

Attachment G: DIS Pilot Study Works Cited

Works Cited

- Al Baghal, Tarek. "Last Year Your Answer Was... The Impact of Dependent Interviewing Wording and Survey Factors on Reporting of Change." Field Methods 29, no. 1 (2017): 61-78.
- Hoogendoorn, A. W. (2004). A questionnaire design for dependent interviewing that addresses the problem of cognitive satisficing. Journal of Official Statistics, 20(2), 219.
- Jäckle, Annette (2006) : Dependent interviewing: a framework and application to current research, ISER Working Paper Series, No. 2006-32, University of Essex, Institute for Social and Economic Research (ISER), Colchester
- Jäckle, Annette. Dependent interviewing: A framework and application to current research. John Wiley & Sons, Ltd., West Sussex, United Kingdom, 2009.
- Lutig, Peter, and Gerty JLM Lensvelt-Mulders. "Evaluating the effect of dependent interviewing on the quality of measures of change." Field Methods 26, no. 2 (2014): 172-190.
- Pascale, J., & Mayer, T. S. (2004). Exploring confidentiality issues related to dependent interviewing: preliminary findings. Journal of Official Statistics, 20(2), 357.
- Lynn, Peter; Jäckle, Annette; Jenkins, Stephen P.; Sala, Emanuela (2005) : The effects of dependent interviewing on responses to questions on income sources, DIW Discussion Papers, No. 487, Deutsches Institut für Wirtschaftsforschung (DIW), Berlin
- Lynn, Peter, and Emanuela Sala. "Measuring change in employment characteristics: the effects of dependent interviewing." International Journal of Public Opinion Research 18, no. 4 (2006): 500-509.
- Pascale, J., & Mayer, T. (2004). Alternative methods for exploring confidentiality issues related to dependent interviewing. Journal of Official Statistics, 20(2), 357-377.
- Sala, Emanuela; Lynn, Peter (2004) : Measuring change in employment characteristics: the effects of dependent interviewing, ISER Working Paper Series, No. 2004-26, University of Essex, Institute for Social and Economic Research (ISER), Colchester
- Sala, E., Uhrig, S. N., & Lynn, P. (2011). "It Is Time Computers Do Clever Things!": The Impact of Dependent Interviewing on Interviewer Burden. Field Methods, 23(1), 3-23.