estudio:

- El investigador que se reunirá con su hijo/a no le preguntará su nombre y a su hijo/a no se le pedirá que ingrese su nombre en el computador.
- Las respuestas de su hijo/a se utilizarán únicamente con el propósito de estudios estadísticos y siempre se mantendrán confidenciales.
- Todas las respuestas que su hijo/a ingrese en el computador serán confidenciales, es decir, nadie conocerá las respuestas que dé su hijo/a.
- Todos los datos enviados por Internet desde y hacia computadores del gobierno están sujetos a revisiones para la detección de amenazas de seguridad.
- Todos los investigadores involucrados en este estudio han firmado documentos en los que declaran que protegerán la privacidad de su hijo/a y que no le dirán a nadie lo que su hijo/a les haya dicho.
- Hay una ley que protege la privacidad de su hijo. Si una persona infringe esta ley, el castigo puede incluir multas de hasta 10,000 dólares.
- Sin embargo, hay una excepción importante a esta regla de confidencialidad. Si su hijo/a le dice al investigador que él/ella u otro niño/a ha sido objeto de abusos o maltratos, el hecho deberá ser reportado a la agencia gubernamental encargada de investigar este tipo de problemas. Si su hijo/a le dice al investigador que él o ella está en peligro de hacerse daño, el investigador tendrá que informarle a la institución.

Estudio Nacional de Jóvenes Detenidos – Planilla de Consentimiento del Padre/Madre – Tutor/a

Puede que algunas de las preguntas hechas a través del computador sean acerca de temas confidenciales o sensibles y puede que le molesten a su hijo/a. Si pensar en algunas de las preguntas perturba o entristece a su hijo/a, él/ella puede conversar con un orientador de la institución. Si no quiere hablar con un orientador que trabaja aquí, se puede concertar una cita con un orientador que no trabaja en la institución o bien que su hijo/a llame al ChildHelp National Hotline (1-800-4-A-Child o 1-800-422-4453).]

Si tiene preguntas acerca del estudio, puede llamar a (NOMBRE DEL CONTACTO EN LA INSTITUCIÓN) en (NOMBRE DE LA INSTITUCIÓN) al número (NÚMERO DE TELÉFONO DE LA INSTITUCIÓN) o bien puede llamar a la línea para información del Estudio Nacional de Jóvenes Detenidos (National Survey of Youth in Custody (1-XXX-XXX-XXXX)). Si tiene preguntas acerca de los derechos de (NAME OF YOUTH) como participante de un estudio, puede llamar a la Oficina de Protección de Participantes en Estudios de Westat al 1-888-920-7631; deje un mensaje con su nombre completo, el nombre del estudio sobre el cual llama (Estudio Nacional de Jóvenes Detenidos) y un número de teléfono empezando por el código de área.

Por favor, indique su decisión marcando una de las casillas que aparecen más abajo y colocando su firma y la fecha. Luego, envíe la planilla colocándola dentro del sobre anexo en el que ya está impresa la dirección y tiene las estampillas.

- Sí, doy mi permiso para que le pregunte a mi hijo/a si quiere participar en este estudio.

RE: (YOUTH NAME)

Hello, may I speak with (PARENT/GURADIAN)?

My name is (NAME). I am working for a company called Westat and we are calling on behalf of (FACILITY) for a special study that is being conducted for the U.S. Department of Justice.

We sent you a packet of information about the National Survey of Youth in Custody, a study being done by the U.S. Department of Justice to learn more about what it is like for young people living in correctional facilities.

Did you receive the packet?

- YES, RECEIVED PACKET.
- NO, DID NOT RECEIVE PACKET.

IF CALLING TO REQUEST VERBAL CONSENT, SAY: For quality control reasons, I will be recording this call.

I'm calling today to discuss the study with you and ask for your permission to invite (FULL NAME OF YOUTH) to be in the study.

So let me tell you a bit more about the study. The government will use the study to see if changes need to be made at facilities. We will combine the answers that youth from each facility give into a report on the facility. No names will appear in the report.

Young people in every state in the country will be asked to be part of this study and we would like your permission to ask your child, (NAME OF YOUTH), to be in the study. If you and (YOUTH FIRST NAME) agree, (he/she) will spend about 35 minutes answering questions using a computer. Youth will be asked questions about what it is like living at the facility, including questions about the staff, other youth who live in the facility, and (his/her) physical and mental health.. Some youth will also be asked questions about alcohol and drug use, contact with others outside the facility and their plans after they are released, and some will be asked about sexual experiences that might have happened, including those in the facility.

The computer will randomly decide which questions (YOUTH FIRST NAME) is asked; it has nothing to do with (his/her) background or history. If (he/she) agrees to be in the study, a researcher will show (him/her) how to use the computer. (He/she) will see the questions on the screen and hear the questions through headphones. (He/She) will touch the screen to answer the questions. No one will know which questions (he/she) is asked or what (he/she) answers.

Do you have any questions so far?

(YOUTH FIRST NAME) does not have to do the survey. It is entirely up to you whether we can ask (him/her), and then it is up to (him/her). Your choice will not affect (his/her) case or the services that (he/she) gets in any way. If (he/she) agrees to do the survey, (he/she) can stop answering questions at any point. If there is a question (he/she) does not want to answer, (he/she) can skip it.

We will do everything we can to protect your child's privacy. Some other things that I want you to know about the study are that:

- The researcher who meets with (YOUTH FIRST NAME) will not know or ask for (his/her) name and (he/she) will not be asked to put (his/her) name in the computer.
- Your child's answers will be used only for statistical and research purposes and they will always be kept private.
- All the answers that (he/she) puts in the computer will be confidential – that is, no one will know (his/her) answers.
- All information sent over the internet to and from government computers is subject to screening for security threats.
- All of the researchers working on this study have signed documents saying that they will protect your child's privacy and promising not to tell anyone anything that (he/she) has said. A law protects your child's privacy. If someone violates this law, punishment may include fines up to $10,000.

But there is an important exception to the privacy rule.

- If (YOUTH FIRST NAME) directly tells the researcher about any abuse or harm to (him/her) or another child, it will be reported to the government agency that investigates these kinds of problems. If your child tells the researcher he/she is in danger of hurting him/herself, the researcher will tell the facility.

Is it clear to you when something will be reported to the government agency that investigates these kinds of problems? [REPEAT ABOVE AS NEEDED.]

(IF NEEDED: The answers (FIRST NAME OF YOUTH) puts into the computer won't be reported to the government agency that investigates these kinds of problems.)

Some of the questions on the computer might ask about private and sensitive things and may bother your child. If thinking about the questions upsets or makes (YOUTH FIRST NAME) sad, (he/she) may talk with a counselor at the facility. If (he/she) does not want to talk to a counselor who works there, arrangements can be made to talk with a counselor who does not work at the facility [or with someone from the ChildHelp National Hotline (1-800-4-A-Child or 1-800-422-4453).]

If you have any questions about the study, you can call (FACILITY CONTACT NAME) at (FACILITY NAME) at (FACILITY PHONE NUMBER) or you can call the National Survey of Youth in Custody Information Line (1-888-XXX-XXXX). Bureau of Justice Statistics
U.S. Department of Justice

The National Survey of Youth in Custody (NSYC) is a study that will help describe what it is like for young people living in correctional facilities. The U.S. Department of Justice did the last NSYC study in 2012, and nearly 10,000 young people from 326 facilities across America took part. The third NSYC study will begin in 2017, and over 19,000 young people will be asked to take part.

The study will ask young people to answer questions about themselves, their feelings, and their experiences. Their answers will be combined to show what it is like to live in juvenile facilities in America.

Your child may or may not be picked for the study. Your child has a chance to be a part of the study because he or she is now staying in a facility that has agreed to participate. It is important for the NSYC to give a true picture of the experiences and needs of all young people—male and female, all different races and ethnic groups, all ages, from all parts of the country, and living in all types of facilities. The study will give the best information if every selected child completes the survey.

The NSYC interview is done on a computer. If you give your permission and your child is selected, he or she will be invited to spend about 35 minutes completing the survey on a laptop computer. Youth who agree to take part will be seated in front of the computer and will put on a pair of headphones. The computer will start by explaining how to listen to the survey questions and how to choose answers. Youth will also be told how to skip a question if he or she doesn't want to answer it.

The survey questions and possible answer choices will appear on the computer screen. At the same time, your child can listen through the headphones to a recorded voice reading what's on the screen. Your child will touch the computer screen to select an answer for each question, moving along at his or her own pace.

The questions will ask about what it is like living at the facility. This includes questions about the staff, other youth who live in the facility, and their physical and mental health. Some youth will also be asked questions about alcohol and drug use, contact with others outside the facility and their plans after release, and some will be asked about sexual experiences that might have happened, including those in the facility.

Your child's answers will be private and anonymous. His or her answers will not be shared with anyone—not the facility staff, not even you. The room will be set up so that no one can see the answers your child selects. The survey team will not know any child's name, and we will combine the responses from all the youth who take part. The study reports will give only totals and percentages, never any individual child's answers.

