8c	Briefly explain why security authorization is not required	Not applicable
10	Describe in further detail any changes to the system that have occurred since the last PIA.	New Information Collection
11	Describe the purpose of the system.	The purpose of this qualitative evaluation information collection will explore the usability of the current CDC DSTDP website. Usability refers to how easily users are able to engage with the website. This evaluation will provide information on the ability of participants to complete specified tasks successfully and easily; participants satisfaction with the website, its organization, and its content; and, participants preferences and needs from the website. The information collected will be combined with the usability tester's observations on the users' experiences and will be immediately useful to the CDC DSTDP team in revising the website.
12	Describe the type of information the system will collect, maintain (store), or share. (Subsequent questions will identify if this information is PII and ask about the specific data elements.)	The vendor is expected to screen 32 people to achieve a total participant group of 18 adults. Interviews will be conducted by evaluation team with 6 people from each subgroup. Since lower education level likely affects health literacy in general and could impact the user experience of CDC DSTDP's website, half of those recruited will have an education level of high school or less and half will have some college or more. The evaluation team will collect PII, such as phone numbers, email addresses, and names of all potential participants for recruitment and interview purposes only. They also will collect race/ethnicity and geographic location as part of the screening process. This data will not be used beyond the screening portion of the project. CDC will not have access to any data or engage in the direct collection of information. No PII will be transmitted to the CDC.
13	Provide an overview of the system and describe the information it will collect, maintain (store), or share, either permanently or temporarily.	The the goals of this new information collection is to conduct formative qualitative communication evaluation to: 1) Evaluate user needs and preferences for the CDC Division of Sexually Transmitted Disease Prevention's (DSTDP) website; 2) Determine how well the current information architecture maps to how users think about the content; and, 3) Evaluate how easily users can navigate the site and find what they are looking for. The evaluation team will collect PII, such as phone numbers, email addresses, and names of all potential participants for recruitment and interview purposes only. They also will collect race/ethnicity and geographic location as part of the screening process. This data will not be used beyond the screening portion of the project. CDC will not have access to any data or engage in the direct collection of information. No PII will be transmitted to the CDC.

25 Describe the process in place to notify individuals that their personal information will be collected. If no prior notice is given, explain the reason.	At the beginning of the study eligible participants will be asked to review and electronically sign a study consent form that informs participants that personal identifying information will be collected and every effort will be made to keep this information confidential. The consent form will include an explanation of the study, risks and benefits of participation, duration of participation, contact information for individuals who can answer questions about the research study regarding participant rights and protections, the voluntary nature of participation, and the right to withdraw without penalty. Participant are provided with information to contact study staff if clarification is needed regarding consent processes.

Record copy of study reports are maintained in agency records from two to three years in accordance with retention schedules. Source documents for computer are disposed of when no longer needed by program officials. Personal identifiers may be deleted from records when no longer needed in the study as determined by the system manager, and as provided in the signed consent form, as appropriate. Disposal methods include erasing computer disks or tapes, burning or shredding paper materials or transferring records to the Federal Records Center when no longer needed for evaluation and analysis. Cut off closed grant, contract, or cooperative agreement files at the end of the calendar year in which the project ends or a final report is written and destroy six years after cut off.

38 Describe, briefly but with specificity, how the PII will be secured in the system using administrative, technical, and physical controls.

Physical
All printed records will be securely stored in locked file cabinets within locked offices and monitored during access. No names or other identifying information appear on data documents or in data files, as the re-contact information will be stored separately. Only designated staff will have access to the data.

Technical
PII is stored in a database that provides staff with the minimum amount of data needed to perform tasks associated with their position. The application securely maintains participant information behind a firewall rendered over a Secure Sockets Layer (SSL) certificate for administrator-only access. All passwords are stored encrypted within the database, which also uses database level encryption to prevent information copying from one database to another. Web application also uses an automatic logout feature after a certain period of inactivity.

Administrative
All respondents will receive unique identification non-identifiable codes, which will be stored separately from PII on a password protected computer. These codes will be used as the de-identified data set that will later be shared with CDC. CDC does not have access to the database. All staff collecting data will participate in a training that will review protections for privacy and confidentiality of all data, including PII. Only Principal Investigators may handle requests to examine data collected during this study.
