Thank you for your prior interest in the TB Portals. We hope that the TB Portals have been a useful resource for your work.

To better understand usage of the platform and tools, the TB Portals development team is reaching out to its most recent users. We are contacting individuals that 1) requested TB Portals data, 2) registered as a user of one of TB Portals tools, or 3) requested information about the Program. As a recent user of the TB Portals, please consider completing a short survey about your experience. We will use this information to continue improving the TB Portals to meet the needs of our users.