Your child's answers will be safeguarded by a Federal law that protects the information from any use other than for research. This protection means that no one, not even a court of law, can force the survey team to release information about your child's identity to anyone. But there is an important exception to the privacy rule. If your child tells the researcher about any abuse or harm to himself or herself, or another child, occurring in the facility, it will be reported to the state or local government agency that investigates these kinds of problems. If your child tells the researcher he/she is in danger of hurting him/herself, the researcher will tell the facility.

The NSYC interview is voluntary. Even if you allow your child to participate, he or she will still have a choice. Before the interview starts, a member of the survey team will explain the survey. Youth who don't want to take part can quit before the interview starts or at any time during the interview. They can also skip any questions that they don't want to answer. No matter what you or your child decides about taking part in the survey, there will be no consequences. Your child will not get into any trouble if he or she chooses to not participate or quits early. Also, your child will not receive anything for participating or get any special services as a result.

Facilities are selected randomly for the survey. There are more than 2,500 juvenile facilities in the country. About 450 of them will be randomly selected to be in the survey. This means that the facilities are selected by chance, similar to conducting a lottery. Your child lives in a facility that was selected. All youth living in the smaller facilities are automatically selected to be in the survey. If your child's facility is larger, then the survey team will randomly select youth for the study from the code-name list of everyone living there.

The NSYC is sponsored by the Bureau of Justice Statistics, an agency within the U.S. Department of Justice.

The survey is being conducted by Westat, an independent research organization that is not affiliated with any of the facilities in this study.

NSYC Youth Assent/Consent Form

We are doing a special study for the U.S. Department of Justice to find out more about what it's like for young people living in places like this. The study is called the National Survey of Youth in Custody.

The government will use the study to see if changes need to be made at places like this. We will combine the answers that people give from this place into a report on this facility. No names will appear in the report and it won't say anything about who said what.

We're asking people in every state in the country to be part of this study and we would like you to participate. If you agree to be part of the study, you'll answer some questions using this computer.

- Answering the questions takes about 35 minutes.
- You will be asked questions about your background, what it is like living at this facility, treatment by staff, other youth who live in the facility, and your physical and mental health.
- You might be asked questions about drug or alcohol use before you came to this facility, contact with others outside the facility and your plans after you are released. Or you might be asked about sexual experiences, including those that might have happened in this facility.
- The computer will randomly decide which questions you are asked; it has nothing to do with why you are at this place or what you might have told someone.
- Answering is easy. You'll see the questions on the screen and hear the questions in the headphones. You touch the computer screen to answer the questions.
- Nobody, not even me, will know which questions you get or what you answer.
- You don't have to do this study. It's entirely up to you. No matter what you decide, your case will not be affected in anyway. You can start the interview and then decide to quit at any time. Just tell me that you want to stop and I'll tell you what to do. If you want to skip a question, that's ok too.
- A law protects your privacy. If someone violates this law, punishment may include fines up to $10,000.
- All information sent over the internet to and from government computers is subject to screening for security threats.

- Your answers will be used only for statistical and research purposes and they will always be kept private. I will not ask your name and you will not be asked to put your name in the computer. No one on the project or on staff here will ever know your answers.
- There is an important exception to this privacy rule. If you tell me that you or anyone else has been abused or harmed, I will report it to the government agency that investigates these reports. If you tell me you are in danger of hurting yourself, I would be required to tell someone here at the facility.
- So again, if you answer on the computer, even if it is about being abused or harmed, no one will know your answer, not even me. But, if you tell me directly that you or anyone else has been abused or harmed, I will report it to the government agency that investigates these reports.
- If thinking about the questions upsets you or makes you sad, I can arrange for you to talk with a counselor who works here. If you don't want to talk to a counselor who works here, I can arrange for you to talk with a counselor who does not work here [or someone from the ChildHelp National Hotline (1-800-4-A-Child or 1-800-422-4453)]. Just let me know.

If you have any questions, you can ask me anytime while I'm here. [After I leave,

- If you have any questions about your rights as a study participant, you can call Sharon Zack at 1-800-937-8281, ext. 8828 and say that you are calling about the National Survey of Youth in Custody. She works for the same company that I work for.
- If you have questions about how the study works, call the National Survey of Youth in Custody Information Line at 1-XXX-XXX-XXXX]

[NOTE: Highlighted sections will be removed from assent form for youth in any facilities that will not allow access to a telephone.]

So that's it. I hope that you'll be willing to take part in this important study. No matter what experiences you have had, your answers will help us understand what it's like for young people living in places like this.

Yes. By checking this box I am saying that I understand the statements above and that I agree to take part in this study.

NO. By checking this box I am saying that I do not want to participate in the study.

Estamos llevando a cabo un estudio especial para el Departamento de Justicia de Estados Unidos para conocer más cómo viven los jóvenes en un centro correccional. El nombre del estudio es Estudio Nacional de Jóvenes Detenidos.

El gobierno utilizará este estudio para ver si es necesario hacer cambios en instituciones como ésta. Vamos a elaborar un informe sobre esta institución en el que integraremos las respuestas dadas por los jóvenes que están aquí. En el informe no aparecerán nombres ni tampoco se dirá quién dijo qué cosa.

Le estamos pidiendo a los jóvenes de todos los estados del país que participen en este estudio y quisiéramos que tú también participaras. Si aceptas, responderás a las preguntas utilizando este computador.

- Responder a las preguntas sólo te tomará unos 35 minutos.
- Se te harán preguntas generales, así como preguntas acerca de cómo es vivir en esta institución, el tratamiento que recibes de parte del personal y otros jóvenes que viven aquí y acerca de tu salud física y mental.
- Puede que te hagan preguntas acerca de tu posible consumo de drogas o alcohol antes de llegar a esta institución, tu contacto con personas fuera de la institución y tus planes para después de salir de esta institución. O es posible que haya preguntas acerca de experiencias sexuales, inclusive de las que pudieras haber tenido en esta institución.
- El computador, al azar, decidirá qué preguntas se te formularán, sin que ello tenga nada que ver con la razón por la que estás en este lugar o con lo que puedas haberle contado a alguien.
- Responder es fácil. Verás las preguntas escritas en la pantalla y las escucharás a través de los audífonos. Tocas la pantalla del computador para responder a las preguntas.
- Nadie, ni siquiera yo, sabrá qué preguntas te fueron hechas ni lo que respondas.

De acuerdo con la Ley de reducción de papeleo, no podemos pedirte que respondas a una recolección de información a menos que ésta muestre un número de control vigente de OMB. Se calcula que el tiempo para esta recolección de información es de 35 minutos por cuestionario, incluyendo el tiempo necesario para revisar las instrucciones, buscar fuentes de datos existentes, reunir y mantener los datos necesarios y completar y revisar la recolección de información. Envía los comentarios acerca de este cálculo de tiempo necesario, incluyendo sugerencias sobre cómo reducirlo, o acerca de cualquier otro aspecto de esta recolección de información al Director, Bureau of Justice Statistics, 810 Seventh Street, NW, Washington, DC 20531; y a la Office of Management and Budget, OMB No. 1121-0064, Washington, DC 20503.

- No estás obligado a participar en este estudio. Tú decides si lo quieres hacer. Independientemente de lo que decidas hacer, tu decisión no afectará de ninguna manera tu caso. Puedes empezar a responder a las preguntas y luego decidir detenerte en cualquier momento. Solamente me tienes que decir que no quieres continuar y te diré qué debes hacer. Si quieres saltarte una pregunta, también lo puedes hacer.
- Una ley protege tu privacidad. Si una persona infringe esta ley, el castigo puede incluir multas de hasta 10,000 dólares.
- Todos los datos enviados por Internet desde y hacia computadores del gobierno están sujetos a revisiones para la detección de amenazas de seguridad.
- Tus respuestas se utilizarán únicamente con el propósito de estudios estadísticos y siempre se mantendrán confidenciales. Yo no te preguntaré tu nombre y tampoco se te pedirá que lo escribas en el computador. Nunca nadie, ni los del proyecto ni el personal, sabrán qué respondiste.
- Hay una excepción importante a esta regla de confidencialidad. Si me dices que tú o alguien más ha sido objeto de abusos o maltratos, lo reportaré a la agencia gubernamental que se encarga de investigar estos casos. Si me dices que corres el peligro de hacerte daño, estaré obligado a contárselo a alguien en esta institución.
- Entonces, una vez más, si respondes en el computador, inclusive si se trata de un abuso o un maltrato, nadie conocerá tu respuesta, ni siquiera yo. Pero, si me dices a mí directamente que tú o alguien más ha sido objeto de abusos o maltratos, lo reportaré a la agencia gubernamental que se encarga de investigar estos casos.
- Si pensar acerca de lo que te preguntan te perturba o te entristece, puedo concertarte una cita para que te reúnas con un orientador que trabaja aquí. Si no quieres hablar con un orientador que trabaja aquí, puedo concertarte una cita para que te reúnas con un orientador que no trabaja aquí [o con alguien del ChildHelp National Hotline (1-800-4-A-Child o 1-800-422-4453)]. Sólo me lo tienes que decir.

