

SUPPORTING STATEMENT FOR PAPERWORK REDUCTION ACT SUBMISSION

Application for Immigrant Visa and Alien Registration
OMB Number 1405-0015
DS-230

A. JUSTIFICATION

1. The Immigration and Nationality Act (“INA”), 8 U.S.C. § 1101 et seq., sets out application and eligibility requirements for aliens seeking to obtain immigrant visas. INA section 221(a), 8 U.S.C. § 1201(a) provides that a consular officer may issue an immigrant visa to an individual who has made a proper application, subject to applicable conditions and limitations in the INA and related regulations. INA section 222(a), 8 U.S.C. § 1202(a), specifically requires that an applicant provide the following information in an application for an immigrant visa: full and true name; any other names he/she has used or by which he/she has been known; age; sex; date of birth; place of birth; and such additional information necessary to the identification of the applicant and the enforcement of the immigration and nationality laws as may be by regulations prescribed.

Visa ineligibility grounds are detailed in INA section 212(a), 8 U.S.C. § 1182(a), INA section 208(d) (6), 8 U.S.C. § 1158(d) (6), and other statutes. Among the grounds of ineligibility are those related to the health of the applicant, the applicant’s past and present criminal activities, security concerns, potential for the applicant to become a public charge, and previous violations of the INA by the applicant. In the visa application form, applicants are asked a series of questions relevant to determinations of the applicability of ineligibilities.

Department of State regulations pertaining to immigrant visas are published in 22 C.F.R Part 42. The regulations pertaining to the filing an application for an immigrant visa are provided for in 22 CFR 42.63.

In 2007, the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) announced the Cuban Family Reunification Parole Program (CFRP) in furtherance of the U.S.-Cuba Migration Accords. See 72 Fed. Reg. 65588 (Nov. 21, 2007). As a part of this process, DHS will only grant discretionary parole to individual applicants when, among other criteria, an applicant meets the eligibility criteria for an immigrant visa. See USCIS, The Cuban Family Reunification Parole Program, available at <https://www.uscis.gov/humanitarian/humanitarian-parole/cuban-family-reunification-parole-program>

2. The information is gathered to enable consular officers to adjudicate the visa eligibility requirements referenced in item 1 above. Department of State consular officers will use the information collected in the adjudication process with partner U.S. government agencies to determine applicants’ eligibility for a visa under existing statutory grounds of inadmissibility. These determinations would not be possible without collecting this information.

3. The dynamic, user-guided electronic version of the DS-230, the DS-260, is live worldwide. The Department will retain the DS-230 principally for the CFRP. The CFRP is a type of Special Public Benefit Parole, granted to certain Cuban citizens residing in Cuba, by United States Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS). USCIS will review the evidence provided by the petitioner with the CFRP application. If the application appears approvable, it will be forwarded to an appropriate post by the National Visa Center (NVC). Applicants will complete the DS-230 and submit it to a designated post. Internet connectivity in Cuba is limited and therefore electronic collection is not ideal for this program. A consular officer will interview the beneficiary to determine whether the applicant is eligible for an immigrant visa, as required for the parole program. In addition, the Department may authorize immigrant visa applicants to complete the DS-230 in rare circumstances when the DS-260 is unavailable.

4. To our knowledge, this collection is not duplicative of another existing collection.
5. This information collection does not involve small businesses or other small entities.
6. This information collection is essential for determining whether an applicant is eligible for an immigrant visa. An applicant completes the form once per application. It is not possible to collect the information less frequently, as consular officers need up-to-date information to determine whether an applicant is eligible to receive a visa.
7. No special circumstances exist.
8. The Department of State (Visa Office, Bureau of Consular Affairs) published a 60-day notice in the Federal Register on April 9, 2018 (83 FR 15189) soliciting public comment on this collection. The Department received one comment during this period that raised general concerns about United States immigration policy. The Department considers this comment nonresponsive and will not make any changes as a result.
9. No payment or gift is provided to respondents.
10. In accordance with INA section 222(f), 8 U.S.C. § 1202(f), information obtained from applicants in the immigrant visa application process or for permits to enter the United States, is considered confidential and is to be used only for the formulation, amendment, administration, or enforcement of the immigration, nationality, and other laws of the United States, except that, in the discretion of the Secretary of State, it may be made available to a court or provided to a foreign government if the relevant requirements stated in INA section 222(f), 8 U.S.C. § 1202(f) are satisfied.
11. The questions in the collection are designed to solicit the information necessary to determine whether an applicant is eligible for an immigrant visa under the INA, 8 U.S.C. § 1101 et seq. Consular officers may not issue a visa to aliens who are ineligible under applicable provisions of INA section 212, 8 U.S.C. § 1182, or any other provision of law, unless where authorized under the INA, the Department of Homeland Security grants a waiver. In order to adjudicate visa eligibility, the application form specifically asks for information on a variety of issues, including information concerning the alien's health, criminal offenses, narcotics addiction, political affiliation with subversive organizations and participation in genocide or terrorist activities. In addition, questions concerning the applicant's marital status, employment, social media use, and financial support are necessary to identify the applicant and to assist in determining eligibility for an immigrant visa. As noted in paragraph 10 above, such information is confidential under INA section 222(f), 8 U.S.C. § 1202(f).

12. The Department estimates that 20,000 applicants annually will complete this collection. Therefore, the Department of State estimates that the annual hour burden to visa applicants is 41,167 hours (20,000 applicants x 125 minutes). According to the Cuban National Office of Statistics, the average monthly salary in Cuba is 776 Cuban pesos, which is equivalent to approximately $32.00. Assuming an average 40 hour work week, the average hourly salary for Cubans is approximately 20 cents. Based on an average hourly wage of $0.20, the weighted wage hour cost burden for this collection is $11,526.76. This is based on the calculation of $0.20 (average hourly wage) x 1.4 (weighted wage multiplier) x 41,167 hours = $11,526.76.

13. Applicants must submit a photograph with their application. Based on a survey of various overseas embassies, the Department estimates that the average cost to an alien of obtaining a photograph is five dollars at a total cost of approximately $100,000 (20,000 x $5).

14. The annual cost burden to the federal government for the DS-230 in fiscal year 2018 is estimated to be $2,384,800 (20,000 applicants x $119.24 cost to adjudicate). This estimate is based on the Consular Affairs fiscal year 2016 update to the Cost of Service Model, which calculates the cost to the U.S. government of providing consular services.

15. The burden estimate is being updated based on the Department's receipt of applications over the last several years, from 5000 applications to 20,000 applications. Due to the increase in respondents, the overall monetary burden has also increased from $5,000 to $100,000. This collection is also being revised to make the questions more succinct and consistent with the electronic immigrant visa application. The time burden was reassessed and updated with this revision, from 1 hour duration to 125 minute duration.

Based on the changes below, the field numbers will change on the current DS-230 for many items. The Department will make the following changes to the form to create consistency with OMB Control Number 1405-0185 (DS-260):

Current	Revision
No question of this nature is asked on the current form	Request for Passport Number, Country of Issuance
7. Nationality (If dual, give both)	Country/Region of Origin (Nationality)  Do you hold or have you held any nationality other than the one you indicated?  - Affirmative response will request country and whether applicant carries a passport from that country
