GRANT REVIEW PROFESSIONALS NEEDED

The Family and Youth Services Bureau (FYSB) is in search of reviewers (subject matter experts) to assist in the process of evaluating grant applications for various program funding opportunities.

In order to make program awards each year, the Family and Youth Services Bureau uses a competitive review process. During the review process, subject matter experts are utilized to read and evaluate applications based on published program criteria. The entire process is managed remotely via a web-based system.

Applications must be reviewed thoroughly and reviewers are responsible for providing objective written comments on strengths and weaknesses for each application. The review process is an extremely critical component of the decision-making process and the same must be executed with integrity and proficiency in a fast-paced environment.