Si tienes preguntas, me las puedes hacer en cualquier momento mientras estoy aquí. [Después de que me vaya,

- Si tienes preguntas acerca de tus derechos como participante de un estudio, puedes llamar a Sharon Zack al 1-800-937-8281, ext. 8828 y menciona que llamas acerca del Estudio Nacional de Jóvenes Detenidos. Ella trabaja en la misma compañía en la que trabajo yo.

Email Template for Initial Contact with Liaisons

Good (morning/afternoon/evening). My name is [NAME]. I left a message for you this (morning/afternoon/evening) and am following up by email. I understand that you will be out of the office until [DATE]. [I spoke with {NAME} and learned that you have been designated as the liaison to the National Survey of Youth in Custody (NSYC).

The purpose of my call was to introduce myself and to review your role in the study. Specific issues that I would like to discuss include the following:

1. Authorization and research review requirements: I would like to talk about procedures that we will need to follow to obtain study clearance. For example, some (states/agencies) require that the study be reviewed by a (state/agency) institutional review board (IRB). If IRB or any other type of review is required, I would like to obtain a copy of the review procedures and necessary forms so we can start completing them as soon as possible.

2. Security clearances for Westat staff: I need to identify any special requirements for the survey team to gain access to the facilities, for example, background checks. If there are special procedures or forms to be completed, I would like to get copies of these materials.

3. Mandatory reporting procedures: We consider our survey teams to be mandatory reporters when youth make verbal allegations of abuse or harm, and therefore we will comply with all state and local reporting requirements. We would like to review any written guidelines pertaining to mandatory reporting for individuals housed in juvenile facilities. For example, we would be looking for information on types of allegations that must be reported and how the reports should be submitted including what office should receive the reports, what medium (e.g., hardcopy, electronic) we will use, and what information to include in the reports.

4. Consent procedures: NSYC can implement various strategies to obtain consent for minors to participate in the study:

A. In loco parentis, in which the agency or facility provides consent in lieu of the parent/guardian. This procedure has been approved by Westat's IRB in cases where the agency or facility is willing to accept responsibility for providing consent. It was used successfully in the previous NSYC studies and found to lessen the burden on facility staff and increase response rates. If the agency or facility wishes to notify parents/guardians about the study, Westat is able to assist with contacting them by mail and/or telephone.

B. Active parent/guardian consent, in which written or verbal consent is required from the parent/guardian of each youth. This procedure was also successfully used in the previous NSYC studies. It does require relatively more involvement by the liaison and facility staff. For example, we would need to define the contact strategy (e.g., mail, telephone, face-to-face) and schedule, assign responsibilities to Westat, facility, and state staff for producing materials (e.g., letters, case status forms, instructions), contacting households, and tracking results. Westat is willing to take responsibility for as much of this process as possible. If we are to contact parents/guardians, we will need the names, addresses, and telephone numbers of parents/guardians and the names of youth.

5. Counseling procedures: Since some of the survey questions ask about sensitive topics, our IRB requires that facility counselors and outside counselors are available if youth request services. We will need to identify appropriate options for providing external counselors (e.g., someone from the agency central office).

6. Documentation: Before we contact facilities, we will need documentation that the (state/agency) has agreed to support NSYC.

I have also attached a study brochure, agency administration information sheet, agency roles and responsibilities sheet, and the facility roles and responsibilities sheet for your convenience. I will call you on [DATE] to discuss the study. In the meantime, please reply or call me if you have any questions. My contact information is listed below. Thank you.

Sincerely,

National Survey of Youth in Custody (NSYC)

Sponsored by

Bureau of Justice Statistics
U.S. Department of Justice

The Bureau of Justice Statistics (BJS) carries out the National Survey of Youth in Custody (NSYC) in response to the Prison Rape Elimination Act of 2003 (P.L. 108-79) (PREA). The Act requires BJS to collect data on the prevalence of sexual victimization of youth living in juvenile correctional facilities according to the prevalence of sexual victimization.

BJS conducted the first NSYC study in 2008; over 10,000 youth from almost 200 facilities nationwide took part. In 2012, the second NSYC study (NSYC-2) was conducted, and nearly 10,000 youth from 326 facilities across the nation participated.

Adjudicated youth in state facilities or placed by the state in non-state facilities are eligible to participate.

Minors will be asked to take part in the study only if (1) the state or facility provides consent in loco parentis or (2) a legal guardian provides consent. Minors (with consent) and adult youth will be asked to complete an interview.

The NSYC interview is done on a computer. Youth spend about 30 minutes completing the survey. Youth who agree to take part will be seated in front of a laptop computer and will put on a pair of headphones.

The survey questions and possible answer choices will appear on the computer screen. At the same time, the youth can listen through the headphones to a recorded voice reading the text that appears on the screen. Youth will touch the computer screen to select an answer for each question, moving along at their own pace.

Questions will ask about their experiences while living at the facility.

This includes questions about the staff, the health services the youth might have used, and other youth who live in the facility. Some youth will also be asked questions about alcohol and drug use, contact with others outside the facility and their plans after release, and some will be asked about any sexual experiences that might have happened in the facility.

Youths' answers on the survey will remain private and anonymous.

However, if a youth makes a verbal allegation to the researcher about any abuse or harm to himself or herself, or another child, occurring in the facility, it will be reported to the state or local government agency that investigates these kinds of problems.

State and non-state agencies will be asked to support the study in the following ways:

- Define clearance procedures. Identify procedures that are required for the study to be conducted in the selected juvenile facilities (e.g., submitting study protocols for review, performing background checks on data collection staff).
- Determine consent requirements. Confirm state or non-state agency standards for obtaining permission to interview youth (i.e., in loco parentis or active parent/guardian consent).
- Define mandatory reporting procedures. Communicate the requirements and procedures for reporting verbal allegations of abuse or neglect made by youth to the research team.
- Identify counseling support. Arrange for counseling resources to be available at each participating facility. Both facility-based and non-facility based counselors (e.g., central office staff) must be identified.

Facilities will be asked to support the study in the following ways:

- Report on facility characteristics. Provide information on general facility and unit characteristics (e.g., number of state-placed adjudicated youth) needed to plan the logistical details of study activities at the facility.
- Provide youth rosters. Provide an initial roster of state-placed adjudicated youth and weekly updates on discharges and newly admitted youth.
- Assist with consent requirements: If active parent/guardian consent is required, work with Westat (the research firm conducting the study for BJS) to determine and conduct the appropriate procedures.
- Arrange for visits by Westat researchers. Schedule the data collection visit and facilitate data collection procedures (e.g., providing private areas for youth to complete the interview, escorting youth to and from the interview areas).

- Complete a facility survey. The survey focuses on facility and unit characteristics such as staffing, surveillance, and other facility and unit characteristics (e.g., facility type).
- Provide administrative records on youth. Supply information on all state-placed adjudicated youth at the facility (e.g., most serious offense).

Further information on NSYC is available. The study is sponsored by the Bureau of Justice Statistics (BJS), an agency within the U.S. Department of Justice.

National Survey of Youth in Custody (NSYC) Agency Information Sheet

U.S. Department of Justice
Bureau of Justice Statistics

Implementation Process

November 2017 – October 2018

- Westat will contact the agency director to learn who will serve as the liaison for your agency.
- The liaison will define the consent requirements for state-placed adjudicated minors to participate in the study.
- The liaison will confirm the state mandatory reporting requirements and procedures for reporting alleged abuse or neglect based on verbal statements made by youth.

February 2018 – December 2018

- Westat will provide the liaison with a list of facilities selected to participate in NSYC.
- The liaison will contact the facility administrators to inform them of the agency's support of the study.
- Westat will mail an NSYC information packet to facility administrators.
- Westat will contact the facility administrators to learn who will serve as the coordinator for the facility.
- Westat will provide the coordinators with study materials and begin planning and preparing for data collection at the facility. Planning activities will be completed by the end of December 2018.
- If the agency or facility cannot provide consent on behalf of parents, Westat will work with the facility coordinator (and agency liaison, if needed) to define procedures for obtaining verbal or written parent/guardian consent. If Westat has a role in contacting parents/guardians for consent, the coordinator will provide contact information for the parents/guardians of minors selected to participate in the study.
- Westat and the coordinator will schedule the data collection visit. Several weeks before the visit, the coordinator will provide and update (weekly) a roster of all state-placed adjudicated youth.

April 2018 – December 2018

- A survey team will visit each facility to conduct data collection. This will include meeting individually with youth, and supporting the coordinator in responding to the Facility Survey and providing administrative records data for all state-placed adjudicated youth.

NATIONAL SURVEY OF YOUTH IN CUSTODY (NSYC) State Roles and Responsibilities

State Director/Commissioner

- 1. Designate a State Liaison: The State Director/Commissioner will select a state staff person who will serve as a liaison to the study. This liaison will work with the residential juvenile facilities and Westat to prepare for and coordinate the survey team visit.
- 2. Provide State Clearance: The State Director/Commissioner will provide authorization, via the State Liaison, for Westat to contact the selected facilities in your state to arrange for participation in this survey.

State Liaison

- 1. Inform Facility Superintendent/Administrator and Identify a Facility Coordinator: The State Liaison will contact the superintendents/administrators of the selected facilities in the state to inform them of the NSYC study and identify a staff person in the facility who will serve as the point-of-contact for scheduling and arranging for the survey team visit.
- 2. Communicate Requirements to Obtain Informed Consent for Minors: The State Liaison will identify whether the state/facility will provide consent for adjudicated minors to participate in the survey on behalf of the parents (i.e., in loco parentis). If this is not an option for your state, the Liaison will work with the facility and Westat to define the procedures for obtaining written or verbal consent from the minors' parents/guardians.
- 3. Communicate Requirements for Reporting Data and Date of Destruction of Data: The State Liaison will provide the state's requirement for reporting NSYC's state data and will provide the date of destruction requirements.
- 4. Confirm State Mandatory Reporting Procedures: The State Liaison will confirm how incidents should be reported to child welfare authorities if a youth informs the survey team of abuse or neglect. Prior to the survey visit, the team will need to understand the state mandatory reporting procedures and will need the telephone number and paperwork requirements (if applicable) for submitting a report.
- 5. Assist in Obtaining Youth Rosters: The State Liaison will support NSYC to ensure each facility provides complete and accurate rosters of all adjudicated youth in a timely manner.
- 6. Specify Security Clearance Requirements for Westat Survey Staff: The State Liaison will specify any special requirements for the survey team to gain access to the facilities. This may include special identification requirements or background checks.
- 7. Identify External Counseling Resources: The State Liaison will confirm that both internal and external counseling will be available to youth who participate in the survey. The Westat Institutional Review Board (IRB) requires that youth receive counseling if they become upset after the survey or if they ask to speak to a counselor. If the youth requests to speak to someone who is not a facility counselor, arrangements must be in place for the youth to speak privately with an outside counselor.

NATIONAL SURVEY OF YOUTH IN CUSTODY (NSYC) Facility Roles and Responsibilities

Facility administrator

1. Designate a facility coordinator: The facility administrator will designate a staff person who will work with Westat to prepare for the survey team visit and to complete the facility survey.

Facility coordinator

1. Describe facility characteristics: The coordinator will provide information about the facility (e.g., number of living units, number of youth) through a series of brief telephone interviews. This information will be used to plan for the visit.
2. Schedule the facility visit: The coordinator and Westat staff will schedule the visit based on the facility schedule, expected number of youth, and availability of researchers. Typically the research team will consist of two to five Westat staff.
3. Provide youth roster: Several weeks prior to the visit date, the coordinator will provide Westat with a roster of state-placed adjudicated youth in the facility. The roster will contain an identification number for each youth (unrelated to other identifiers maintained by the facility), the gender, date of birth, and date of admission.
4. Provide roster updates: The coordinator will provide Westat with weekly roster updates to add newly admitted youth and remove youth as they are discharged from the facility.
5. Support efforts to obtain consent for youth to participate: When possible, the agency or facility will grant permission to interview youth in loco parentis. If this is not possible, Westat will work with the coordinator to determine appropriate procedures to obtain permission from parents/guardians. If Westat assists in obtaining permission, the coordinator will provide parent/guardian contact information as needed.

6. Plan visit logistics: In preparation for the survey visit, the coordinator will identify private rooms where each researcher will conduct the interviews and arrange the daily schedule so youth can be available. These plans will be prepared in advance and then confirmed when the team supervisor meets with the coordinator on the first day of the visit.
7. Arrange for counseling services: The coordinator will ensure that counseling is available for youth, if requested. If the youth asks to speak with a counselor who is not affiliated with the facility, services from an outside counselor should be arranged.
8. Define mandatory reporting procedures: NSYC researchers are considered subject to state and local mandatory reporting requirements. When youth make verbal allegations of abuse or harm to a researcher, a report will be made. General procedures will be specified by the agency liaison. However, the facility coordinator will be asked to define the specific procedures for the facility (e.g., name and contact information for the agency designated to receive the report).
9. Provide administrative records data: The coordinator will complete an administrative data form that collects information (e.g., reason for placement, most serious offense) about all state-placed adjudicated youth in the facility.
10. Provide support during data collection visit: The coordinator will be the point of contact while the interviews are taking place. This includes scheduling the interviews for the selected youth and arranging for staff to escort youth to and from the interview rooms.

AGENCY LETTERHEAD

TO: Westat
FROM: [INSERT STATE/AGENCY AUTHORITY]
SUBJECT: National Survey of Youth in Custody

[INSERT STATE/AGENCY AUTHORITY] endorses the National Survey of Youth in Custody (NSYC) and agrees to support data collection at the following facilities:

LIST OF FACILITIES
[INSERT FACILITIES]

We understand that Westat, a research corporation located in Rockville, Maryland, will soon contact these facilities to enroll them in NSYC, a national survey of youth in custody sponsored by the U.S. Department of Justice, Bureau of Justice Statistics. NSYC is designed to obtain information about all adjudicated youth in state facilities and state-placed adjudicated youth in non-state facilities in [INSERT STATE] and nationwide. Ultimately, the findings from the NSYC will inform policymakers at the national and state levels about the experiences of youth in custody.

Westat will send materials to [this facility/each of these facilities] which will detail the process to be used to conduct the survey. The materials will advise facilities that BJS and Westat will keep confidential all information identifiable to a youth, with the exception of verbal statements by youth indicating abuse or harm.

We will encourage facilities to cooperate in this effort. If facilities have any questions regarding this cooperative effort, they may contact [INSERT LIAISON AND CONTACT INFO].

NATIONAL SURVEY OF YOUTH IN CUSTODY (NSYC) Facility Information Sheet

U.S. Department of Justice
Bureau of Justice Statistics

Implementation Process

November 2017 – December 2018

- Westat will mail an NSYC information packet to the facility administrator.
- Westat will contact the facility administrator to learn who will serve as the coordinator for the facility.
- Westat will provide the coordinator with study materials and begin planning and preparing for data collection at the facility. Planning activities will be completed by the end of December 2018.
- If the agency or facility cannot provide consent on behalf of parents, Westat will work with the facility coordinator (and agency liaison, if needed) to define procedures for obtaining verbal or written parent/guardian consent. If Westat has a role in contacting parents/guardians for consent, the coordinator will provide contact information for the parents/guardians of minors selected to participate in the study.
- Westat and the coordinator will schedule the data collection visit. Several weeks before the visit, the coordinator will provide and update (weekly) a roster of all state-placed adjudicated youth.

April 2018 – December 2018

- Survey team visits will be conducted between April and December 2018.
- The coordinator will find private space in the facility where each Westat team member can meet individually with youth to conduct the interviews. The coordinator will assign facility staff to escort youth to and from the interview area(s).
- The coordinator will gather information requested on the NSYC Facility Survey and provide the completed survey to Westat.
- The coordinator will provide administrative records data (approximately 6 data items, such as "most serious offense") on all state-placed adjudicated youth in the facility.

National Survey of Youth in Custody Facility Information Worksheet

This worksheet highlights the topics that NSYC study staff will need to discuss with the facility coordinator. You are not asked to return this form; rather, we offer it as a tool to help you prepare for the call with our staff. We will followup with you periodically to learn of any changes.

If you have any questions, please contact your NSYC study contact person at Westat (800-XXX-XXXX).

Thank you for your assistance and cooperation.

IRB Approval.....	1

An Employee-Owned
Research Corporation

Memo

Date: March 21, 2017
To: John Hartge, Project Director
From: Kerry Levin, Chair Westat IRB Kerry Levin
Subject: Initial Approval of National Survey of Youth in Custody (NSYC-3), Project Number 6465
FWA 00005551

On Tuesday, March 14, 2017, NSYC-3, Project Number 6465, was presented to the full Board. Pursuant to 45 CFR pt. 46 (and 28 CFR 46) the IRB reviews all studies involving research on human subjects. Department of Justice funds this study.

This request was to review and approve the third administration of National Study on Youth in Custody (NSYC-2). Westat completed NYSC-2 in 2012; approximately 9,900 youth completed surveys in 326 state-owned and privately owned juvenile facilities.

During the discussion, the following information was provided to the Board:

- The PD clarified that the Monitor/Interviewer will complete the Interview observation form once the youth completes the survey. The project team may consider deleting the Refused option response on the form on Page 296.
- The project team confirmed that the parent permission form directs parents to call the IRB line and leave a message. If youth have access to telephones in facilities, then the IRB Administrator's name and contact information will be included on the assent form.

Action Requested: Review protocols, recruitment materials, consent forms, and accompanying materials.

Action Taken: Per 45 CFR 46 (28 CFR 46), the Westat IRB determined that this research met criteria for classification as minimal risk and assigned it a Conditional Approval. For: 9; Against: 0; Abstain: 0.

The following is a list of conditions made by the Board and responses approved under expedited authority on March 21, 2017:

Initial Application

1. Correct the answer to the question, Is this project federally funded? (Page 1)

PD Response: The contract is federally funded.

2. Under E6. Broader Data Dissemination Activities, since it was reported during the Board Meeting that three public-use data files (e.g., facility questionnaire data, facility housing unit survey, and alternative/supplemental survey) are contract deliverables, confirm whether this contract includes or does not include any responsibility for providing public-use data files to your client (page 4). If necessary, provide additional information under section 8 (pages 31-32) of your project summary.

PD Response: The contract includes providing 3 public-use data files to BJS. The following information was added to the project summary:

Westat will create and submit to BJS two restricted-use and three public-use data files for archiving at the National Archive of Criminal Justice Data (NACJD). All data files will be submitted with a comprehensive codebook, user manual, sample design, data collection procedures, response rate analyses, editing procedures, and imputation methods (where applicable).

The following five data files will be provided:

1. A restricted-use data file for Enclave access only, which will provide final data from the core sexual victimization survey.
2. A restricted-use data file for Enclave access only, which will contain all data from the core sexual victimization survey and the facility survey completed by facility administrators, and calculated facility-level data derived from the core survey.
3. An unrestricted public-use file will provide the final data from the facility survey.
4. An unrestricted public-use data file which will contain data from the alternative (NSYC-A) survey completed by the 10% random sample of youth. This file will contain all data adjustments for nonresponse, base weights and national weights, sampling information needed to generate standard errors, and calculated variables for analysis.
5. An unrestricted public-use file which contain data items common to the core NSYC-3 (90%) and the NSYC-A (10%).

BJS will work with Westat to conduct a disclosure analysis of the NSYC-3 data for the restricted- and public-use data files and to define the procedures for access to the restricted-use data. All files will be subject to data disclosure rules outlined in the disclosure analysis plans (DAP). Westat will conduct the risk analyses and submit the results of the risk measures, and plans for Statistical Disclosure Control (SDC) treatments (e.g., data combination, data suppression and data perturbation). The DAP will be finalized 90 days after data collection ends. Once the BJS Project Manager (PM) agrees to the recommendations in the DAP, we will conduct the SDC treatments and submit the results of the utility measures to be considered for approval of the analysis results by the BJS PM. Westat will incorporate the data changes from the disclosure analyses into the restricted and public use data files.

In our proposal, we noted that BJS might consider use of WesDaX, for the public use files. WesDaX would offer users significant flexibility for generating a wide variety of cross tabulations in real-time without jeopardizing the confidentiality of respondents. A decision on the use of WesDaX is still pending.

Appendix A1. Parent Consent Cover Letter (Page 34)

3. Revise informed consent and assent forms, letter, and scripts to make consistent that youth will answer questions about sexual experiences either inside or outside the facility.

PD Response: The assent form, parent letter, parent consent form and TRC script were already consistent in their language that youth “will be asked about sexual experiences that might have happened, including those in this facility.” Language in the parent brochure was not and was revised to match the other documents.

Appendix A.3 Parent/Guardian Consent Form (Page 37)

4. Since the 4th bullet regarding “sending information over the internet” doesn’t apply to the youth’s privacy, the IRB suggests that you revise the statement introducing the bullets such as, “Here are some other points that we want you to know:”

PD Response: The statement introducing the bullets was revised to say, “We want you to understand a few things about the study:”

5. Confirm that the following statement (Page 34), is consistent on all consent/assent forms and scripts, “But it’s different if your child directly tells the researcher about any threatened or actual abuse or harm to him or her or another child. If that happens, we have to report it to the government agency that investigates these problems.”

PD Response: Two separate statements have been revised and addressed in each document:

- If your child tells the researcher about any abuse or harm to him/her or another child, it will be reported to the government agency that investigates these kinds of problems.
- If your child tells the researcher he/she is in danger of hurting him/herself, the researcher will tell the facility.

Appendix A4. Telephone Consent Script (for Parent/Guardian) (Page 38-41)

6. Confirm that the statement regarding Cybersecurity Act that exists in the consent and assent forms is also included in the TRC Telephone Consent Script.

PD Response: The TRC Telephone Script was revised so that all 3 sentences from the Cybersecurity Act are now present.

Appendix B. Frequently Asked Questions (Page 43)

7. Clarify or revise the 4th question on the page, “My child is very hurt, and I am afraid that he/she will breakdown if he/she is asked about these questions.”

PD Response: The FAQ was revised to say, “My child has had some very bad experiences, and I am afraid that he/she will breakdown if he/she is asked about these questions.”

Please note the following:

- Submit this study for a continuing review before March 14, 2018.
- Request IRB approval before any new or modified research activities are conducted or when there is a problem involving risks to human subjects.
- Upon learning of an incident, you must contact the IRB Office within 24 hours via telephone (301-610-8828) or email (IRB@westat.com).

NSYC-3
Data Security Plan

The security of project data is of the utmost importance to Westat. Therefore, as part of our research proposal, this Data Security Plan outlines the steps to be taken to ensure the confidentiality of study data and the anonymity of respondents at all stages in the transfer, collection, and processing of files. This Data Security Plan reflects the objective of all Westat IT security policies and practices, which is to protect systems and data from a wide range of risks, to comply with the various legislative and contractual requirements of clients, and to educate staff regarding their responsibilities to comply with these policies.

Westat Information Technology and Systems (ITS) Security Policy and Best Practices, attached, describes the security policies, principles, standards and compliance requirements that are important to Westat and addresses the Data Security Plan requirements.

The following cross-references those requirements with ITS and addresses our compliance with each of the data security requirements specified in OCFS's Research Approval Policy.

Name and contact information for the person(s) responsible for implementing and monitoring adherence to the Data Security Plan:

Data Access Restricted to Authorized Users

Per Westat Information Technology and Systems (ITS) Security Policy and Best Practices (Section 2), access to network storage areas, files, and other resources are controlled through the use of directory and file access rights, which are granted to specifically authorized users. Those users are assigned privileges based on the functions of the users within each application. For example, resource privileges and data definition privileges are restricted to technical staff, and database administration accounts are assigned only to trained, authorized senior staff. Westat identification and authentication policy and procedures are discussed in Sections 3-4. ITS Section 3 discusses network and communications security, including password, encryption, and related policies. ITS Section 4 discusses personnel security, and includes identification and authentication policies. These policies are reviewed annually by the Corporate Officer for Systems Security (COSS) who coordinates review with technical committees and corporate management as appropriate.

As described in the Westat Information Technology and Systems (ITS) Security Policy and Best Practices, information is protected at rest and during transmission by the use of various encryption technologies such as disk encryption, file encryption, TLS/SSL, digital certificates and digital signatures.

Restrictions on Direct Identifying Information

The following discusses the projects approach to specific data restriction on direct identifying information such as names and addresses.

- must be kept in a data file separate from the other subject data

- only one file containing those data
- stored on a computer located in a locked room with access limited to persons authorized to use the data
- should be stored in an encrypted format
- Removable electronic storage media such as diskettes, CD-ROMs, and USB storage devices must be encrypted and stored in a locked cabinet.
- Paper files, recording devices, and tapes also must be stored in a secure/locked cabinet.
- subject data must not be accessible through the Internet

Per Westat Information Technology and Systems (ITS) Security Policy and Best Practices (Section 1), access to Westat facilities is controlled at all times through the use of magnetic key cards assigned to individual staff; certain contracted consultants, and, in a few cases, selected vendor staff with established long-term business relationships. Some internal spaces such as computer centers have additional magnetic card key locks; others are secured with combination locks. Per Section 2, information in hard copy form, including information system output, is kept in locked cabinets or spaces when not in use. Media containing sensitive information are securely stored in rooms and/or desks, filing cabinets, or other containers. High-security cabinets with additional locks and bars are available if necessary. Large volumes of sensitive media are stored in designated "field rooms", which are controlled access spaces.

Destruction of Confidential Data

Confidential data will be destroyed by date stipulated in Westat IRB submission. Per Westat Information Technology and Systems (ITS) Security Policy and Best Practices (Section 2), media that contain data are sanitized by degaussing, low-level formatting, or other destructive methods. Hardcopy media containing sensitive information are shredded and recycled. Secure bulk shredding services are provided, with secure shredding bins available for hardcopy materials in most Westat facilities. Per Westat Network Technical Services Operating Standards and Procedures, tape media are degaussed using a Proton 8000 magnetic media degausser; an itemized listing of tape identifiers is created and a transmittal letter sent to a local media destruction vendor who then transport the tapes to their facility for shredding. After the materials are destroyed a confirmation letter is returned to Westat certifying final destruction. GDisk is used to destroy information stored on hard disk drives by erasing the master boot record, removing any existing partition(s), and reformatting the drive three times. Other digital media are stored in a padlocked container then degaussed and destroyed in bulk, in the same manner as backup tapes except that no transmittal letter is prepared.

Data Flow

The information system resides within and is hosted by Westat's corporate network. System components are in secured and controlled spaces. All access is controlled by authentication methods to validate the approved users. Encryption products used to protect system data, where encryption is required, are FIPS 140-2 validated and certified. The project information flow is described below.

Incoming data

Personal identifying information about potential youth respondents and their parents/guardians are introduced to Westat through to types of data collection instruments.

- Youth Roster
- Guardian Information Form (GIF)

The Youth Roster will contain the name of the youth's living unit, admission date to the facility, a code for most serious offense for which the youth was assigned to the facility, the youth's race and ethnicity, gender, date of birth, and age grouping (Adult or minor).

The GIF will contain the youth's date of birth (to match with roster), name, parent or guardian's name, address, and phone number.

The Youth Roster and GIF will be submitted via 3 possible methods; secure website, secure password protected Fax, or mail.

Secure Website Submission

Only authorized Westat staff and authorized facility contacts will be granted rights to login to the secure file submission website. Users will login to the website using unique user names and strong passwords. Designated facility contacts will upload the electronic roster and GIF files to the submission website. The files will be stored in a secure database that can only be accessed by authorized Westat project staff. The designated facility contacts will only be authorized to see rosters and GIFs they have submitted and will not be able to see or download data from facilities other than their own. Rosters and GIFs will be downloaded to the NSYC Consent Management secure network folders by Westat authorized staff. Rosters will be reviewed by designated Westat staff and processed into the master Consent Management database which is stored on a secure project server.

Password protected FAX Submission

Only authorized Westat staffs will be able to receive the password protected FAX forms. The hard copy Roster and GIF will be reviewed by authorized Westat project staff and the data keyed into electronic files. The electronic Roster and GIF files will be stored on the NSYC Consent Management secure network folder and uploaded to the master Consent Management database. The hard copy Roster and GIF forms will be stored in a locked filing cabinet that is located in the NSYC project's secure locked field room.

Mail submissions

Roster and GIF forms received through the mail will be delivered directly to the NSYC project's secure field room and opened by authorized Westat staff. After the forms are reviewed for quality control, the data will be keyed into electronic files. The electronic Roster and GIF files will be stored on the NSYC Consent Management secure network folder and uploaded to the master Consent Management database. The hard copy Roster and GIF forms will be stored in a locked filing cabinet that is located in the NSYC project's secure locked field room.

Data extracts

Consent letters

Personally identifying information including the name of the youth and the name, address of the youth's parent or guardian, will be extracted into mail merge files for sending consent letters. The extract files and merged letter files will be stored on the NSYC Consent Management secure network folder.

Telephone follow-up extract

When no consent response has been received, contact information about the youth and parent/guardian is extracted from the Consent Management master database and stored on the NSYC Consent Management secure network folder accessible by authorized Telephone Center staff (TRC). TRC staff will upload the data to the CAPI interview database for telephone follow up.

Incoming mail consents

Consents received at Westat by mail will be delivered to the NSYC Consent Management secure field room. Authorized Westat staff will open, and receipt consents to the CM database. Hard copy consents will be stored in a locked filing cabinet located in the secure NSYC CM field room. Undeliverable consents returned to Westat will be received by authorized Westat staff and stored in locked filing cabinet that is located in the NSYC project's secure locked field room.

TRC phone consents

Consent gained by telephone will be voice recorded and all recordings saved on a NSYC Consent Management secure network project folder.

Data Destruction

All PII collected during the study recruitment process will be destroyed no later than 90 days after the final methodology report is delivered to BJS. Files and hard copy forms with PII to be destroyed include:

- Electronic rosters that are created using the files uploaded to the FTP site;
- Hardcopy rosters that are sent via fax or mail to Westat;
- Merge files that are created when Westat produces guardian consent cover letters, address labels, and consent forms;
- Hardcopy cover letters, address labels, and consent forms that are never used or returned as "undeliverable";
- Completed hard copy consent forms sent directly to Westat;
- Hardcopy rosters used by Consent Operations Group staff during consent activities;
- Load/Transfer files that are exchanged between the Case Management System (CMS) and Telephone Research Center (TRC) as part of consent procedures;
- Audio files created when TRC contacts a "verbal consent" case – including both the TRC files and the files used by project staff to verify the consent;
- CMS files associated with each facility.

“SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

“This Act may be cited as the ‘Crime Victims With Disabilities Awareness Act’.

“SEC. 2. FINDINGS; PURPOSES.

“(a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds that—

“(1) although research conducted abroad demonstrates that individuals with developmental disabilities are at a 4 to 10 times higher risk of becoming crime victims than those without disabilities, there have been no significant studies on this subject conducted in the United States;

“(2) in fact, the National Crime Victim’s Survey, conducted annually by the Bureau of Justice Statistics of the Department of Justice, does not specifically collect data relating to crimes against individuals with developmental disabilities;

“(3) studies in Canada, Australia, and Great Britain consistently show that victims with developmental disabilities suffer repeated victimization because so few of the crimes against them are reported, and even when they are, there is sometimes a reluctance by police, prosecutors, and judges to rely on the testimony of a disabled individual, making individuals with developmental disabilities a target for criminal predators;

“(4) research in the United States needs to be done to—

“(A) understand the nature and extent of crimes against individuals with developmental disabilities;

“(B) describe the manner in which the justice system responds to crimes against individuals with developmental disabilities; and

“(C) identify programs, policies, or laws that hold promises for making the justice system more responsive to crimes against individuals with developmental disabilities; and

“(5) the National Academy of Science Committee on Law and Justice of the National Research Council is a premier research institution with unique experience in developing seminal, multidisciplinary studies to establish a strong research base from which to make public policy.

“(b) PURPOSES.—The purposes of this Act are—

“(1) to increase public awareness of the plight of victims of crime who are individuals with developmental disabilities;

“(2) to collect data to measure the extent of the problem of crimes against individuals with developmental disabilities; and

“(3) to develop a basis to find new strategies to address the safety and justice needs of victims of crime who are individuals with developmental disabilities.

“SEC. 3. DEFINITION OF DEVELOPMENTAL DISABILITY.

“In this Act, the term ‘developmental disability’ has the meaning given the term in section 102 of the Developmental Disabilities Assistance and Bill of Rights Act of 2000 [42 U.S.C. 15002].

“SEC. 4. STUDY.

“(a) IN GENERAL.—The Attorney General shall conduct a study to increase knowledge and information about crimes against individuals with developmental disabilities that will be useful in developing new strategies to reduce the incidence of crimes against those individuals.

“(b) ISSUES ADDRESSED.—The study conducted under this section shall address such issues as—

“(1) the nature and extent of crimes against individuals with developmental disabilities;

“(2) the risk factors associated with victimization of individuals with developmental disabilities;

“(3) the manner in which the justice system responds to crimes against individuals with developmental disabilities; and

“(4) the means by which States may establish and maintain a centralized computer database on the incidence of crimes against individuals with disabilities within a State.

“(c) NATIONAL ACADEMY OF SCIENCES.—In carrying out this section, the Attorney General shall consider contracting with the Committee on Law and Justice of the National Research Council of the National Academy of Sciences to provide research for the study conducted under this section.

“(d) REPORT.—Not later than 18 months after the date of enactment of this Act [Oct. 27, 1998], the Attorney General shall submit to the Committees on the Judiciary of the Senate and the House of Representatives a report describing the results of the study conducted under this section.

“SEC. 5. NATIONAL CRIME VICTIM’S SURVEY.

“Not later than 2 years after the date of enactment of this Act, as part of each National Crime Victim’s Survey, the Attorney General shall include statistics relating to—

“(1) the nature of crimes against individuals with developmental disabilities; and

“(2) the specific characteristics of the victims of those crimes.”

Memo

Date: May 18, 2017

To: Allen Beck and Jessica Stroop, BJS

From: Michele Harmon and Leanne Heaton, Westat

Subject: NSYC-3 Post-Pilot Test Report: NSYC-core and NSYC-Alternative Survey Findings and Recommendations

Introduction

This memo presents the methods and results from the Pilot test for the third National Survey of Youth in Custody (NSYC-3). The Pilot was conducted in February and March 2017. The goals of the Pilot test were to: (1) assess the length of time to complete the survey, (2) test the skip patterns and routing instructions for youth assigned to each version of the survey, and (3) determine whether any specific items were problematic.

In the remainder of this memo, we describe the conclusions of the Pilot test in more detail including an overview of the methodology and results, presentation of selected descriptive findings, and a summary of our recommendations.

Methodology

This section provides an overview of the research methodology, including brief descriptions of the data collection procedures, survey instruments, and review of the skip patterns and routing.

Data Collection

Experienced NSYC-2 field staff visited six residential juvenile facilities. Facility staff escorted 161 youth to the interview rooms; of these, 151 completed a survey. Youth were assigned to either the NSYC-core or NSYC-A instruments based on the following algorithm – the first case in a facility was assigned to NSYC-A and every 6th case thereafter (e.g., cases 1, 7, 13, 19 etc.). All others were assigned the NSYC-core survey. This resulted in 126 youth (83%) completing the NSYC-core survey and 25 (17%) the NSYC-A survey. Details on the data collection procedures are in the NSYC-3 pilot test procedures memo submitted to BJS on 04/13/2017.

Survey Instruments

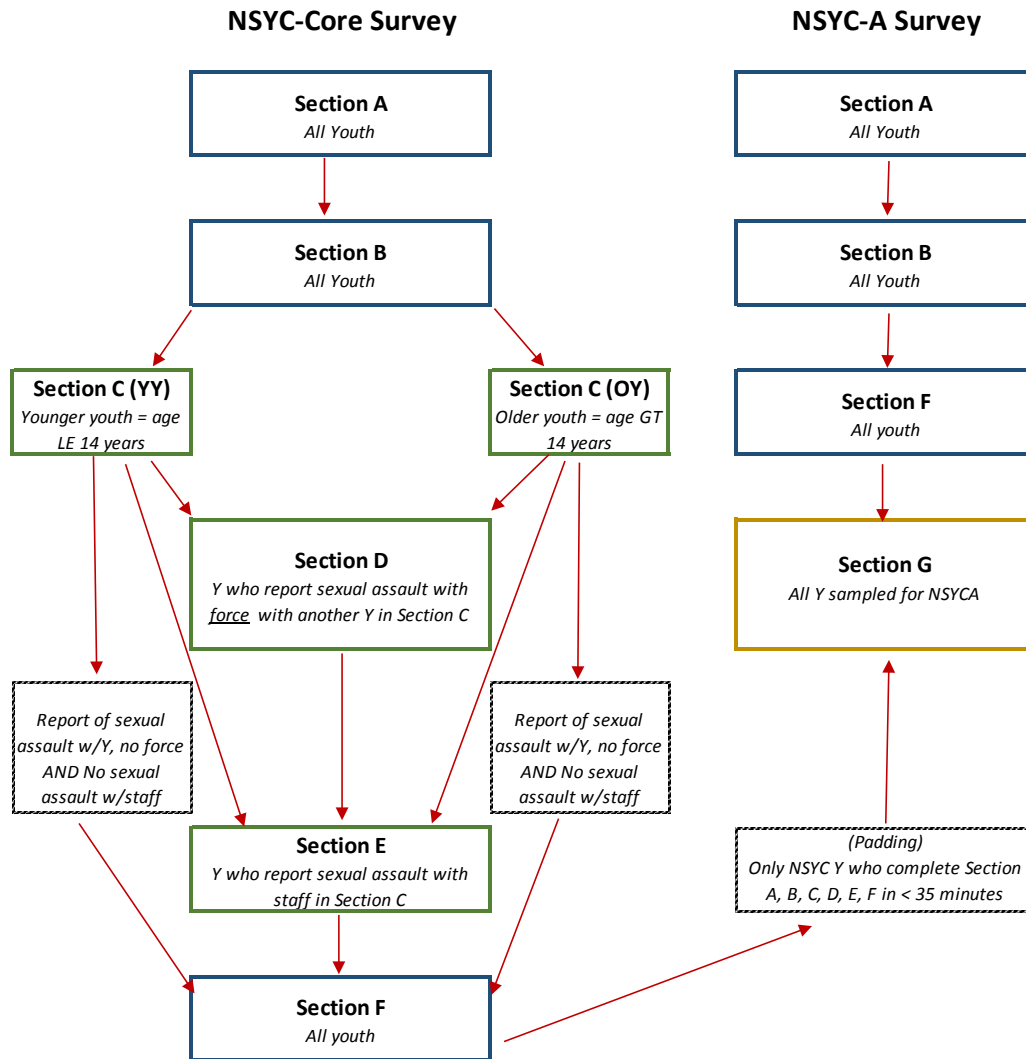

The NSYC-core contains 488 items and NSYC-A contains 260 items. Table 1 shows the number of items per section and the constructs measured. Figure 1 illustrates the routing paths of the two instruments and the padding instructions.

The NSYC-A instrument comprises Sections A, B, and F from the NSYC-core instrument, plus Section G. Youth sampled for the NSYC-core survey are also routed to Section G when they complete Sections A, B, C, D, E, and F, in less than 35 minutes. This routing is done to extend the survey administration time to 35 minutes so that all youth spend a similar time taking the survey regardless of whether or not they report sexual victimization.

Pilot Test Results

This section provides findings on four aspects of the pilot test survey: (1) checking the skip patterns of the questionnaire, (2) survey timings, (3) nonresponse patterns, and (4) variation in the items. Note that frequencies for all NSYC-core and NSYC-A survey items can be found in a separate attachment, Appendix A.

Checking Skip Patterns and Routing

One goal of the NSYC-3 pilot test was to test the skip patterns and routing instructions for youth assigned to each version of the survey. While the team had conducted extensive in-house testing of the skips prior to the pilot, the pilot offered an opportunity to check the skips for paths that would occur in the actual survey. The patterns were checked in two ways. One was to check the skip patterns for each of the respondents. This was done by two reviewers observing the raw data in an Excel spreadsheet. The second method was by checking frequencies and cross tabulations in SAS.

These reviews revealed two inconsistencies. The first inconsistency was related to an incorrect timing specification. For the NSYC-core, the ACASI program tracked the elapsed time from the start of the Tutorial to the end of Section F and at the end of each subsections in Section G. The threshold specifications for total elapsed time is 35 minutes, i.e., if less than 35 minutes, the ACASI program continues to the next section (i.e., from F to G or to the next topic in G) to pad the time. When the elapsed time is 35 minutes or more at any of these time checks, the ACASI is routed to the Debriefing section. The pilot test, however, used a 30-minute threshold for routing youth from Section F to Section G and 33 minutes for continuing to subsequent topics within Section G. This programming specification error caused the ACASI for six youth to have less padding than intended. Due to the small number of youth affected, there was a negligible effect on the overall timing calculations.

The second inconsistency required a minor correction in the programming for items F340C by F350C. F340C is an item that asks if the youth had been in a group home, foster home, or independent living program. If the answer to this is 'yes', the youth is asked how many times they had been in this type of place. Cross tabulations of these items revealed that the skip logic did not work correctly. For example, there were 19 yes responses on F340C that should have values for F350C but they were shown as missing.

As an additional check on the skip patterns, the review team verified the routing for the sexual victimization variables. NSYC-1 and -2 reports focused on three measures of sexual victimization to generate national estimates: forced sexual victimization by another youth (youth-on-youth), any sexual activity with a staff member (staff sexual misconduct), and any sexual victimization (any assault). The latter is a combination of the youth-on-youth and staff sexual misconduct measures. The process is described below and illustrated in Table 2.

1. First, the number of youth assigned to the core survey was broken down by youth sex and age since these characteristics determine gender- and age-specific items in the questionnaire. For example, Section C, Battery A sexual victimization wording is specifically tailored for males and female anatomy when a youth is 15 or older and more generalized for youth under 15. The correct routing was verified by comparing counts of youth by sex and age to the responses logged with the associated variables.

2. Next, reviewers identified the number of youth indicating sexual activity (n=18) based on items in Section C (Battery A and B) and the perpetrator type (another youth and/or staff). Nine youth identified another youth, eight selected a staff member, and one youth refused to answer.
3. Finally, reviewers evaluated cases where the respondent endorsed another youth as the perpetrator (n=9) and indicated the use of force. A total of five youth indicated force.

Table 2. Skip pattern and routing checks of sexual victimization variables

Total assigned to Core		Age <15	Age =>15	Total
	Male	5	103	108
	Female	1	17	18

The skip pattern and routing checks for the sexual victimization variables revealed that all paths worked correctly.

Survey Timings

The timing data are based on the 151 cases with a status code of “complete.” This includes four youth that, although they broke off before the end of the survey, met the criteria that defined a completed interview in NSYC-2 (i.e., through Section C for the NSYC-core, through Section F for the NSYC-A). Of these four, three broke off while in Section F and one broke off in Section G.

Timing data for the 126 youth that completed the NSYC-core and 25 youth that completed NSYC-A are shown in Table 3. The time to complete the survey (Tutorial through Debrief) was 34.9 minutes for NSYC-core and 33.5 for the NSYC-A youth.

Table 3. NSYC timings

Item Nonresponse

All survey items were evaluated for high levels of nonresponse by examining the number of “don’t know” (DK) or “refused” (RF) replies. Six sets of items (in bold) were identified as having nonresponse rates of five percent or greater (see Table 4). These are discussed in detail below.

Race. The first high nonresponse item was youth race (item A080) with a DK/RF rate of 5.3 percent (n=8). In all eight cases, the nonresponse on race was from youth of Hispanic ethnicity (see Table 5). This pattern is not unusual for a race item, and the survey is currently following the ‘best practice’ standard of first asking about Hispanic ethnicity before asking about race. This minimizes the amount of nonresponse to the race item and stays within current OMB guidelines.

Veracity Check. The second item with high nonresponse was designed as a veracity check to ensure youth are paying attention as they complete the survey (F290). The wording of this item was “For this survey item, select response 2”. While the nonresponse rate for F290 was six percent, almost 10 percent of all youth selected the incorrect response for this item (see Table 4). In comparison, a similar veracity check item, “I am reading this survey carefully,” there was no selection of DK/RF and only one percent (1.32%) selected an incorrect answer. Additional exploration of F290 did not reveal any significant associated patterns; these patterns included examining F290 by youth sex and age, facility, instrument type (NSYC-core vs. NSYC-A), sexual victimization, and key debriefing items, such as if the questions were hard to understand and pressure to respond. This suggests that youth were confused by how to respond to this item.

Other Items. In Table 4, above, the third (F190), fourth (AF650), fifth (AF670) and six (DB050), sets of items with higher nonresponse items were related to asking respondents for more details about a prior response (e.g., who did it; why didn’t you receive letters, etc.). They also deal with sensitive topics. Item F190 series, “Who did this to you?” is based on response to F170 about prior physical abuse by a grown up. Item AF650 series, “Why didn’t you receive letters from your family?” is based on response to AF640 about how often received letters. Item AF670 series, “Why didn’t you send letters to your family?” is based on response to AF660 about how often send letters. The item DB050 series asks about, “Which kinds of questions made you upset?” and is based response to DB040 assessing if any of the survey questions were upsetting. While the nonresponse rate is relatively high for these items (from 6.2% to 22.2%), only 2 to 4 youth chose not to respond. Given the open-ended and sensitive nature of the items, the higher than average nonresponse rates are not unusual.

Items with Very Little Variation

Variation across items was evaluated using a standard of five percent or less (<5%). Almost all survey responses had greater variation than this with the exception of four items designed to capture low prevalence conditions and one designed as a veracity check (see Table 6).

Table 6. Items with little variation

Item #	Item wording	n	%
F040	Are you deaf or do you have serious difficulty hearing	2	1.3
F060	Do you have serious difficulty walking or climbing stairs	4	2.7
F070	Do you have difficulty dressing or bathing	1	0.7
F110/AF140	I am reading this survey carefully	2	1.3
AF420	Grandparent and/or Other relative was a foster parent [Based on response to AF410 about who living with]	0	0*

* This item also had a 8.7 percent nonresponse rate of eligible cases (e.g., dominator is only youth that received the item).

Items F040, F060, and F070 are designed to capture physical disabilities and AF420 is designed to capture youth placed with a relative, but designated as foster care placement. The selection rate was very low for these items but expected (0.0% – 2.7%). F110 and AF140 are veracity checks that had very low anticipated selection (1.3%). It is also important to note that a number of items designed to measure specific features of sexual victimization had little or no responses due to the low prevalence of sexual victimization overall.

Selected Frequencies and Cross-tabulations

This section reviews frequencies and tabulations for a few selected variables. The entire set of frequencies are shown in a separate attachment, Appendix A.

Demographics. Most youth were male (n=129) and 15 or older (n=143) as shown below in Table 7.

Table 7. Frequencies of completed youth surveys by youth sex, age, and survey type

Female	18	4	22

Age

15 and older	120	23	143

Note: Includes four break-offs that met the NSYC-2 completion definition.

Youth race and ethnicity. Youth completing the NSYC-3 pilot test instruments were from diverse ethnic and racial backgrounds (see Table 8.). Almost 17 percent of youth were of Hispanic ethnicity. The majority of youth were white (59.6%), over one-third black or African American (35.1%), over 10 percent identified as American Indian or Alaskan Native (AIAS) (11.3%), over 1 percent as Asian (1.3%) and just over 5 percent (5.3%) as Native Hawaiian or other Pacific Islander (NPHI).

Sexual Orientation and Gender Identity. NSYC-1 and NSYC-2 contained one item for sexual orientation (SO) and one item for gender identify (GI). Revising the instrument for NSYC-3 provided an opportunity to refine the measurement of SOGI status using a two step-process for each. For gender identity, youth were first asked, “What sex were you assigned at birth, on your original birth certificate?” (A90) and then “Do you currently describe yourself as male, female or transgender?” (A100). The counts of youth by birth sex and GI are presented in Table 9. Results show that three males at birth identify currently as female, transgender, or something else, and two females at birth identify currently as transgender.

Table 9. Youth sex at birth by current gender identity

Youth sex (A090)	Gender identity (A100)				Total
	Male	Female	Transgender	Something else
Male	125	1	1	1	128
Female	0	21	2	0	23

For sexual orientation, youth were first asked about sexual identity “Do you consider yourself...gay/lesbian, straight that is not gay, bisexual, something else, or not sure?” (A110). They were then asked about sexual attraction “People are different in their sexual attraction to other people. Which best describes your feelings?” (A120). The counts of youth sexual identity by youth birth sex are shown in Table 10. Twelve out of 128 males and 14 out of 23 females self-identified as gay/lesbian, bisexual, something else, not sure, or don’t know (DK). Females were more likely than males to identify as a category other than straight and this is consistent with results found on NSYC-1 and -2. It is also evident that youth are using the ‘something else’ and ‘not sure’ categories which provides support for continued inclusion of these categories.

Table 10. Youth sex at birth by sexual identity

		Sexual identity (A110)
Youth sex (A090)	Gay/lesbian	Straight	Bisexual	Something else	Not sure	DK	Total
Male	3	116	6	1	1	1	128
Female	3	9	10	0	1	0	23

To further assess the measurement overlap between sexual identity and sexual attraction, the sample was subset by males and females using birth sex (see Table 11).

Table 11. Sexual identity by sexual attraction

Males only		Sexual identity (A110)
Sexual attraction (A120)	Gay/lesbian	Straight	Bisexual	Something else	Not sure	DK	Total
Only attracted to males	2	0	0	0	0	0	2
Mostly attracted to males	1	0	0	1	0	0	2
Equally attracted	0	0	4	0	0	0	4
Mostly attracted to females	0	7	2	0	0	0	9
Only attracted to females	0	109	0	0	0	1	110
Not sure	0	0	0	0	1	0	1
Only attracted to males	0	6	0	0	0	0	6
Mostly attracted to males	0	1	2	0	1	0	4
Equally attracted	0	0	8	0	0	0	8
Mostly attracted to females	1	0	0	0	0	0	1
Only attracted to females	2	1	0	0	0	0	3
Refused	0	1	0	0	0	0	1

The patterns across these two variables are consistent with what is expected. Male youth identifying as gay are selecting attraction to only males and mostly males. Male youth identifying as bisexual are selecting the middle sexual attraction categories. Male youth identifying as straight are selecting attraction only to females. Youth that identify as something else and not sure and don't know (DK) are selecting attraction that is not mutually exclusive. Similar results are evident for females.

Rates of Sexual Victimization. The rates of sexual victimization for this small, purposively selected, sample of facilities cannot be generalized to the nation. Nonetheless, we computed rates to assess whether the answers were similar in nature to prior surveys. Overall rates of victimization in the NSYC-3 pilot test were consistent with NSYC-2 at just under 10 percent (see Table 12).

Table 12. Rates of sexual victimization

Grooming (New/Modified). In the redesign of NSYC-3 instrument, several existing grooming items were modified and several others added. The frequency of endorsement of these new and modified items range from 4.6 percent to 27.8 percent (see Table 13).

Mental Health. To best understand the prevalence of certain mental health conditions, the K6 battery was added to the NSYC-3 survey instrument. The results show that the vast majority of youth experienced one or more feelings of depression and/or anxiety over the past 30 days (see Table 14). Over one-third described having these feeling more often than usual (34.4%). In contrast, a little over 5 percent of youth (5.3%) report not experiencing any of these symptoms over the past 30 days.

Solitary Confinement/Isolation. Items about solitary confinement were also added to the NSYC-3 survey. Over one-third of youth report being isolated/secluded in a room other than their own (35.8%) and just under half report being confined to their own room (44.4%) (see Table 15). We are not clear whether this rate is higher than what one would expect and/or whether the measure is overestimating solitary confinement as intended for the survey. We plan to discuss this with BJS to see if any further modifications to these items is warranted.

Debriefing (New/Modified). In the redesign of NSYC-3 instrument, several existing debriefing items were modified and several others added. The frequency of endorsement of these new and modified items are presented in Table 16. None of the youth reported that the survey was very hard or hard to understand and the majority of youth agreed that they were glad they had taken the survey (58.5%).

Recommendations

We are not recommending any significant changes to the survey process. Overall, the instrument performed as designed. The youth took about the average time expected (35 minutes) and provided responses within reasonable ranges. The skip patterns on the computerized instrument worked as specified with a couple of minor exceptions. Only a single item was found to be ineffective – a veracity check that instructed the youth “For this survey item, select response 2.” (Response options were (1) Do not select this one, (2) Select this one, (3) Do not select this one). This item, F290, did not work as intended and we recommend deleting it.
